The Teutonic Allies, in asking the U. S. Evidence accumulates that the strikes in the great plants manufacturing munitions of war in this country are instigated and financed by the Germans.

It also appears that they are subsidizing the press in this country to create pro-German sentiment. Able writers are on their pay-rolls, and it is claimed that through the purchase of the controlling interests in the corporate stock of an influential journal that they can color the situation to suit themselves. This means an opposition to the Administration of the U. S. Government, and if the charges are true that they are instigated by the German Government, then its representatives should be handed their passports. It is a sorry spectacle for one belligerent to come over here, and by a subsidized press oppose our Government in its policies and palm it off on the unsuspecting as American sentiment.

Will Rollins was a city visitor Tuesday.

Michael Keiffe was greeting Greenwood friends Tuesday.

John Driscoll was in town Tuesday.

THE BEST YET

Would it not be interesting to go to the picturesque Rock City in the mountains of Pennsylvania and see the real old time Indians and their encampment, living as they used to many years ago; the warriors in their war paint and grotesque dances; the squaws and papooses dressed as they used to then. The country is as wild as it ever was. Go and imagine yourself back in those olden times when there was no such thing as railroads and automobiles. The experience will be interesting.

The New York & Pennsylvania Ry. will issue low rate excursion tickets on Sunday, the 22nd inst. See Excursion Bills for further information.

WORKING TOGETHER FOR GOOD

By Rev. V. L. Eggleston

Do all things work together for good?

No, not always, but the extent to which they do so is worthy of much thought and of philosophical study.

When I say "all things" I include the bad with the good and I find them all working toward harmonious results in a most wonderful manner. The relation between good and evil is that of master and servant. The bad so often serves the good that the great question, "why was evil allowed to enter the world?" finds a reasonable answer.

I am not inclined to theological discussion but upon this point I have been forced to think myself out of a great dilemma, and the result has been so satisfactory that I cannot help expressing it. It is a view that brings harmony out of discord and reveals a consistent plan in the universe and in human life.

I see both moral and physical forces working together for good. I see the bad as a servant. I see darkness serving the light, the negative serving the positive, the wicked serving the righteous and death serving life.

It seems to me that great harm results from regarding the little and great troubles of life as altogether bad. A philosophical study of life teaches us that they are permitted for wise purposes and that they continually serve all that is good and promote all that is useful within us.

To see the nature of this view and its justification it is only necessary to look into the life of a new born child. It is the most helpless of all creatures that are flung into life. It seems to know nothing by instinct, like the beasts and birds, but has everything to learn, and how does it learn? How does it become strong and self-supporting? How does the most helpless thing on earth develop into the most powerful? It does so by experiences that face it like enemies, hunger causes it to eat, illness teaches it to select its food wisely, cold teaches it to clothe and guard its body. All its wants tend to make it skillful and inventive; accidents by sea and land make it prudent; fraud and robbery make it financially keen; the certainty of death makes it saving of time and thoughtful of the great hereafter.

The strong man, the brave man, the complete man, is the product of forces that, from the cradle to the grave, continually antagonize and threaten him with destruction. The negative side, the dark side, the bad side of life has helped to make the good side what it is.

There are few that do not see this in practical life, few that wish to be shielded from all exposure, from every harsh wind, from every conflict and temptation, few who are so weak and foolish as to wish thus to shield their children, dearly as they love them.

In exposure to bracing winds, in the games and conflicts of play grounds, in the necessity of toil in the "rough and tumble" of life everywhere, the bone and muscle of life are all made and maintained. This is why I am disposed to regard the so-called evils of life as a necessary part of the great plan of the universe, and to ask myself continually what good is to be found in them.

The adoption of this view would greatly modify the antagonisms of life and round off the harsh corners of many a controversy. It would also influence our treatment of those victims of unfortunate organization and surroundings who seem altogether bad. Life is cheerful in proportion as one looks out philosophically upon nature and is inspired with the charity that addresses itself to the good side of things rather than combats the seeming bad, much of which can be made to serve all that is good and thus lose its repulsive features.

Our "B. B." column always does the business.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

AMONG THE SUPFRAGISTS

Shall women vote? is a question in only fifteen states, for in all the rest they do vote.

Since women vote at some elections why not at all? is the only question that can be asked in twenty-one states where women have partial suffrage.

