The latest way of retrenching state expense is to call all of the assessors from each town in the state to a meeting at Albany, making each town pay the cost of the trip, instead of sending one or two men to each county to meet with the assessors in the county. This is a new way to economize!

Floyd Caryl of Rosburg, was killed instantly while at work in the town of Granger. He was working with James Lee, a bean thresher, and was helping to move the separator to Mr. Hall's barn, when it slued out of the road. While trying to hold the machine rightside up, it tipped onto him and he was caught beneath it, crushing the life out of him.

Bolivar Breeze—Mrs. J. C. Cornell has a flock of twelve white rock hens, going on two years old and about the same number of pullets crossed with White Wyandotte, which for the month of November laid 14 dozen and nine eggs, and for the month of December, 20 dozen. She thinks this is a pretty good record. Several eggs measured 6 1/2 by 7 1/4 inches.

In speaking of the production of Vogel's Minstrels at Cuba, that played there the night previous to coming to Andover, the Patriot says: "There was one respect, however, in which the Vogel management might have shown better judgment. Too much suggestiveness, both of profanity and obscenity, marked the performance, bringing it at times almost to the border of burlesque of the risque type. It is quite likely not all that line is handed out in the large cities where the show appears, but reserved for the provinces, on the mistaken notion that it will "go" there. Cuba doesn't relish it, however, and if it had been omitted there would have been little or nothing to criticize in Monday evening's performance or to detract from it as a high-class minstrel production."
