

the hardest weather of the world's cold treatment, starved and radiant with a beauty given only to those who find life a struggle and turn it into a victory.

I challenge every member of this class to-night: Would you win success, position, fortune or crown? You must contend for it. Who conquers? The man! Who fails? The fraction of a man! Your start in life is auspicious; a man or woman with a cultured brain and individuality of person is organized victory.

General Grant when he graduated from the Nation's Military Academy, only knew that he had been trained and was ready for the opportunity. It came and Grant in twelve short years directed 1,000 battles, won 1,000 victories, conquered the greatest rebellion of the ages and occupied the White House as President of the Nation.

That was a good maxim of olden time, "Get thy spindle and distaff ready and God will send thee flax." The present and coming age is pregnant with opportunities. In the last few months our Nation has moved many leagues to the front. The world is unfolding, all gates are swinging open to the sons and daughters of Columbia.

Putting aside the political question as to what ought to be done with Mexico and Germany, the whole world for the first time is now open, and the question in burning letters may be seen on the frontlet of all Nations, "What shall our young men and women do with the world?"

China, the richest of all lands for metals and opportunities, with its 500,000,000 of people, has recently been made our neighbor. The produce of the U. S. is to be quadrupled in the life of the present generation.

What of this mighty commerce and mechanism, art and literature, and all the professions streaming from every point of the compass of our Nation, to be sustained by our cultured and trained young men and women? What a vision rises before me! Class of 1915 take a view of it. The American plow, the American hammer, the American Press, the American university, the American republicanism, backed and sustained by the American brain and brawn.

My young friends, set your face toward the sunrise of the new century; catch the radiance of hope and high resolves; do and dare for the right. Enter the foremost rank in the great reforms, to create a better civic life, by purifying the political atmosphere and helping to sweep the saloon from the face of the earth.

Don't stop to secure ease or luxury, or pleasure, but rather court toil, privation, and hardships, heroically taking the cup-meeting the demand, winning the fight. And when the conflict is over you will rise in the halo of earthly honor and heavenly glory and swing through the Golden Gates of the Eternal City to join the immortals.

MOUNT VERNON, THE HOME OF WASHINGTON
By J. E. Jones

A pretty little story of visits to Mount Vernon on the Potomac "impressions and sentiments like yours and mine," explain the author to those who have seen our country's greatest shrine.

Bound in colonial blue and buff with hand illuminated cover design and George Washington's colonial ribbon-book mark; profusely illustrated with handsome half-tones and pen drawings, it is a dainty and invaluable reminder that will instantly appeal to every person who has been to Mount Vernon, while to those who have not had that good fortune this clever, happy story of our beloved George and Martha gives a clearer view and understanding of their colonial home, which is to-day the pride of Virginia and the Nation.

As a souvenir or gift book, for young or old, there is nothing to approach the elegance of this little volume, and it will make one feel more like a patriotic American to possess it.

Send $1 for a copy of the first edition to be delivered to your address.

U. S. PRESS ASSOCIATION

Special Note: Mr. Jones is the Washington correspondent of the News, and if you will state that you are a reader of this paper, an autographed copy of the first edition will be furnished on the regular order.
