BOY IS ELECTROCUTED

Hornell Youth is Killed When He Touches Arc Light

Hornell, Oct. 5.—Dewey Mess, seventeen years old, of No. 62 1/2 Catherine street, employed as a boilermaker's apprentice in the local Erie Railroad shops, was electrocuted in the Erie yards here early this evening when he accidentally touched a highly charged wire.

Harry Mathews, an electrician, had lowered one of the arclights which had gone out and was repairing it when the Mess' boy, accompanied by another youth, came along.

According to the story told by Mathews, the Mess boy stooped over to pick up a lantern which was standing on the ground and it is thought that his head came in contact with a part of the light which carried 2,200 volts. The charge knocked the boy unconscious and although every effort was made to revive him, he died about five minutes later. Coronor Otto K. Stewart was notified.

The boy was born in Canaseraga and is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Lena Lockwood of Greigsville, Mrs. Ray Myers and one brother, Stanley, of this city.

Georgetown Farmer Raises Profitable Crop of Soudan Grass

George Hatfield of Georgetown Del., has succeeded in raising a large patch of Soudan grass, the seed for which was sent him by the government last year. The grass has a fine, pencil-like stalk and grows more than 12 feet high with seed in a tassel on the end. Hatfield grew a quantity of the grass for seed, but the rest he has been feeding to cattle.

It can be cut about four times a year, growing again as soon as it is cut. Cattle and horses will leave corn and oats for its succulent stalks and Hatfield declared that it would be the coming forage crop for this section.

as it grows at its finest in the light, sandy soils of Sussex county. Government inspectors will visit the patch and inspect it for reports to be made this year.
