—Mrs. Miranda Wilcox Beech died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Stout of Hallsport May 22nd. Deceased was ninety-three years of age, coming to the Town of Independence when a child of two years, her entire life has been passed in that vicinity.

—Without giving him a chance to try out in the League the Wellsville ball team manager released Archie Bloss Wednesday. Archie won every game which he pitched, and his many admirers, both in Wellsville and Andover, feel that the manager threw him dirt in holding him so long and not giving the boy a chance to make good.

—A nine pound baby boy was found in the haymow of the barn on the John Kenyon farm near Belfast Monday night. The family were away from home for the day and while stabling the horses upon their return, heard the cries of an infant who was found under two feet of loose hay. The tiny body was wrapped in a piece of a sheet and a band of muslin was bound over its mouth. He is a strong child and is being cared for at the Kenyon home while the authorities are trying to locate the parties who left him at the barn. As yet they have no clue.

—Mrs. Clarinda Brundage received a message this week telling of the death of her grandson, Edwin Langworthy, the three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Langworthy of Newport, R. I. The little fellow fell upon a lead pencil while playing. The sharp point penetrated his nostril injuring him so seriously as to cause meningitis to develop resulting in death. The case is a sad one and the parents, both former Andover people, have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in this village.

"1ST OF JULY, LAST OF AUGUST"

There is a saboteur in this county who rejoices in the Christian name of August; a glance at his given name would convince any one that he wasn't in sympathy with the Allies. August is wide of girth, but short of speech and never talks unless it is necessary. He also enjoys the enviable reputation of paying his debts promptly. A few days ago while August was standing behind the bar, in came the rental agent for the building and said:

"August, I hereby serve notice to you that on July 1 we are going to raise your rent."

"August gazed at him steadily for fully half a minute, and without taking his pipe from his mouth, said:

"—Vell?"

"A few minutes later the agent for the brewery dropped in and informed August that on July 1 beer would be advanced $1 a barrel.

"Once more August's only comment was 'vell.'

"A short time after a delegation from the Barkeepers' Union came in and informed August that after July 1 they would demand an advance in wages.

"Again came the ejaculation 'vell.'

The next morning August read in the Age-Herald that the State had gone dry. He fished out a paint brush and card and after about an hour's laborious effort fixed the card to his liking, and placed it over his register. In letters that were 'fearfully and wonderfully made' the inscription read:

"To all dose beoples vat it don't concern. Der first of July will be der last of August."

It's the pleasantest time of the year to "take a look" at advertised real estate. No matter whether you're quite ready to buy—keep investigating.

A very good collection of ten cent bargains at Baker Bros. all next week, articles that most any one can find a place for.
