BODY BLOW.

"I have all the gems of literature in my library."

"Then I'll bet a cool hundred they are uncut gems."

SOME DECLINE.

Optimist—Greece? Why, Greece

produced a Homer!

Pessimist—And today it couldn't produce a base on balls.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Hamilton B. Williams, Minister.

Children's Day

With the advent of Children's Day we give a recognition of their right to be placed "in the midst of the disciples." In the security of flowers and songs and bright faces they go out before the King to welcome Him to His sanctuary.

A Day For Gladness

If any spectacle should call for largest attendance at the church, Children's Day is the spectacle. It is a sight to move the depths of the heart. It justifies a church.

Let Everybody Attend

The program this year will be a season with flowers and songs and recitations by the Sunday School. A most captivating program.

Federated Meeting—

Baptist Church, 7:30.

The Churches Welcome You.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. W. H. Randall, Pastor.

10:30. This is Children's Day.

The Sunday morning service and the Sunday School will give one of their Children's Day programs that all love to hear. Come and be pleased and instructed.

The Bible School will meet at 11:45.

The Young People's Services.

The J. C. E. S. will meet at 3:40.

The Y. P. C. E. S. will meet at 6:30.

The Federated Service.

The Federated service will be held in our church on Sunday evening at 7:30. Come and let us worship God together, for it is a good thing for all to do.

The mid-week service will be held on Thursday evening at 7:30.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. Chas. Collins, Pastor.

Sunday is Children's Day, and of course that means bright faces, flowers, music and song at the morning service. The children and the older young people will participate in a happy singing for Jesus service. The pastor will give a short address and everybody will rejoice in a sweet and fragrant occasion. Everybody welcome.

Epworth League at 6:30.

Federated service in Baptist church at 7:30. Mr. Randall will preach.

At a largely attended business meeting of the Epworth League Tuesday evening, officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President—Miss Nina Hollenbeck.

1st Vice—Reta Slocum.

Ass't—Mrs. Thorne.

2nd Vice—Mrs. Henry Carr.

3rd Vice—Mrs. Collins.

Ass't—Lazel Baker.

4th Vice—Reba Burrows.

Ass't—Muriel Earley.

Sec.—Lulu Slocum.

Ass't—Cecil Hoard.

Treas.—Rodney Robinson.

Organist—Mrs. Harry Kemp.

The League contest closed Sunday, day, and Reta Slocum was declared the victorious captain, her division having the most points to their credit. The festivities in connection therewith were merged into the calendar social to be given on Friday evening, June 23rd.

The Sunday School picnic will be held at the home of the superintendent, Chas. Robinson, on Saturday afternoon, June 17th. Games and contests for the young people and a program of amusements for the older ones will make the day attractive to all.

ELM VALLEY CHURCH

The Sunday evening service will be held in the church on Sunday evening at 7:45.

"GINGLES JINGLES"

DRUGGERY.

Some seem to be dissatisfied. Their church is slipping in slow. They think that life is all a drudge and nothing seems to go. Of course we drudge and drudge we must. The Lord has so ordained. No greater blessing can be ours than to hard work be trained. It is with us and not our job, that things are out of whack, to school ourselves to face our work is not so hard a knock. There is a bright and pleasant side to every little task. A ray of sunshine and a smile puts on the cheerful mask. The clouds of gloom don't stick around when we get in the swim, and learn the way to the work and make of it a whim. The only way is: Plod along, cut out the anxious mood. Be calm and strive to do your best. You'll find it not so rude. This life is what we make it to a very great extent, a place of happiness and peace or one of discontent. When why not cut out worries and forget ourselves and dig and have a worth while purpose, get in line and

SPEAKING WHAT ONE THINKS

Only Those of Vacillating Mind Find Comfort in Assuming the Cover of the Anonymous.

It is easy enough to be advised, "Speak what you think now in hard words, and tomorrow speak what tomorrow thinks in hard words again."

To the visionary and the recluse this may be easy, but those of us who live close to our kind, who take color from them, who can never do anything without being conscious of an effect upon them which reacts in turn upon us—such vacillating and feeble chameleon folk as these love to run to the cover of the anonymous. They wrap themselves snugly in its mantle and mask, and then—ah, then—they step out at ease, they hold the head high, they begin to say, "I think," instead of "It is some-times thought," and "I doubt," instead of "It appears doubtful."

Idea come to them with a rush. They have so much to say, now that the saying does not commit them to anything in particular. They can confess their souls without being taken too seriously.

POLE FILLED WITH NUTS.

When telephone linemen pulled down a pole in this town recently they discovered near the top a small hole, obviously that of a woodpecker. But upon further examination it was found that the hole was hollow some distance from the opening, and when they started to move it they heard a sharp rattle inside. The hollow was filled with hickory nuts, probably the work of a woodpecker. There were six nuts of the first-class North Valley (H. L. P.) variety.
