 the month.

F. A. McKibbin, of the Greenfield Construction Company, with his corps of efficient workmen have shipped their machinery from Bolivar to Ithaca, N. Y. where they are to build a new road.

Mrs. Sarah A. Pohl, wife of Henry Pohl, of Wellsville, returned to her home last Sunday evening after three months absence, when she escaped from the Buffalo State Hospital where she had been placed under medical care. Vigilant search by authorities have failed to locate the woman and it was believed many that she was dead. She reported as being in fine health and spirits, but absolutely refuses to make any explanation of her disappearance or where she has passed the three months.

—Miss Bessie Gray, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gray of Canistota, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon, by Erie train No. 26. In company with a friend she had started for a walk and decided to take a picture of the approaching train. As the train came near her she was looking into the fender, and this is supposed to have minimized the distance so that she did not realize how close it was. The force of the pilot struck her on the forehead fracturing her skull and throwing her several feet down the embankment. Deceased was one of the most popular girls of Canistota. She was 21 years

ASSIGNED TO RECRUITING SERVICE

Owing to an injury to his foot incurred while in the Philippines, and which incapacitates him for the field service required in the Infantry, Elmer Kemp, who left here recently expecting service in Panama, has been assigned instead to Recruiting Service with station at Huntington, W. Va.

This being considered a most desirable branch of the service Mr.
 Kemp is not disappointed with his change of plans. Mrs. Kemp will join her husband later in the summer.

NANCY C. DARLING

Nancy C. Darling died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A.
 B. Buchanan, of Wellsville, Saturday, April 15th. Deceased was born in Independence, February 1st, 1835, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Barney. Of her immediate family she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Buchanan, of Wellsville, and a brother, Granville Barney of this village.

Funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon; burial at Halls-port.

CONCERNING SUFFRAGE

In Rhode Island recently a man who was applying for citizenship, when asked where Congress was, replied "Congress lives in the White House with George Washington." The man was probably sent home to get further information before receiving his naturalization papers. Yet voting citizenship which is out of reach for the Rhode Island woman, who can trace her pedigree back to Revolutionary heroes, is easily within reach of men who know nothing of American institutions.

The General Assembly of Virginia has passed a bill giving travelling men the right to vote by mail. Earlier in the session it refused to pass bills giving women not only suffrage but co-education in the state university.
 Now the women are asking members to explain just how it is that suffrage is so necessary to travelling men yet so pernicious for women.

Jessie D. Hoader, superintendent of the Massachusetts Reformatory, is for woman suffrage because it will help her in her business of reforming wayward women. If women had the right to vote, so she said in a recent Cambridge speech, they would be in a position to render her practical service in making the state reformatory more efficient.

There are men in this village with some money who seek opportunity investments for it. Have you a patent, or an idea, or a business plan which might interest them? If you have, a classified ad can serve you.

ADDENDUM: WEDNESDAY EVENING

"Poor Schmaltz" a Fun Show

Sam Bernard, the long time favorite of Broadway Musical Comedy, will make his first screen appearance in the laughing comedy, "Poor Schmaltz" at the Auditorium, Wednesday night.
 The character of "Poor Schmaltz" gives him fine opportunity for the display of the clever antics which have put him in the foremost of the comedians of to-day. "Poor Schmaltz" will recall to older theatre-goers the days of the famous Weber & Fields.

ROAD TOO SMOOTH

C. T. Rogers made a trip to Kanona, last week with a team and a cattle wagon, returning the next day with a twelve hundred pound Durham bull for the Boyd farm.

The state road is now constructed the entire distance, and Clark says that the road from Andover to Alfred is the best on the entire trip, because it is not so smooth.

Where the state road was covered with an asphalt top dressing, it was so slippery that it was almost impossible for horses to travel faster than a walk without slipping up. He said he saw six horses down in the forty miles of state highway, and automobiles had to hit the pike at a excessive high rate of speed in order to keep the hind end of the machine from trying to shake hands with the front end of the car.

H. C. Hunting, of Alfred, N. Y., will be in Andover every Tuesday to make sittings for your portraits in your home. A card in the Postoffice will bring me to your home to show samples of work. Display case of work opposite Opera House.
