

BANK

YOU GET

Safety,
Courtesy,
Accommodation,
Advice,

Interest on your time deposits, and money when you need it.

BURROWS NATIONAL BANK NEW YORK STATE DEPOSITORY

Report to Comptroller Dec. 31, 1915

Capital $25,000.00 Surplus and Profits $28,500.00
Resources $291,500.00

J. S. Phillips, President.
F. W. Burrows, Cashier.

E. J. Atwood, Vice Pres.
Ralph E. Temple Asst. Cash.

MAILS CLOSE

Going East
A. M. Train 222	8:55
P. M. Train 26	2:30
P. M. Train 8	8:00
Train 8, mail closes at 7:30
P. M., Tuesdays and Fridays.
Going West
A. M. Train 7	8:55
P. M. Train 541	6:00
W. F. O'Connell, Postmaster

Easter comes on April 23rd.

The "M. M." Club met with Mrs. Pomeroy Tuesday night.

Mrs. Hiram Boyd is among those confined to the house by illness this week.

Jerome Remington is gaining slowly from a critical illness at his home on First street.

The Western New York Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at Salamanca, next Saturday.

Michael Casey and Frank Quigg are the trial Jurors drawn from the Town of Andover to serve at February term of County Court.

Dr. O. K. Stewart and family of Belmont were ill with ptomaine poisoning last week as the result of eating canned sardines for lunch.

The body of Amos Ray, a former resident of Friendship was brought from Willard to that village for burial last week. Deceased was 50 years of age.

The case of Roy Champlin, now in Sing Sing prison, for the murder of his uncle, Henry McGee of Wellsville, will be argued before the Supreme Court of the State of New York the week of February seventh.

"One day little Flora was taken to have an aching tooth removed. That night, while she was saying her prayers, her mother was surprised to hear her say: 'And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtist.'"

The S. H. Burns Company, a mail order concern, of Belmont, has been petitioned against in involuntary bankruptcy in United States district court at Buffalo by creditors who allege the company has committed acts of insolvency.

The New York State Association of Horsemen are preparing for a campaign for safety for their horses on the highway. Among the measures asked will be a dirt or gravel drive on either side of macadam, concrete or brick roads for the use of the horses, claiming they are injured by the slippery condition of the improved highways. Other subjects considered will be uniform traffic signals, and road signs, grade crossings, and the licensing of owners and drivers of automobiles.

—Read what The Forum has to say on "One of the Fine Arts."

—A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graham of Wellsville Jan. 20th.

—The date for the Wellsville Poultry Show has been changed to Feb. 9th to 13th.

—A son, Robert James, is a recent arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Taylor of Belmont.

Buildings were destroyed by fire on the Chautauqua Assembly grounds last week to the amount of $3,000.

George B. Keller, a respected citizen of Cuba, died Jan. 15th after an illness of four years with dropsy. Deceased was born in Hume in 1832.

Park Rogers and family have returned to their home on Harmon street, after passing several months at the home of Mrs. Rogers' father, F. M. Bassett, on Pleasant avenue.

Patrick H. Dougherty of Bolivar was elected president of the Inter State Baseball League at Wellsville recently, to succeed James A. Lidsay. Mr. Dougherty was formerly a member of the Chicago White Sox.

A card from Cashier J. M. Brundage from West Palm Beach, Florida, says: "Coconuts look better than snowballs in January. Mercury ranged from 68 to 76 this week. We both like it very much." They are at The Briggs.

Mrs. Sarah Phillips, aged ninety years, died Jan. 24th, at her home in Allentown. In her earlier life Mrs. Phillips was engaged in teaching in various towns throughout the county. She taught the first public school at Allentown.

Mayor Dan, the four-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Holsley of the Itaskill, near Cuba, fell 20 feet from a beam in the barn to the floor below striking his head on the corner of a wagon-box. The lad was terribly bruised and lacerated.

The home of John Dickson of Almond was destroyed by fire last week Thursday. The family were awakened at five o'clock in the morning to find the entire roof of the building in flames. Nothing was saved from the house and only a small insurance carried.

David F. Wagner, a well-known resident of Wellsville and a farmer formerly residing on Vorhees Hill, died at his home in Wellsville, Tuesday, from heart trouble. He had been ill but a few days. He had always lived in this town until two years ago when he moved to Wellsville.

Mrs. George Alger of Wellsville died suddenly at Berkeley, Cal., last week. Mrs. Alger, who has been in California for two years, came to Wellsville in December and had returned to the coast accompanied by her daughter, Miss Angela Alger, two weeks prior to her death. The body will be brought to Wellsville for interment.

burned by the law, says Mrs. Joseph... died recently... burns from... Oklahoma... as driller in the... Owen's death occurred upon 23th birthday. Interment was at Tulsa.

