A TOWN'S FUNERAL

A town that never has anything to do in a public way, is on its way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. A man that curses the town furnishes the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give to city affairs is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from public enterprise throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy as to be howling hard times, preaches the funeral, sings the doxology, and thus the town lies buried from sorrow and care.—Exchange.

A Want Ad Will Serve You when the need to sell property comes—as it does, sometimes, with suddenness and urgency.

MRS. ANGELIA SCOTT

Angelia Burdick Scott passed away at her home in Almond July 27, 1916. She was the daughter of Jeremiah and Caroline Burdick and was born in Hartsville, in 1830, her twin sister having died in childhood. She was married to Gordon L. Scott in 1868. To them were born two sons, Burgy Scott and Earl J. Scott, both of West Almond, who survive her. She also leaves to mourn her loss two brothers, Harrison Burdick, of Elm Valley, Stillman Burdick, of West Virginia, and one sister, Mrs. Augusta Hincher, of Andover.

Mrs. Scott united with the Presbyterian church of Almond about twenty years ago and lived a faithful member to the last receiving much comfort thru her long and painful illness in her bright hope in Christ.

Funeral services at the home on Saturday were largely attended, her pastor, Rev. Steuart, of Almond, preaching from the fourteenth of John, "In My Father's House are Many Mansions."

The burial was in Alfred cemetery, her nephews acting as bearers.

When faint and trembling with alarm,
O gather us within Thine arms,
Kind Shepherd on Thy gracious breast
The weakest lamb may safely rest.

ARE CHICKENS YOUR AMBITION?

This query covers the feathered variety! "Jane" had an ambition to own a chicken farm and thereby hangs a tale.

Charles Shackleton needs the money which would come to him from his uncle provided he is married. However, his sweetheart's father raises an objection and it is the incidents that follow Charley's trying to find a temporary wife during the time that his Uncle will be in town that cause the many laughable situations in this production.

Charlotte Greenwood and Sydney Grant have been known for many moons in "big time" vaudeville and appeared in several of the yearly musical reviews. They do some of the cleverest work in their career in this production and if you wish a good grouch chaser without slap stick, don't fail to see "Jane" at the Auditorium, Saturday evening.

THE 1916 CHAUTAUQUA WAS A

...er People Were Well Entertainments--They Were But Over a Hundred More Get it.

1916 Community Chautauqua come and gone. It was a success so far as the entertainments were concerned. The guarantors were to pay $5.00 each, or in all, not because of a lack of attendance, but because of Andover's people preferring to let these gentlemen lose their purchase season tickets which were less than half the price of single admission tickets. They evidently wanted the Chautauqua people to get the money rather than save those tickets from a de-

...is nothing better, at this time of the year, in the line of entertainments than the Chautauqua given for the last two years. Whether or not we will have a Chautauqua next year is in the hands of the people. They are interested enough in the sale of season tickets to have required 500 without next day or two, guarantors will willingly come forward and sign up.

...the experience of the last year staring at them it is likely that there will be twenty-five people in town enough to go on. The guarantors list unless the number of adult tickets pledged is the required number by the number.

...by a hundred people signed edge cards last year for adult tickets and reputation their promise and written when the tickets were sold. Had it not been for people who seemingly have no regard for their Community Chautauqua year would also have been a financial success.

...Chautauqua program itself a grand success. Nothing has even been in Andover. The entertainments were all entertaining.

Wednesday Afternoon

...program opened with the Square Entertainers who were to name. They presented a cornet, vocal and instrumental selections.

Wednesday Evening

...evening with the Castle Entertainers was Dr. D. ... who gave his lecture "A Man of Your Boy." ... made many fine points of address, but a better illustration of "unpreparedness" rarely be found, as he frequently refer to his repeated himself often, was becoming entirely lost. He got himself at it and his lecture in a less rambling manner it was good. It should be told in half the time. The doctor, however, undoubtedly "learned" his before this.

Thursday Afternoon

...and Mrs. Regnier were entertainers Thursday afternoon. Prof. E. J. Ward, secretary of the U. S. Bureau of Fish and Game, gave a splendid lecture on organizing a social club in various cities and Every one was pleased. He leaves the idea that would make better and more use of the opportunities at hand, but many times ... and make them serve the interests of the entire community for its advancement, enlightenment and upbuilding.
