

SCHAUL & ROOSA CO. RE-ADJUSTMENT OF STOCK

After this busy holiday season we find a great many odd lots in every department so we have readjusted the prices which will make it very interesting buying for the general public.

Price reductions average from 20 to 30 per cent on these odd and broken lots.

Come and look them over.

SCHAUL & ROOSA CO.

117 Main Street HORNELL, N. Y.

THE ADVENTURE BEGINS

"Don't be a coward, Stannie," she said, sort of wittily. "If there is any money and you should happen to find it, you would probably find it all away before you could get back to town. Besides, there is the blue-eyed girl, if she should bring you a fortune, you'd have to marry her, wouldn't you? You are big and strong, and well-off, and in a good many ways, Stannie, and much too good-looking for your own good. You would better be sure that the girl has money enough to buy her own hats. I haven't enough, as you know."

"I know only too well that the love-in-a-cottage idea has never appealed to you," I said, with the regretful stop pulled all the way out in deference to the sentimental deceptions.

"Not in the least, Stannie, dear; not in the slightest."

This appeared to be the end of our rather lukewarm love-dream, and to be really honest and aboveboard about it, I am obliged to confess that it didn't break as many bones for me as I suppose it should have. Anyway, a half-hour or so after I had said good-by to Lisette I met Jack Downing; and when he asked me if I didn't want to go with him and a bunch of the fellows for a little spin down the coast of Maine in his motor cruiser, I fell for the invitation so suddenly that he had a ghost of a chance to back out, if he had wanted to.

So, a few hours beyond that fouching little scene at "The Rockerie," you may picture me, if you please, spinning the wheel of one of the flattest little boats on the North shore, with a fresh nor'easter blowing and the sea getting up to five me the time of my young life to hold the Gulliver to her course, nor' east, half a point east, as we lifted the Shoals on our port bow.

In such jolly good company as we had aboard the stout ship Gulliver, three full days elapsed before a thought of Percy or his joke ever entered my head again; and it's a tender one shot that I wouldn't have thought of him, or of it, during the remainder of the cruise if we hadn't been obliged to tie up at Rockland for motor repairs. This, as I recall it, was on the fourth day, and it was a dog that made me remember; a mongrel cur that followed the motor repairman down to the wharf; a most disagreeable looking mongrel, at that, but—by Jove! he had the magic markings! Half of his face, measuring from a line drawn straight down over the tip of his nose, was black, and the other half was a dingy, dirty white.

So then I did a little rapid figuring on train schedules. If Percy had left Washington as I knew he was planning to, my diplomatic cousin should have been, at that figuring moment, just about due in San Francisco. That being the case, or the likelihood, I telegraphed up to the telegraph office and sent a message, addressing it in care of the captain of whatever might be the next steamer due to sail for ports in China.

"AN I said what?" "Four letters," was his answer. "Four letters?" "That's right," I said. "Four letters?" "That's right," I said. "Four letters?" "That's right," I said.

CHAPTER II.

A Needle in a Haystack.

Since my happy hunting-ground began in the middle of Colorado, I took a ticket to Denver by way of Chicago and Omaha. As I recall it now, it was after the train had passed North Platte that I first became sensibly conscious, as you might say, of the fact that the man in the opposite section of the sleeping-car had a little Pullman table set up in front of him, and was studying maps and blue-prints. He was a rather efficient-looking fellow of dark and grumpy. I had never seen him before, and he had never seen me. He had called a waiter and had ordered a cup of coffee and a slice of pie. He had eaten it and had thrown away the rest. He had looked at his watch and had found that it was ten o'clock. He had looked at the map and had found that he was in the middle of Colorado. He had looked at the sky and had found that it was a clear, blue sky. He had looked at the mountains and had found that they were high and rugged. He had looked at the trees and had found that they were green and leafy. He had looked at the people and had found that they were busy and happy. He had looked at the world and had found that it was a beautiful and wonderful world.

"You don't by any chance happen to be a mining engineer, do you?" "Far be it from me," I laughed; "nothing so useful as that."

"I didn't know," he hastened to say, half apologetically. "I saw you studying maps as we came along."

Now, ordinarily I'm apt to talk a lot too much about my own affairs. I admit it; but this was one time when I had a sort of hunch not to. So I merely said:

"I saw you doing the same thing."