W. F. Lind of Bolivar lost 45 barrels of crude oil on his lease at Kossuth the result of the heater freezing up causing the stopcock to blow out and the oil to escape. The loss is over $100.00.

The body of James C. Coughlin, who died Jan. 13th, at Jamestown, was brought to Belfast for interment.

Mrs. Don L. Sharp died suddenly last Sunday at her home in Hornell from a stroke of apoplexy. Mrs. Sharp was born in Almond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rawson. She was sixty years of age and had been in usual health so far as her friends had known up to the time of the fatal attack.

MARGUERITE CLARK

In a New Photoplay—Her Return to the Screen in "The Pretty Sister of Jose," a Triumph.

Marguerite Clark, the adorable stage and screen star who, although she made her debut in motion pictures less than a year ago, is already conceded to be one of the foremost film favorites, excels all her former screen characterizations in the delightful role of "The Pretty Sister of Jose," a five-part photo adaptation of the famous play by Frances Hodgson Burnett, produced by the Famous Players Film Company and released on the Paramount Program at the Auditorium, Wednesday evening. This noted play supplied one of the greatest stage successes of Maude Adams, and is one of the most picturesque romances ever presented. It abounds with life and motion, and is essentially an ideal screen subject. It provides Miss Clark with a role unsurpassable for the expression of the delightful mannerisms for which she is so universally loved.

Most persons who have seen Miss Clark in her former screen appearances have, of course, marvelled at the mobility of her countenance. She has, in a singular degree, the greatest gift of the player in portraying emotion and in conveying subtle meanings without uttering a single word. But probably not so many have noticed the eloquence of her hands—slender, nervous, imaginative hands they are, and always expressive. In certain scenes in "The Pretty Sister of Jose" Miss Clark's hands are bent and twisted and tortured and flung above her head as if they clutched desperately at the invisible web of destiny that enveloped her. These movements are not gestures—they are expression, mute, and truly pathetic, and thoroughly suggestive of the throbbing emotions surging through her.

A most capable cast assists the portrayal of this exquisite little star, including Rupert Julian as the all-fascinating matador who eventually wins her heart; Edythe Chapman, Gertrude Norman, Jack Pickford, William Lloyd and Teddy Sampson, who enacts sympathetically and effectively the role of Sarita, a humble maid who died because her love for the matador is not returned, and who thereby strengthens Jose's pretty sister's own dread of love and its devastating consequences.

The "Languages of Paradise." Every language has its admirers. In "Lucile" the author, Owen Meredith, maintained that when he heard French spoken as he approved he "found himself quietly falling in love." Edward Hutton is another instance of this lingual fascination. In stating his preference in his enchanting "Cities of Spain" he recalls an interesting medieval legend. He says: "And as I listened to the splendid syllables of the Castilian tongue that rang eloquently through the twilight I remembered the saying of that old Spanish doctor of whom James Howell tells us in his 'Instructions for Forraire Travell'—to wit, that Spanish, Italian and French, these three daughters of the Latin language, were spoken in paradise; that God Almighty created the world in Spanish; the tempter persuaded Eve in Italian and Adam begged, pardon in French."

the Law, says Mrs. Joseph... died recently... burns from... Oklahoma... as driller in the... Owen's death occurred upon 23th birthday. Interment was at Tulsa.

W. F. Lind of Bolivar lost 45 barrels of crude oil on his lease at Kossuth the result of the heater freezing up causing the stopcock to blow out and the oil to escape. The loss is over $100.00.

The body of James C. Coughlin, who died Jan. 13th, at Jamestown, was brought to Belfast for interment.

Mrs. Don L. Sharp died suddenly last Sunday at her home in Hornell from a stroke of apoplexy. Mrs. Sharp was born in Almond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rawson. She was sixty years of age and had been in usual health so far as her friends had known up to the time of the fatal attack.

MARGUERITE CLARK

In a New Photoplay—Her Return to the Screen in "The Pretty Sister of Jose," a Triumph.

Marguerite Clark, the adorable stage and screen star who, although she made her debut in motion pictures less than a year ago, is already conceded to be one of the foremost film favorites, excels all her former screen characterizations in the delightful role of "The Pretty Sister of Jose," a five-part photo adaptation of the famous play by Frances Hodgson Burnett, produced by the Famous Players Film Company and released on the Paramount Program at the Auditorium, Wednesday evening. This noted play supplied one of the greatest stage successes of Maude Adams, and is one of the most picturesque romances ever presented. It abounds with life and motion, and is essentially an ideal screen subject. It provides Miss Clark with a role unsurpassable for the expression of the delightful mannerisms for which she is so universally loved.

