He claims that at the time skipped Matthew, he was said to have had a right to go and that he was illegally detained. He next will be claiming that he was insane and as an insane person could not commit the crime of conspiracy.

He seems to have the witnesses to prove himself insane when he wants to keep out of the electric chair and after he succeeded in that he is sane enough. The Thaw case is doing much to inflame the mind of the poor, that there is no law for the rich and another for the poor, a dangerous fact for the people to consider and one that menaces the prosperity of the Republic.
If Thaw had been without great wealth he would have had his just deserts long ago.

Sign Boards on the Up-road

By Hamilton B. Williams

The young folks in the various churches studying the topic: "How to make this a happier world," very likely agreed that the kingdom of happiness is not "here," "there," but a condition of heart. The kingdom of heaven is within the heart.
Life has four dimensions. Most people think only of length; but length is the least desirable thing if the life has not breadth and height and depth.
A life measured only by years is a very paltry thing.
But the four-dimensional life is one that glorifies this world and consequently any other experiences that may come.
If nothing lies beyond the gates one has lived, anyway.
But a true life will not be stopped by such a slight obstacle as physical death. Death is not the worst thing that may befall. Not to die would be awful to contemplate. Death is a release for most people from the torments of the earth.
In the experience to come one finds his own place, and that thought simplifies the puzzler of earth-relations.
Happiness is yet-to-come in its fullness. But we should seek peace by way of preparation.
The most beautiful anticipation we may have in reference to the next world is that we shall fall into hands of a God who understands.
He knows us, and he will adjust all things to the line of justice.
In this world the self-assertion and the predatory miss the prizes in the next world the poor in spirit inherit the kingdom of happiness, even as they do on earth!
Let those who are content with tinsel gauds
Be still content.
If they are filled with joy at cheap applause
Let them be filled.
For even those in spirit poor shall be
In heaven rich;
And in God's land all things shall be set right
For heaven's a fire!

FAULTS OF THE TONGUE

By Rev. V. L. Eggleston

Text: "I said I will take heed to my ways that I sin not with my tongue." Ps. 39-1.

This is a resolution we have all often made. It is a good one, and needs as much as any we know of to be made over and over again. The tongue is like a helm, which though extremely small, yet controls the life. Uncontrolled it is like a horse without bit or bridle. Unwatched it is like a fire carelessly cast among combustible shavings. "It is a world of iniquity." As a little spark may lead to a mighty conflagration, so the tongue, through a small member, may start a flame that will grow until it has wrought a world of mischief. It is worse than wild beasts. They may be tamed, "but the tongue can no man tame," says the Apostle James. It is "full of deadly poison." What can sting so sharply and wound so deeply as an unruly tongue.

Some Faults of the Tongue

The Fault of Grumbling.—This is such a common fault that it needs no description. Yet it is a very serious fault.
The Fault of Exaggeration.—People who would shrink from actual falsehood and who never mean to be untruthful are yet guilty of this sin. By overcoloring and exaggeration they give false impressions. As a result they steadily reduce the confidence of their friends in them, injure their own minds and become to all practical purposes untrustworthy.
The Fault of Detraction.—This is a sin of selfishness, of a narrow, ungenerous nature. It comes from a fear that others will be thought better of than ourselves. It uses the word "But." "He is so and so, but—" Let me tell you confidentially—
The Fault of Backbiting.—or of common slander. The harm resulting from this sin is beyond repair. It is like plucking this-tide-down and casting it to the wind. Slanderous stories fly everywhere and can never be gathered up again. There are many other and even greater faults we might name, such as quarrelling, lying, flattering, tale bearing, etc.

Some Remedies For These Faults

Great watchfulness, "I said, I will take heed to my ways that I sin not with my tongue," cherish only kindly thoughts of people. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." If we think unkindly of people we are likely to speak unkindly of them. Turn a deaf ear to slanders; be sure never to mention them again. Feed not the inmate desire to hear ill of another. Listen to no tale against another which you are requested not to repeat. Beware of conversation with a tale-bearer or with one who reveals secrets. If you should hear ill of another, remember that your informant may be mistaken, misinformed, or prejudiced. In any doubtful case communicate with the party before forming judgment. If slander comes against you do not bind it too much. If you are free from blame you live in a castle that cannot be broken into, and you at least can use these words: "They say: what do they say; let them say!" "Trust in God and do the right." Trust your reputation to him. You have committed to him your soul, commit to him your reputation. But, personally, watch and fight, and pray, and use every possible means to remedy any tendency to the many faults of the tongue. Oh, how much happier as a place to live in, this world would become if all would take heed to their ways that they should sin not with their tongues.

ONE OF "BOBS" OLD SOLDIERS

HALE and HEARTY—due to "Fruit-a-tives"

Most everybody in Chatham, knows Mr. George Walker. His remarkable career in the British Army—during the Crimean War and later in the Indian Mutiny under Lord Roberts—is known to many of the older residents of the city; while his erect, martial figure and vigorous health are in striking contrast to the average man of his years. What he says, carries conviction.

Chatham, Ont., April 3rd, 1915.

"I am a veteran of the Crimean War and the Indian Mutiny, volunteered from the Royal Artillery into the Royal Engineers, and serving under Lord Roberts during the Indian Mutiny, and am pensioner of the British Government. I have had to hand fighting and continue exposure, but am a great sufferer from Rheumatism, so much so that my legs swelled up making it impossible for me to walk. My bowels were so constipated that I only had one passage a week until I got to using "FRUIT-A-TIVES." This relieved me of both the Constipation and Rheumatism. To-day, I walk many miles every day and enjoy perfect health, and more Rheumatism or Constipation."

GEORGE WALKER Esq.

This letter of Mr. Walker tells how to help Rheumatism, but does not tell WHY "Fruit-a-tives" ends this trouble. Rheumatism is the result of poisonous blood, due to weakness or faulty action of the bowels, kidneys or skin. In Mr. Walker's case, Rheumatism was the result of continued Constipation. Waste matter remained too long in the system, was absorbed by the blood and inflamed the nerves and membranes in his legs. When he started to take "FRUIT-A-TIVES," these tablets immediately acted on the liver. More bile was given out to move the bowels. As the bowels were cleansed, the poisonous waste matter was removed, the blood became clear and the nerves were no longer irritated.

"Fruit-a-tives", the wonderful fruit medicine, is now prepared in the United States, as well as in Canada and England.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" are sold at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. at all druggists and medicine dealers, or they will be sent postpaid on receipt of regular retail price, by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ogdensburg, New York.
