PUBLISHED WEEKLY
BY J. HARVEY BACKUS

OUR KEYNOTE:
"If There is not a Way, Cut a Way."
Andover, N. Y., July 2, 1915

Entered as second-class mail matter under act of Congress, at the Post-office at Andover, N. Y.

When you can't get it, don't want it.

Man's tongue was made for use, not abuse.

Success begets greater success, and likewise enmity.

It is better to be famous than rich, but we'd rather be both.

The only ones whom truth fails to hurt are those who are dead.

If hell is any worse than Europe it's us for the Sunday School.

Most big men have hearts, but a few have nothing but rizzards.

Don't lose faith in your husband. Explanations are too tedious.

Fame covers a multitude of sins, but all sin is not covered by fame.

Do not overeat. It is distressing to the stomach and the pick-efhook.

The man who respects other men with mud is soon to be mud himself.

Down in the old days, the devil was a real devil, and hell was a real hell.

What a man is is just a matter of what he does.

Whether you know or not, you are being watched.

As a mother, you should be the best of mothers, the best of wives, the best of friends, the best of neighbors, the best of citizens.

Stop and think. God is the only one who can make you smile and give you the greatest happiness that man can know.

Many men point of the way, but only one is the way.

When the other fellow is wrong, you bow, and when you are wrong you shut up like a clam.

It is to admit it, but this deluge of war news is so tiresome we are becoming terribly peevish.

Man's wisdom points out his own imperfections, while his ignorance magnifies virtues that do not exist.

"Dead men tell no tales" but they serve as a magnet that draws the murderer back to the scene of his crime.

This war will be a godsend to American housewives. The crop of impoverished noblemen will be quite sufficient to go around.

England wants a five billion dollar loan and she is sure to get it. We want that dollar you owe us, and we hope to get it.

Some men are dominant forces in any crowd. But then some men have opportunity while others wait for opportunity to make them.

The deadly submarine habit is spreading. A Galesburg, Ill., man tried to smoke a cigaret while under water and was promptly drowned. The cigaret was a total loss.

In this country we make strenuous efforts to grow two blades of grass where but one has grown before, while in Germany they are growing hills of potatoes where none have ever been before. Let's swap.

THE CONSTRUCTIVE CITIZEN

What is the very best kind of a citizen? What is it that we should all hold as an ideal, and endeavor to become?

This life is not worth the struggle unless we have the right kind of a purpose. To enjoy it ourselves, to the fullest limit, it is an admitted fact that we must help others to enjoy it, smooth the rough roads so others will not stumble on the rocks over which we tumbled.

Most people have a mania for greatness, for fame. That is only human, for we love the applause of our fellows. But it is in the possibilities that we may all become great. All that is necessary is for us to do our best. Add the little we have to the little that our neighbors have and together work for the benefit of the community as a whole.

It is the every day living that makes for character, not the spasmodic burst of goodness that lasts but a few weeks at the most. It is the dependable goodness that your neighbors feel that makes for greatness.

Greatness does not depend upon the size of ones bank roll, but upon the amount of good one does. We are put here for no other purpose than that we may do good. If we accomplish it we are a success, if we do not we are a failure and have no right to the claim of greatness.

BE A CONSTRUCTIVE CITIZEN.

He is the person who sees good in every other person. Because things do not always go as he thinks best he does not sulk, he does not "take his dollies and go home," nor kick over the traces and refuse to pull.

He can both forgive and forget.

The constructive citizen, even if he is not adding a little each year to the sum laid by for a rainy day, is always pleased if his fellow citizen has turned an honest dollar, and glories in his neighbor's prosperity, for he understands that in order for the community to become prosperous it must be peopled with some who are prosperous.

He doesn't always ask, "What is there in it for me?" before he gives his sanction to a new movement for the advancement of his community.

He is always ready with a willing hand to take hold and boost anything that his fellow citizens believe will be for the advancement, either in a social, business or educational way, of his town.

He is not always so busy shining that he cannot stop long enough to give his help in the less glorious activities of the community life.

He can call a thing a success even if he was not the person to be "dolled up" and be placed upon the platform. He can help wash the dishes after the banquet is over.

In short the constructive citizen is the good citizen, the man with a heart and a hand ready, and willing to do the best there is in him for the good of his town and his neighbors.

You all know the cowhide whip. He does not have to be whipped to get on his feet. He is the fellow who gets on his feet and stays there. He is the fellow who gets on his feet and stays there.

Let's all be constructive citizens.

As The Editor Sees It.

It is a pleasure to know that you by chance one of the many who are looking around for some one to help.

