FARMER CRUISES TO DEATH

Mrs. H. A. Bishop of East Hill Finds Her Husband's Mangled Body

Franklinville, July 12.—H. A. Bishop, 53 years old, a farmer living at East Hill, near here, was instantly killed on his farm this afternoon when he was caught in a belt attached to a gasoline engine.

Bishop had gone out to fix the engine early in the afternoon. When he did not return in three hours his wife went to investigate. She found his body wound up in the belt. He had been terribly mangled.

Surviving Mr. Bishop are his wife, two sisters, Mrs. J. Simpson of Olean and Mrs. William Hudson of this village, and a brother, Roy Bishop of Franklinville.

OLEAN GETS AN OFFER

Firm May Take $2,500,000 War Order or Shells

Olean, July 12.—The Clark Bros. Company announced to-day that they had been offered part of a large war supply order, their share of which amounts to about $2,500,000. The local firm will take the order if satisfactory arrangements are made for payments in advance. To accept the order means that the local factory would have to make a number of temporary additions to the present building and put in some new machinery. About 1,000 men would have to be added for three shifts.

A representative of the company left to-night to New York to make further negotiations. Several other Western New York firms have been offered a part of the work which is principally the manufacture of shrapnel.

A store's ads introduce it to new people, all the time—people to whom the store will become essential, as time goes on.
