STIFF, SORE MUSCLES RELIEVED

Cramped muscles or soreness following a cold or case of grippe are eased and renewed by an application of Sloan's Liniment. Does not stain the skin or clog the pores like mussy ointments or plasters and penetrates quickly without rubbing. Limber up your muscles after exercise, drive out the pains and aches of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, strains, sprains and bruises with Sloan's Liniment. Get a bottle to-day. At all druggists, 25c.—Advertisement.

Elephants Not Cowards.

The fear an elephant has for a rat has often been spoken of as an example of colossal cowardice. But it is nothing of the kind. The elephant, when captive and in chains, has every reason to regard with terror the little rodent, which, in the still watches of the night, gnaws the toe nails of the helpless pachyderm. Not much of this sort of thing is required to make the huge elephant lame. By such attack three young elephants belonging to Hagenback's outfit were so badly injured that they had to be shot.

Could He Arrest a Cold?

A man was appointed detective for a railroad company, and he showed his authority at every opportunity. While riding in a coach one day he heard a little boy behind him sniffling.

The detective turned to him and said, "Have you a pocket handkerchief, my little man?"

The boy replied, "Yes, sir, but mamma said I shouldn't lend it to everybody."—Christian Herald.

Exposing Her Hand.

Little Brother (whose sister is playing cards with a gentleman)—Mr. Smiler, does Minnie play cards very well?

Mr. Smiler—Yes; very well indeed.

Little Brother—Then you had better look out. Mamma said if she played her cards well she would catch you.

Oxen Cavalry.

Madagascar possesses the only oxen cavalry regiment in the world. The climate is so unhealthy for horses that some suitable substitute had to be found. The oxen have been trained to maneuver with surprising skill and lack nothing of the qualities of the horse except its speed.—Exchange.