It is a pleasure to know that you are great enough and kind enough to help your own imperfections.

Have you not often seen the high upon the holder of intelligence, the power of reasoning to even greater heights?

LET THEM FEEL THE SUN.—THE SUN'S RAYS MAKE SUNNY CHILDREN.

You will not be the only brainy man or woman in that assembly. You will not be the only one who is conscientiously endeavoring to strengthen the body, the mind and the soul.

The listeners and speakers know a few things. It is possible that they may know as much as you—for their store of knowledge is extracted from the school of experience assembled in an interesting form and given to you for your benefit and entertainment.

In any event their thoughts will touch upon certain viewpoints which perchance may flow in different channels from your own, and therein lies the opportunity for adding to the sagacity and wisdom which lifts you to eminence in the world of men.

Every normal brain radiates knowledge of some kind or other, and the brains of these lecturers and entertainers are trained to impart that knowledge to others.

There is much yet in this world for us to learn, and still more of the greater and longer life yet to come.

Take in the Chautauqua Course in Andover next month. You will be in good company and among friends. Of course you will be found present.

LET THEM FEEL THE SUN.—THE SUN'S RAYS MAKE SUNNY CHILDREN.

Let the kiddies bask in the sun. Let its rays descend upon them, that in after years their souls may radiate the joys of life to those who follow in their footsteps.

For the sun is our best learned doctor, our profoundest preacher, and the greatest builder and rejuvenator of the human race.

An hour in the sun is more potent than an eternity in the shadows.

S MILE AGAIN.—Do you remember that smile that escaped you the other day and flooded your face with sunshine, and brought joy to the hearts of your friends and the little ones as you passed them on the street? That smile was contagious. It spread from you to others, and kept on spreading and growing, and is still traveling from face to face somewhere in this world.

Do it again, and do it often—do it every day. A smile is worth much and costs nothing. It is a pearl without price.

And it is a gift which you may bestow upon others without trouble or loss to yourself, a boon to humanity which encourages and elevates and ennobles the giver as well as the recipient. Smile again and keep smiling.

PINS AND DOLLARS.—Some people never fail to bend their backs to pick up a pin, and yet let the dollars slip right through their fingers without even a blink. They grasp at the shadow while the substance marches by.

If the point of the pin is facing you it is supposed to be good luck to pick it up.

But there are greater values and better opportunities for luck than in stooping your shoulders in a futile search for pins.

READ THE ADS IN THIS PAPER if you want to find luck in big chunks and pick up dollars instead of pins.

Our advertising columns are full of splendid opportunities every week, and they are to be had simply by the reading and the taking.

Forget the pins and go after the bigger game. Read the ads and pick up the dollars.

By Hamilton B. Williams

If some power this day were to offer each one of us one gift and one alone which should be our mode of life now and forever we should likely choose each according to the desire of the heart. Our ultimate self is a hunger.

And the great God Wish is a great God. In the hands of a good man a certain talisman possessing great power became a wand of good ness-working. In a bad man's hands it worked evil. A fool getting it turned it into a piece of meat (cheating hungry) and the talisman became no more. Life is such a talisman.

To a good man life is a gift of God to be used with devotion. To a bad man life is a means of self-gratification. To a fool life has no value. I affirm that a sense of values will work the salvation of the race.

The great reason why the great multitude does not seek first the kingdom of heaven is that the multitude does not believe that the kingdom is first. Watch the procession. Every one of us is living according to the counsel of his heart.

What looms big we seek. The Christ is the world's most valuable citizen because he had a sense of values.

WORD

The inimitable, beloved Pickford's latest character in that of the little well-known drama of life, "Behind the Scenes," Margaret Mayo, author of "Mine," and the comedy of the current theatrical "Twin Beds."

Not since "In the Bishop's Chair" has this fascinating star appeared in the role of actress, and her wonderfulness in the other productions a similar or greater in the present play.

"Behind the Scenes" absorbing play that contains drama of life with the stage. It is human out, and depicts the sorrows of the little social theatrical fame, and sacrifice for love just as it is within reach.

The humorous elements serious episodes of the faithfully interpreted by Pickford, and punctuated by delightful and original When the stress of it reaches its crisis, when the actress after her years of struggle and poverty, is chosen between love and the star reaches unusual heights, and gives one of the best performances of her career. After the great battle, she abandons the man she loves for the real cost of her decision written on her forehead and the sacrifice intended for the life of the throne.

"Behind the Scenes" of stage life not exaggerated with the clothing, but true and its depiction of the failures and the triumphs of a theatrical career against this extraneous balanced the overstatement of a man, triumphant as it has been, but other soul-conflicts.
