Andover, N. Y., March 8, 1922.
F. S. CLARK, Secretary.

WHETHER you are a Republican, or a Democrat, or a mugwump, you probably noticed the statement from Washington to the effect that Mr. Wilson declines to comment on the work of his successor in the White House.

In this instance Mr. Wilson displays wisdom and good sense. He-made-mistakes while in office, as all other presidents have made theirs, and as Mr. Harding will make his.

We are all human enough to err in judgment, but one of the greatest of all follies is to stand aloof and criticize the one who succeeds us in office.

It is not an American trait. Some legislators aid in making a law and then employ lawyers to keep them out of its clutches.

There is one great satisfaction in paying an income tax. You can always brag about it.

Gray hair is now fashionable, but that is poor consolation to the fellow who has none at all.

The fellow who boasts that he is a free man seldom bats an eye when his wife pulls the string.

When a great politician begins associating with the small fry we know he is going to run again.

The return to long skirts will not work a hardship. The fellows all know what they are getting.

No longer does the bad man strut around with a chip on his shoulder. It is customary to sneak up behind.

Of course, we might command greater respect for the law by jailing the jurors who turn a known guilty man loose.

The fellow who paints his house this spring will be quite justified in considering himself a "foremost citizen." Paint up and strut up.

A defeated candidate says there is no honesty in politics, and an exchange pertly remarks that the supply seems to be equal to the demand.

Our stock of both Wood and Fibre Chair Seats is complete.

The Wolverine Speedster is a Coaster Wagon that any boy or girl will be proud to own; just the same as was given away in the Christmas Contest.

HOW THEY DO IT

SOME people possess the faculty of "getting next" to almost every good proposition that comes along. This is especially true with regard to anything of exceptional value that is offered by our local merchants. It saves them many dollars in the run of a year.

How do they do it?

They read the ads in every issue of the home paper, never omitting even the small want ads.

Every issue of this paper has something of especial value advertised therein, something that many people would be glad to have.

The persistent ad reader locates these things — and gets them.

Keep your bargain eye on the ads of the home merchant? If he says it is good, or of especial value, you may be sure it is — as he states, he can not afford to misrepresent his goods, even if he so desired. To do so would soon put him out of business.

This paper is always full of good things you need and want. You'll read about them in the ads.

Read up, and pick 'em up.

Anybody can get a steady living out of steady effort.

It is not what we have, but what we enjoy that makes us happy.

Many a man knows less about himself than he does about his horse or his dog.