"Sure you did," he admitted cheerfully. Then he told me his name—fully. Then he told me his name—fully. Then he told me his name—fully.

After that, the talk ran merrily upon his profession, and since the mysterious hunch was still nudging me, I let him have the floor, so to speak, figuring that I would be able to get a good idea of what he was doing. He was a mining engineer, and he was a mining engineer, and he was a mining engineer.

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly rich. I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly rich. I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly rich.

"How was that?" "The man died," he replied laconically.

"That sounded rather interesting, so I gave him another pinch."

"Tell me about it. If it won't bore you."

He grinned good-naturedly—and accepted another cigar out of my pocket.

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

"You'll be the one to be bored. It was this way: A little over a year ago, I was on my way to Chicago with my report that I had been making on some properties in the Cripple Creek district. In the Denver-Omaha Pullman I fell in with a nice old gentleman who had been buying himself a gold brick in the shape of a flooded mine. The mine had at one time been a 'producer,' though not by any means what you'd call a 'bonanza.' After a rather extended dividend-paying period, I don't know just how long, though it was some years—the luck changed, as sometimes happens. In striking and drifting the operators had uncovered another vein which was exceedingly

The Girl a Horse and a Dog

By FRANCIS LYNDE

(Continued from Page 5.)

change the ring back, Stannie," she said, sort of wittily. "If there is any money and you should happen to find it, you would probably find it all away before you could get back to town. Besides, there is the blue-eyed girl, if she should bring you a fortune, you'd have to marry her, wouldn't you? You are big and strong, and well-off, and in a good many ways, Stannie, and much too good-looking for your own good. You would better be sure that the girl has money enough to buy her own hats. I haven't enough, as you know."

"I know only too well that the love-in-a-cottage idea has never appealed to you," I said, with the regretful stop pulled all the way out in deference to the sentimental deceptions.

"Not in the least, Stannie, dear; not in the slightest."

This appeared to be the end of our rather lukewarm love-dream, and to be really honest and aboveboard about it, I am obliged to confess that it didn't break as many bones for me as I suppose it should have. Anyway, a half-hour or so after I had said good-by to Lisette I met Jack Downing; and when he asked me if I didn't want to go with him and a bunch of the fellows for a little spin down the coast of Maine in his motor cruiser, I fell for the invitation so suddenly that he had a ghost of a chance to back out, if he had wanted to.

So, a few hours beyond that fouching little scene at "The Rockerie," you may picture me, if you please, spinning the wheel of one of the flattest little boats on the North shore, with a fresh nor'easter blowing and the sea getting up to five me the time of my young life to hold the Gulliver to her course, nor' east, half a point east, as we lifted the Shoals on our port bow.

In such jolly good company as we had aboard the stout ship Gulliver, three full days elapsed before a thought of Percy or his joke ever entered my head again; and it's a tender one shot that I wouldn't have thought of him, or of it, during the remainder of the cruise if we hadn't been obliged to tie up at Rockland for motor repairs. This, as I recall it, was on the fourth day, and it was a dog that made me remember; a mongrel cur that followed the motor repairman down to the wharf; a most disagreeable looking mongrel, at that, but—by Jove! he had the magic markings! Half of his face, measuring from a line drawn straight down over the tip of his nose, was black, and the other half was a dingy, dirty white.

So then I did a little rapid figuring on train schedules. If Percy had left Washington as I knew he was planning to, my diplomatic cousin should have been, at that figuring moment, just about due in San Francisco. That being the case, or the likelihood, I telegraphed up to the telegraph office and sent a message, addressing it in care of the captain of whatever might be the next steamer due to sail for ports in China.

"AN I said what?" "Four letters," was his answer. "Four letters?" "That's right," I said. "Four letters?" "That's right," I said.

BIGGEST VALUES EVER OFFERED

OUR GREAT SALE OF MEN'S Suits, Overcoats and Furnishings

STARTED SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31

THE UNSATISFACTORY INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS AND THE UNSEASONABLE WEATHER HAS LEFT US WITH A LARGE STOCK OF WINTER WEARING APPAREL ON OUR SHELVES.

THESE MUST BE CONVERTED INTO CASH AT ONCE

If value in fabric, style and tailoring at ridiculously low price is an inducement, it will not take many days to sell this stock.

