BELMONT

(From the Belmont Dispatch)

The judicial settlement by Trustee D. L. Langworthy, of Andover, of the estate of the late Helen S. Clark occurred June 15.

Dan Hodnet, of Eldred, Pa., driving a new Chevrolet roadster, and the Ingalls' motor bus of Cuba came "Head on" Monday afternoon in the Devil's Elbow—a dangerous underground crossing just outside of Cuba. Both cars were badly damaged but the occupants escaped without serious injury.

One thing the farmers in this vicinity will have plenty of this season, and that is hay, and with a continuation of the present spell of good weather it will be harvested in the best of condition. It has been years since there has been a crop of hay anything like it.

Irving Hall had the good luck to catch a large carp out of the river, near the spiling, one day the first of the week. The fish was of the German variety and weighed twenty pounds. Some fish.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Francisco, Mrs. Emma McKee, B. P. Mapes,

Oscar Morehouse, Harley Vanderhoof, Ralph Osgood and Chas. Sortore were among those attending the Wm. Tucker funeral at Elm Valley last Monday.

The gas was turned off one day the first of the week, the only notice to the consumer being a notice stuck up behind the pipes in the post office. The housewife had a cold dinner vision staring her in the face, but thanks to some one or something, the gas came on about noon as suddenly as it went off.

BEHIND A VEIL

Professor E. J. Ward of Federal Bureau of Education Says Discussion Insures Democracy.

TO BE CHAUTAUQUA SPEAKER

is the Man Who "Discovered the Schoolhouse" and Was First Director of Social Center Work—Appointed From Wisconsin to Post in Washington.

The Chautauqua is going to devote an entire afternoon of its five days' session to a thorough presentation of the social center idea and to a full and free discussion of community problems. The speaker for the afternoon is Professor E. J. Ward of the Federal Bureau of Education, the man who "discovered the schoolhouse" and has discovered and done a good many things along original and highly constructive lines in the last ten years or so.

Mr. Ward was the first director of social center work. The idea has now become national wide. Ward's work was begun in Rochester and was so successful as to attract the attention of the authorities of the University of Wisconsin, who placed Ward on the University staff, and he promptly became adviser in civic and social center development for the entire state of Wisconsin.

E. J. WARD.

Five years ago the first national convention of the Social Center Association was held in Rochester, with Ward as vice president. Among the speakers at this meeting were Woodrow Wilson, then governor of New Jersey, and other men prominent in state and national affairs.

"That the schoolhouses should be used as civic centers is not my idea," he says. "It is the idea of President Wilson, who believes that the schoolhouse should be made the clearing house of absolute democratic opinion. It is the idea of Former President Taft, who declares that the schoolhouses should become educational and social centers for adults." of Former President Roosevelt, who foresees the day when "every schoolhouse shall become the senate chamber of the people."

The social center idea, however, which Professor Ward will present here is far broader than the use of the school buildings. His idea is to bring into wider use any public place or building, park, playground, city hall, library or any public property or institution which "may serve to spread the idea of democracy." He believes there should be a common ground on which men and women can meet for study of common interests and acquaintance and human fellowship.

ART ENTERTAINMENT TO BE CHAUTAUQUA'S LAST NUMBER

LORENZO ZWICKEY.

An art entertainment is to be the closing feature of the five day Chautauqua program to be held here this summer. The art entertainer is Lorenzo Zwickey, a crayon artist of recognized ability. Mr. Zwickey will draw some very beautiful pictures on a large easel in full view of his audience and make a pointed talk on the pictures he draws. It has proved a most popular Chautauqua feature.

A Tribute to Mother.

"In those pioneer days," writes Leonard M. Lake, Chautauqua lecturer, of her girlhood home, "there were little or no church or school advantages. But I had, thank God, that which supplied as far as possible the need for both—a wise, prudent, intelligent, devout Catholic mother, to whose teachings and character building I owe all that is good in me and to whom I am indebted for the ideal mother, home and home life for which I so earnestly plead today."

Buy all the family Chautauqua season tickets and let them enjoy a vacation-home this year.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Some of Andover Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are weak.

Backache and other kidney ailments may follow.

Help the kidneys do their work—Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the tested kidney remedy.

Proof of their worth in the following:

Mrs. Eugene Withey, 18 Blaine St., Hornell, N. Y., says: "I suffered from backache and dizzy spells and had other symptoms of kidney complaint. I used Doan's Kidney Pills for these ailments and had fine relief. I haven't had a sign of backache or any other trouble from my kidneys for sometime."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Withey had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

A STATEMENT

To the News:

On the evening of July 24th, in Andover, Mr. P. C. Lynch's car and mine collided near the Silk Mills. Mr. Lynch has assumed all responsibility and settled with me for $2.50. I want to say that Mr. Lynch has been liberal, broad-minded and gentlemanly in this respect. After paying my expenses which are about $75, I will turn over the balance to Miss Grace Chosman, of Andover, for some charitable use, suggestion that she use the money to assist some worthy student who is working their way through Normal School preparatory to teaching.

CELERY CROP A FAILURE

Celery growers of the Allegheny fields have become discouraged and almost desperate owing to the wet spring and continuing rains. The muck fields are flooded and the ground is so wet it has not been possible to see the millions of plants that celery growers annually plant for their crop.

There are about 900 acres muck land—perhaps slightly—in and around Arkport, produce celery for the Boston and New York markets where commands fancy prices. In various years at this time this age has practically all been and the plants have been eated and making rapid growth. Now the plants are not in ground. Out of the 900 acres ly 24 acres have been planted this area is so flooded that doubtful whether the crop mature.
