CHRISTMAS "FANS" ON "JOB" EARLY
Now that the holiday season is rapidly approaching and with rapid strides, the various merchants again urge the shoppers to their purchasing early. This, they claim, will not only insure the shoppers "first pick" but will be more satisfactory to all concerned.
With Christmas about five weeks off a purchase made now will give the purchaser a chance to make any necessary changes such as would be impossible during Christmas week.
Women in the large cities have already come to see the worth of buying early, so that it is expected that the so-called rush season this year will be but a trifle above the normal.
In shopping early it also shows great consideration for those employed in the various stores. Those that can see the philosophy of shopping early will not only be pleased with their purchase, bought after careful consideration, but will be less liable to make the thousand and one mistakes that always occur in haste.