All $50 Suits and Overcoats	REDUCED TO	$37.50
All $45 Suits and Overcoats	REDUCED TO	$32.50
All $40 Suits and Overcoats	REDUCED TO	$27.50
All $35 Suits and Overcoats	REDUCED TO	$25.50
All $30 Suits and Overcoats	REDUCED TO	$20.50
All $25 Suits and Overcoats	REDUCED TO	$17.50

EXCEPTIONALLY BIG VALUES IN BOYS' SUITS

All $15 Boys' Suits	REDUCED TO	$10.50
All $14 Boys' Suits	REDUCED TO	$ 9.50
All $12 Boys' Suits	REDUCED TO	$ 8.50
All $10 Boys' Suits	REDUCED TO	$ 7.50
All $ 9 Boys' Suits	REDUCED TO	$ 6.50

Practically everyone of these Suits has two pair of trousers.

These Prices Make CLOTHING and FURNISHINGS Buying an Investment

UNION SUITS	MEN'S PANTS	SHIRTS	WORK SHIRTS
All $6.00 Union Suits, Now $4.50	All $9 Pants NOW $6.50	All $9.00 Shirts NOW $6.00	All $1.25-$1.50 and $1.75 WORK SHIRTS, NOW 90c
All $5.00 Union Suits, Now $3.75	All $8 Pants NOW $5.50	All $8.00 Shirts NOW $5.00	All $1.25 and $1.50 Overalls, NOW 90c
All $4.00 Union Suits, Now $3.00	All $7 Pants NOW $4.50	All $7.00 Shirts NOW $4.25	All $2.50 Overalls, Now $1.75
All $3.00 Union Suits, Now $2.25	All $6 Pants NOW $4.50	All $6.00 Shirts NOW $4.00	Lack of space prevents us from listing all the big values we have to offer.
All $2.50 Union Suits, Now $1.75	All $5 Pants NOW $4.00	All $5.00 Shirts NOW $3.75	REMEMBER—There's a sale price on everything in this store.
All $1.75 Union Suits, Now $1.25	BOYS' KNEE PANTS One-Third OFF	All $3.50 Shirts NOW $2.50
Boys' Fleeced Lined and Ribbed Union Suits 90c	EXTRA SPECIAL One lot of Boys' Overcoats, sizes 13 to 20 years—a bit out of style, but exceptional values. $5.00	All $2.50 Shirts NOW $1.75
		All $2.00 Shirts NOW $1.50
		EXTRA SPECIAL One lot of Boy's Suits, odds and ends, former price $5.00 to $9.00 $3.75

You will appreciate these bargains when you bear in mind the fact that this Sale consists of our regular stock and not merchandise bought and marked for Sale purposes.

GUS VEIT & CO.

Big Bargains for Little Money

Main St. at Broadway Hornell, New York

Jan. 4. — T with a big bl good sleighing. Miss Mame falo Sunday. Some potato from this week reached the d Mrs. Frank spent last Fr Deat. Miss Edna M was the guest few days last w Mr. and Mrs Savona, are spe home of John G Mrs. Jim Des New Year guest Margaret Garvin Byrne McAnd end with his an and family. Mr. and Mrs Years guests of Dr. O'Donnell visitor at Bay and that it adv to St. James Ho day, as his rec developed a bad c has had two prev Hurlburt visited was hoped another avoided. His fr of South Hill w and permanent r John McAndre a South Hill visit

Elm

We thank the remembering us greeting. W. H. Howden iting his daughter Mrs. Ackman after an extende at New York. Miss Mary Hin visitor in Wellin Mr. McCoy stopping at G. H Mr. and Mrs. daughters, Eloran Sunday guests of Page, at Alfred S Mrs. Anson E visited at the hom son Sunday. Mrs. W. W. brother, South Ha A baby girl, came to gladdi Mrs. Raymond H. rds. W. W. at the home of G day. Hermon Jackson the Burdick farm home recently pa Burdick. Mr. and Mrs. C Mary E. Burdick guests of Mr. and Miss Florence A Miss Bernice Samp Gladys Baker, at h afternoon. The pupils of the furnished a few n Grange program. Grange presented t lars to apply on the Perfect spellers' ing Dec. 24th were Nathan Hardy, El Burdick, Burrel Co Sampson.

Indepen

Jan. 2nd. — H Mrs. W. D. Clark in Friendship the la The young people the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. A G returned from Hab day. Miss Helen Long

You

We want our cont If by e chandis we'll c your mon