Most persons who have seen Miss Clark in her former screen appearances have, of course, marvelled at the mobility of her countenance. She has, in a singular degree, the greatest gift of the player in portraying emotion and in conveying subtle meanings without uttering a single word. But probably not so many have noticed the eloquence of her hands—slender, nervous, imaginative hands they are, and always expressive. In certain scenes in "The Pretty Sister of Jose" Miss Clark's hands are bent and twisted and tortured and flung above her head as if they clutched desperately at the invisible web of destiny that enveloped her. These movements are not gestures—they are expression, mute, and truly pathetic, and thoroughly suggestive of the throbbing emotions surging through her.

A most capable cast assists the portrayal of this exquisite little star, including Rupert Julian as the all-fascinating matador who eventually wins her heart; Edythe Chapman, Gertrude Norman, Jack Pickford, William Lloyd and Teddy Sampson, who enacts sympathetically and effectively the role of Sarita, a humble maid who died because her love for the matador is not returned, and who thereby strengthens Jose's pretty sister's own dread of love and its devastating consequences.

The "Languages of Paradise." Every language has its admirers. In "Lucile" the author, Owen Meredith, maintained that when he heard French spoken as he approved he "found himself quietly falling in love." Edward Hutton is another instance of this lingual fascination. In stating his preference in his enchanting "Cities of Spain" he recalls an interesting medieval legend. He says: "And as I listened to the splendid syllables of the Castilian tongue that rang eloquently through the twilight I remembered the saying of that old Spanish doctor of whom James Howell tells us in his 'Instructions for Forraire Travell'—to wit, that Spanish, Italian and French, these three daughters of the Latin language, were spoken in paradise; that God Almighty created the world in Spanish; the tempter persuaded Eve in Italian and Adam begged, pardon in French."

Japanese Theaters. In Japanese theaters a singular custom prevails of allowing a visitor for a small fee to stand up, and the unfortunate individual behind him has no right to remonstrate or to rise and try to get a peep at the stage. He may hear, but he cannot see. Another peculiarity is that the extravagantly disposed visitor may purchase the right to sit upon the stage wherever he likes, and the actors go on with their parts in apparent unconsciousness of his presence. It is not an unusual spectacle to see a broadsword combat fought all around a visitor, who coolly enjoys the scene and shows no disposition to move.—London Globe.

Now for Economic Buying

Now that the holidays are over and the sales a thing of the past, we are prepared to offer you some of the most economical bargains ever offered in Andover.

This week we have received many new goods from the wholesalers and truly bargains and good quality. Note these:

- NEW DRESS CLOTHINGS
- RIPPLETTE GINGHAM
- LADIES' NEW STYLE UNDERWEAR
- CHILDREN'S ROMPERS AND SUITS
- GIRLS' SCHOOL DRESSES
- PILLOW CASES, well made for only 15c pair

Butter and Eggs Taken in Exchange for Goods

ANDOVER BARGAIN STORE

MRS. S. J. FOWLER

Dissolution Notice

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing between Geo. H. Beebe and P. M. Swink, under the firm name of Beebe & Swink, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

All accounts owing said firm of Beebe & Swink must be settled at the store within 30 days from this date.

The business will be continued by Geo. H. Beebe.

Geo. H. Beebe
P. M. Swink

Dated Andover, N. Y., Jan. 26, 1916.

BLOSS BROTHERS' GROCERY

The Secret of a Successful Grocery is in keeping just what the public taste demands. We have no room for unreliable goods and we do not believe in handling anything for which there is no call. No matter what you buy here, you may feel assured of the quality. The prices assure you that you are getting your money's worth.

YOST'S ICE CREAM LUNCHES SERVED
Phone 238 BLOSS BROS.

Caramels Take a Drop
We have been selling our choice home made caramels at 15c. After closely calculating the cost we are going to reduce the price for awhile to 10c lb.
Home Made Mixed Candy for 15c pound every Saturday.
ICE CREAM SODAS

The Auditorium

Beginning Tuesday, February 1st and ending Saturday, February 6th, Radical Clearance of all Ladies' Winter Coats, Suits, Dresses and Furs.
The greatest bargains of all the year in Dress Goods, Silks, Linens, Blankets, Rugs, Carpets and Furniture.
Only 5 days—Ending Feb. 5th.
ROCKWELL BROS. & CO.
Wellsville, N. Y.

Wednesday 2
February 2
The Captivating and Adorable
MARGUERITE CLARK
In a Charming Production of the Picturesque Romance of Old Spain
"The Pretty Sister of Jose"
By Frances Hodgson Burnett

Our Job Printing Department is Just Now Turning Out Some Especially Fine Commercial Work.