OUR KEYNOTE:
"If There is not a Way, Cut a Way."

Andover, N. Y., August 13, 1916

Entered as second-class mail matter under act of Congress, at the Post-office at Andover, N. Y.

This is a good town, brother. Are you telling others?

Many a ruptured wise head contains but little wisdom.

Cuss words are often better than the men who use them.

A vicious lie travels at express speed and stops at every station.

With some people "to think is to act." And that's the trouble with them.

Have you ever read a love letter that you wrote thirty years ago? Don't do it.

No use to tell your neighbors to go to hell now. Send them aboard the Eastland.

When a woman has a legitimate excuse for doing a thing she often forgets to do it.

You may be, as you think, a good man—but let the other fellow sound your praises.

Japan is rapidly advancing in the art of civilization. The grafters are getting in their work.

Any one this year can win undying fame as a prophet by predicting any old kind of weather.

Honest labor never kills any man, but laziness often sends many a cuss to the potter's field. This world is full of sinners, and we all think the other fellow is a bigger one than we are.

Any store that advertises today, the article that you want to buy to-day, is an interesting store to you.

To bring a high polish to furniture use plenty of elbow grease. The same receipt is good for other things.

Harry Thaw is touring the country in his automobile, but the country steadfastly refuses to lose its head.

In order to get the most satisfaction out of our new Summer wear it will be first necessary to find the Summer.

Keep your eye on Andover. Get close to it—stay by it—and in time you will recognize a good thing when you see it.

"America is swimming in gold," says a banker of note. Possibly so, but darned if we can connect up with even a bathing suit.

We have a most excellent wall map of the world, but it was made several days ago and is now quite hopelessly out-of-date.

At the hour this squib is written, Carranza's forces are back in Mexico City again. But that's no indication that they are there now.

Are you doing as much for your home town as your town is doing for you? Think it over and perhaps in time you may be able to answer, "yes."

A mud hole in the street is seen by everybody, is in the way of everybody, is cussed by everybody and yet nobody seems to want to remove it.

More people have come to pleasant and profitable "turning points" in their lives through having answered classified ads than through all other circumstances combined. Do you want to arrive at a "turning point" pretty soon?

HOW TO FEEL BULLY

Work and keep on working, and making every act count for something higher and better. It leaves a bully feeling.

Save your money and keep on saving and accumulating until you have enough of this world's goods to see you comfortably through life. That, too, is some bully feeling.

Be kind and gentle and considerate. The knowledge that you are making those with whom you are intimately connected happy will cause you to feel even bullier than bully.

Give the little ones a smile and a pat when you meet them and their expressions of delight will be the quintessence of bully to you.

Be humane in your handling of dumb brutes, for though they may not talk with the tongue, their eyes will speak the gratitude they feel, and again you will experience that bully feeling.

Speak gently of your neighbor and forgive his faults. That too may help you to the bully feeling.

Spread the gospel of loyalty to home and home people up on all occasions and at all places and the satisfaction of knowing it's a deed well done will add spice to your bully feeling.

Lift up the fallen and assist him to tread the path of a better life and your deed of humane kindness will glorify your bully feeling.

"Bully" is a mighty good way to feel and it is quite within the reach of us all, for when a right mind and a clean will precedes a deed that deed will be one of the bulliest of all.

OUR NEW MAN OF BUSINESS

For generations throughout the civilized world the farmer has been regarded simply as a farmer—nothing more.

He has been classed as a farmer, rated as a farmer and treated as a farmer, and all because there are none so blitzy as those who will not see.

But all of that is changed to-day. The farmer has come into his own, and stands before the world in the twentieth century as the most solid, substantial and most reliable class of people on the face of the earth.

He is a man of business, of tremendous business—the one man without whom the world would cease to exist.

Men go out to the great cities and many of them rise and fall and are heard from no more.

But the farmer moves steadily onward and upward, always to better and greater things.

He is our new man of business—our greatest man of business—the man upon whom all the world depends for the vital sustenance of life.

HERE IS some slight differences between the poor boy who reaches the top and the gilded youth who sinks to the bottom. Life is just one big ladder, and you can climb as high or slide down as low as you like, and no one will stop you.

HIS BIGGEST INTEREST

A man in another State was once asked which of investments paid him the highest rate of interest, and replied that it was the dollar he paid on his subscription to a local paper.

"One day I wanted to buy a cow," he said, "and to make a trip of about fifteen miles to get one that I for sale at a certain price. But just before starting to pick up the local paper and noticed that a neighbor was offering one of the same breed at a dollar less than other one. He really sold it to me for $4 less. I had a thirty-mile drive and $4 cash because I had paid a dollar for the local paper."

"That was just one instance, but as a matter of fact both time and money in fifteen or twenty different ways the year and all through reading the ads in a paper cost but a dollar a year. I consider that dollar the best investment ever made, and I am investing as regularly as the sun around and always with the most satisfactory results."

Sign Boards on the Up

The Hours
A-garlanded with jewels sing
The madrigal of the Possible,
Open the Soul's gate—
The caravans rich treasure bring.
Behold To-day: 'Tis the gift of God;
And Life and Fate
Must follow where we've trod
Forth! Sow! Ourselves in the hearts of men;
This Day will dawn no more again.
Stint not the sowing.

Stay not to repine that there's scarce a shadow

What is a Christian?
The definition depends entirely upon what one has learned in various ways, but we shall be able to give a clear definition only as we sit at the Master's feet.

Th Master's Suggestion
He told his friends and one of Them—Matthew— reports the saying: He that would follow Me let him take My yoke and learn of me. Learning of Jesus is not a text book affair, neither may another impart the secret; one has got to participate in the bearing and wearing of the cross and yoke. Howbeit the yoke is easy and the burden is light. They lift us up.

A Simple Definition
A Christian is he who has a life-program of self-realization in accordance with the life program of God. It is a definite, unchangeable, and clearly noticeable in his life, not by his personality, but by his bearing and right. Right necessarily the element of the true life. The Christian may not, will not be is yoked to the trail. He will be "seasonal" of his ever he goes the good and the beautiful.

That is always a sign. Up and be going. God gives the strength.
