Spring Wall Paper Styles

This Spring's designs run to small figures and stripes, both in the one-band and two-band papers, while the new color schemes follow very largely the same trend as last year. Grays and Browns predominate, and the variations of these shades, such as: Chamois, Sage, Buff, Tan, Cream, etc. For Bedroom papers Yellows and Blues divide the honors.

The "Futurist School" of design has gained much in popularity. The general character of this work is sharp drawing and vivid coloring and surely they have brought forth many beautiful creations.

Cut-out Borders still increase in popularity, in fact, probably 75 per cent. of the Borders have cut-out possibilities, whereas the cut-out idea was formerly confined largely to bedrooms, it entered very extensively into the hall, diningroom, livingroom, library and parlor papers.

Oatmeal papers, also the new multi-colored, plain goods, still receive much favor and several new shades have been added. Delightful combinations can be secured from the use of these goods in connection with narrow binders for panels, baseboards and moulding decorations.

Bedroom papers continue to advance from an artistic standpoint. The newest ideas in these papers center around semi-floral stripes in delicate shades, with lightly colored cut-out borders.

Wall Papers with Cretounes to match are highly favored by discriminating buyers.
