279 YEARS AGO TO-DAY

I New Haven Was Purchased From the Indians by the Puritans for a Few Beads and Knives.

The day has long since passed when trinkets or weapons can purchase any territory in the United States. Land values from the Atlantic to the Pacific have soared beyond the wildest imagination of the Colonists. What will property in this town be worth 50 years from now? Think this over carefully, and at the same time start saving without delay that your future comfort and financial status as a property owner may be assured.

through eyes that are better and holier than ours. It is with this knowledge that the people of our little community approach the Yuletide time, when all should be sunshine and gladness and joy.

But if we may not sway the rest of the world, if our voice be not heard beyond the confines of our own firesides, we yet may look upward with a feeling of gladness and thankfulness that the horrors that are engulfing the rest of the world have at least passed us by.

We may be thankful that we have even an hour of peace and prosperity for our country, though no one knows when the withering hand of the blight of the century may be spread over our own fair land:

Let us be joyful today, but let us mingle that joy with compassion for the stricken ones of other lands, to whom the Yuletide season is but a mockery and an agonizing delusion.
