Going From Dan. Mark Twain's boy friend in his Nevada days was another young journalist called Dan de Quille. On day Mark and he had been for a walk from Gold Hill down to Virginia City. All of a sudden Mark said "Stop," with a wave of his hand, and started to leave his friend.

"Where ye goin', Sam?" asked Dan. "Waal," remarked Mark in his famous drawl. "I guess I'll take a run down to Beer-shiba. That's the correct place to go when you leave Dan."

Long Pedigrees. A distinguished French seaman, Admiral Magon, who was killed at Trafalgar, showed a pedigree going back to Mago, the brother of Hamnibal. The Sanson family, who owns an estate near Lyons, boast of their descent from the strong man of the Bible, which is commemorated in their coat of arms by the broken column of a temple. An Italian nobleman, the Marchese Barro traces his line back to Porus, the Indian monarch who fought a battle with Alexander the Great.

When Pins Were New. A curious fact in the early history of pins is that when they were first sold in "open shop" there was such a great demand for them that a code was passed permitting their sale only on two days in the year—the 1st and 2d of January. Those days the court ladies and the city dames flocked to the depots to purchase them in such numbers that they were accounted festivals.

More Men are Dressing Better and More Men are Paying a Medium Price

That sounds odd, but it is true. The making of men's ready-to-wear clothing is constantly being done on a greater and more scientific scale.

One of the big makers, some few years ago, decided to center his efforts on one suit at one price. Immediately we saw the advantage of the plan and went out and got the suit for this town.

The suit is known as STYLE-PLUS CLOTHES $17. The quality in it is high because by lowering the manufacturing cost the manufacturers are able to give better woollens, better workmanship and then add the styling of a master fashion artist.

STYLEPLUS has won endorsement throughout the country because the wear is guaranteed and because the fashionable STYLE-PLUS impression is hard to get at any price. Thus more men are dressing better and at the same time are glad to spend less than formerly on their clothes.

You can save money here on STYLEPLUS. Sold nowhere else. All sizes, all fabrics; all models. Big assortment. Come in.
