Erastus R. Crandall died at his home in Angelica July 2nd, after several weeks illness. Deceased was born in Bolivar, in 1846. Burial was at Almond.

One of the first bouquets of sweet peas and nasturtiums to find its way to the desk of the editor this season, was a handsome one left us this week by M. J. Grey from his garden on Baker street.

Ira Roper, of Bolivar, died at the Olean Hospital, July 3rd. Deceased was born at Portville in 1882 and had been employed in the Richburg and Bolivar field for several years where he was held in high esteem.

Mrs. Hetty Green, of New York City, the richest woman in America, whose death occurred last week, leaves an estate estimated at $80,000,000 to her son and daughter. Mrs. Green was known as the greatest woman financier in the world.

Speaking of L. B. Williams, father of Rev. H. B. Williams of Andover, a correspondent to his paper says: "When told your paper was the result of one man's effort—assisted by his son—who knows nothing but work, work, constant work, with no respite, only the reward of work well done. He is the man, more than any other among you, who is devoting his life's energies to the betterment and upbuilding of your locality."

On or before the 20th pay gas bills and save discount.

The members of Edward Seaman Relief Corps gave a thirteen luncheon in honor of Mrs. Clara Brundage, Tuesday afternoon, at her home on Grove street. Mrs. Brundage is arranging to accompany her daughter, Mrs. Fannie Langworthy, to her home in Newport, R. I., for a permanent stay.

Another "exhibition" game was that played by Cuba vs Andover ball teams, at Cuba, Saturday. The last time Andover played Cuba, at Cuba, our boys trimmed them up to the tune of 3-5, so they "prepared" by hiring an almost entire line-up of professionals to go against the Andover boys. This made the game a very one-sided affair. Of course we have no kick coming; but if the Cuba base ball fans think such makes for base ball spirit, they are mistaken. Our team would have given them a good game stacked up against Cuba players only, which it was understood was to be the case when the game was signed up.