Since women vote for U. S. President why not for members of Congress? Since women vote for mayors and councilmen why not for governor and legislators? These are the only woman suffrage questions asked in Illinois. Since women have full suffrage in eleven states, why not in all states? This is an American conundrum which only prejudice attempts to answer.

On August 13 suffragists made pilgrimages in honor of the birthday of Lucy Stone who was born in 1818 and whose mother had no more legal rights than the baby whom she regretfully learned was a girl because, as she said, "A woman's life is so hard." Having milked eight cows the evening before she spoke from conviction based on experience and not theory.

The mayor of Chicago is credited with winning the street car strike for the men. A press report states, "From the standpoint of the 11,000 unionized employees, the mayor was the only conceivable umpire on whom they or their class could have the least leverage."

As the "leverage" was the vote and as the total financial gain from this "leverage" was estimated at over a million dollars, wage earning women are being asked to recall this fact when the anti-suffragists assure them that "voting has nothing to do with wages."

Wife and mother have had their day in Canada," so ruins the dispatch from Ottawa which announced that on August 6 the Militia Department had taken away from the wife any right in deciding whether or not her husband should enlist and from the mother any right to prevent the enlistment of her young son.

Canada has harked back to the old Napoleonic dictum relative to war and women: Women are useful to the state only to bear soldiers.

In Minnesota the work done for sanitation and health by a civic league of women organized by Caroline Bartlett Crane so impressed Dr. William Mayo, the noted surgeon of Rochester that he came out in favor of votes for women.

In Colorado the state superintendent of education, Mary C. Bradford, has headed a movement to induce every Democratic woman in the state to write the President and beg him, as one of her political faith, to use his influence to help get votes for women in the East.

TUTTLE & ROCKWELL CO'S PUBLIC COMFORT TENT CHANGES LOCATION

The Fair management has taken the space usually occupied by our Comfort Tent for the Foot and Mouth exhibit. However, we have a splendid location further up on the midway at the end of the cattle sheds—these sheds will be used this year for hitching, which makes this new location ideal.

This Public Comfort Tent, as you know, is for you, here you may check your packages, eat your lunch, or rest. No charges whatever. We invite you to make this big tent your headquarters while at the Fair.

Readers of a newspaper expect to find in it all of your store news that is of enough importance to have a place in a newspaper. And you probably know that as to stores, "no news is bad news."

OLDEST TWINS IN NEW YORK

It is claimed the oldest twins in the State are Mrs. Oren Coleman of Binghamton, and Mrs. Homer Coleman of Waverly. The ladies celebrated their eighty-fifth birthday May 10th. The sisters had a double wedding, marrying brothers. Each had eight children, their first sons being born the same date. The quartette celebrated their golden wedding anniversary together. The sisters were left widows the same year and each now draw a pension.

A FOWL ANSWER

After a teacher had recited "The Landing of the Pilgrims," she requested each pupil to try to draw from his or her imagination a picture of Plymouth Rock. Most of them went to work at once, but one little fellow hesitated, and at length raised his hand.

"Well, Willie, what is it?" asked the teacher.

"Please, ma'am, do you want us to draw a hen or a rooster?"

SUMMER PLAYERS AT CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y.

Wonderful Amateur Company Produces Best Plays With Settings of Burlap and Pastebord.

Few stock companies have ever attracted as much attention as the amateur company of Chautauqua Players, which produce the best obtainable plays, both modern and classic, in the big auditorium at Chautauqua, N. Y.

M. Benedict Papot, who is an instructor of languages at Chicago university, directs the company of twenty and, with the common combinations of burrap and pastebord backgrounds, obtains effects that are pronounced marvelous by the best critics.

M. Papot has long been known as the "best amateur stage director in America" and has a wonderful capacity for contriving scenic effects. He is a hard worker and during the Christmas vacation took his company to New York city, where they produced their repertoire under the auspices of the House of Play Foundation, at St. Mark's church on the Bowery.

The New York Times gave them high praise, and their stay had to be prolonged to repeat several productions.

Everywhere there is now a great vogue for amateur theatricals and for simplicity in stage effects. Chautauqua has taken the lead in this respect, and her players have won applause wherever they have gone.

Pinerio's "Sweet Lavender," Clyde Fitch's "Nathan Hale" and Grundy's "A Pair of Spectacles" will be given this season.
