

BABCOCK & DAVIDSON

Nos. 114 to 118 MAIN STREET, HORNELL, N. Y.

Merchandise of Sterling Merit—No one hesitates accepting currency at a bank—never questions its genuineness. It is looked upon as genuine because the bank hands it out. Same way with buyers at this store. The people know that we are experts—careful experts; that we have too much at stake to deal in counterfeits or the spurious in any of our many lines.

It's an education to visit this store. Home-owners and prospective home-owners must see it, else they will miss a valuable lesson in furnishing and saving.

Wisdom in Buying

It's Wisdom to be Careful in buying Furniture. The market is full of the unreliable kinds. We are not after your trade just for the present—we want it continuously and to this end sell only reliable, trustworthy Furniture.

And, say, there's lots in that to you, wide-awake housekeeper, who want the class of Home Furnishings that reflect excellence and durability but at a moderate cost. We have them and in pleasing variety. And we're satisfied to sell them at small profits. Come, and come again—there's the flavor of freshness every new day.

This is a new day. Note these values.

China Sale Continues Until Saturday Night

Just a few days more to profit by the special bargains in China. We desire to have you become better acquainted with our New China Department, therefore are offering every piece of China in the store at a reduced price. The Sale will close Saturday Night, April 17th. Remember this too—a large proportion of this China is imported and already there is a scarcity of many imported lines, so perhaps there is the double profit to you of both the special prices and securing the goods. The Basement is a place of many bargains. Visit it often.

AMONG THE SUFFRAGISTS

Wyoming has had equal suffrage for forty-six years. During that time there have been but four women in the Legislature. Office-holding would seem to be one of the well established sex distinctions.

The steady and consistent support given by the Socialists to woman suffrage when viewed in the light of the comparatively small vote for the Socialist ticket cast by women voters—at the recent Chicago primaries it was 227—proves the Socialists to be no opportunists in politics.

Wanted: Actresses to take the anti-suffrage parts in Mary Shaw's play, "The Woman Of It," to be performed at Cort Theatre, New York, for the benefit of the Children's Educational Theatre.

Evidently there is small chance of making a hit with theatre goers in an anti-suffrage part. As a straw showing which way the wind is blowing, this incident is not without value.

Some weeks ago in Manchester, England, a soldier on leave killed his wife. Having proved that he was drunk, he got a sentence of six months.

At the same court session, the Manchester Assizes, was tried a girl who had thrown her illegitimate baby into the river. It did not drown and she proved that she was drunk and did not know what she was doing. She was sentenced to five years penal servitude. Yet, if women vote, some say they must forfeit the chivalry now accorded them by men.

President Wilson, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Mayor of Philadelphia on April 25 will extend the right hand of fellowship to nearly four thousand newly naturalized citizens.

"This idea is so appealing," comments the Washington Times, "it has never been done before."

The editor of The Times doesn't happen to know that it has been done before. It happened in Los Angeles where the newly enfranchised women planned and carried out a school for citizenship and the newly naturalized citizens received their papers surrounded with all the ceremony of a college graduation. It was heralded by the suffragists as an instance showing that woman suffrage at least introduced the amenities into political life.

"The Yellow Peril, Pan-Germanism, and the rest are foreign in their nature and need the historic imagination to realize them," says Samuel Crothers in "Mediations on Votes for Women." "But a citizen who gets the idea that the Woman Peril threatens to overwhelm all things holy, may see it smiling at him across the tea table. It is no figment of the imagination, and it is always able to talk back when he cries 'Avaunt!'"

A Nautical Explanation.

The officers were on the quarter deck looking at a comet and noticed an eager discussion among the crew forward. The captain called one of the men aft and asked him what was the subject of discussion.

"We were trying to make out what that there thing was," replied the man, pointing to the comet. "And what do you imagine it is?" "Dunno, your honor, but Bill Jones here, as knows most things, says as how it's a star that's sprung a leak."—London Telegraph.

Remembered Whole Books.

Walter Savage Landor carried his library in his head. When he had read a book he always gave it away on principle, having, as he said, observed that with such a purpose in his mind he was sure to retain of a book all that was worth keeping. In his old age Landor was furious if he did not at once remember any passage of a book or any name or date.
