YOUNG PEOPLE TO HOLD MEETING

Another Gathering of Y. P. S. C. E. and B. Y. P. U. Called at Alfred, Saturday Afternoon, April 8th.

Insignificant things and events are quickly forgotten, but the value of any meeting is determined by its after effects. On the fifth day of February, 1922, first of the officers of the Allegheny County C. E. Union, from the eastern section of the county, met at Andover, with the leaders of the executive committee of the local young people's societies of Andover, Almond, Alfred, Station, Belmont and Wellsville. Senior, Intermediate and Junior Christian Endeavor Societies and a Baptist Young People's Union were all represented at this meeting.

As the occasion was the forty-second birthday of Christian Endeavor, a birthday cake was lighted with candles from one large one in the center while a service was being presented that impressed us with the fact that Christian Endeavor is a light to the world.

The value of this meeting seemed so great to those who had the privilege of attending that a similar meeting is being planned for April 8th. All the members of the local young people's societies, Junior, Intermediate and Senior Christian Endeavor Societies and the B. Y. P. U. and their pastors and friends are invited to be guests of the regular Alfred Christian Endeavor society, on Sabbath afternoon, at 4 o'clock, in the S. D. B. church at Alfred.

Immediately after this meeting light refreshments will be served. At 6 o'clock there is to be a conference of the officers of the Allegheny County Christian Endeavor Union and the executive committee of each of the local societies from the southeastern section of the county.

ELIZABETH F. RANDOLPH, Pres. Alle. Co. C. E. Union.

THE APPLE CURE

To regulate the human gizzard and all man's frame from A to Z is the good red apple is a wizard. When Mother Eve picked her lunch I'll say she had the proper hunch. The one she ate she found a seed in, and having sneaked it out of Eden, she planted it and so I wist became the first pomologist, and put one over on her pardner who thought himself the only gardner. To eat each day a juicy pome will keep the doctor from your home. So sked you nightbird, rise betimes, and pick yourself a Golden Grimes. No more I woen will old Doc Green come ramping up in his machine all set to amputate my spleen. No more he'll jab with hand expert to find the spots he knows will hurt. No longer overwork his brain and all its fine ball-bearing straws, determining a diagnosis before he tells me what the doctor is. Instead of pills of varied size I'm eating Wineaps, Yorks and Appes. And you I hope will follow suit and all yourself with wholesome fruit.

SPLENDID WORK OF ASSEMBLYMAN DUKE

The reform Bulletin, published in New York by the Superintendent of the New York Civic League, in its issue of March 24th, pays the following compliment to Assemblyman William Duke, Jr.:

"The good people of this state are under great obligations to Assemblyman William Duke, Jr., of Wellsville, N. Y., for the splendid help he has rendered the cause of moral reforms in the recent session of the Legislature. As chairman of the Assembly Codes Committee he got some good bills to strengthen the Sabbath law reported out of his committee, especially the bill prohibiting bartering on Sunday in New York City and Saratoga Springs—the only cities in which bartering is legally permitted on Sunday. He also succeeded in having a whole grist of bad Sunday bills held in his committee, among which were the bills to legalize football and basketball on Sunday and Dickstein bill to allow Jews to open their stores on Sunday.

Assemblyman Duke got reported out of his committee the Picher-Westerbeke bill for the strict regulation of billiard rooms and pool parlors. He introduced this bill himself last year and got it reported out of the Assembly Codes Committee at that time, but it failed of passage; but he took just as much interest in pushing it this year as if he introduced it himself. It passed both the Senate and Assembly and is now before the Governor, whom we hope will sign it. The Duke Millard-pool room bill last year, however, prepared the way for and led to the passage of the Picher-Westerbeke bill this year.

Assemblyman Duke introduced several important moral measures this year, notably the bill for the strict regulation of dance halls, for which there is an increasing and widespread demand. While we did not get this bill passed this year, it is believed that the Governor will sign it.

Assemblyman Duke is a man of independent thought, but all who know him give him credit for being honest and sincere whether they always agree with him or not. We do not recall but once in all the years he has been here when the editor of The Bulletin did not agree with the vote of Assemblyman Duke on moral measures. We differed with him in our opinion as to the effect of one bill, but while we disagreed with him still he believed that he was thoroughly honest and sincere in his opinion. He is one of the most popular and able members of the Assembly and very influential in that body. He has been in the Legislature seven years and hence knows how to get things done, and we hope that he may be willing to return to the Legislature next year and help us put thru the dance hall bill which is of such great and far-reaching importance to the moral welfare of our state. As chairman of the Assembly Codes Committee, he can and will be of great help to us on many other moral measures."

ALFRED WOMAN DIES

Mrs. C. A. Maxon, of Alfred Station, died Tuesday. She was very well known and for many years was a resident of Hornell, where she will be greatly missed. She is survived by her husband and two daughters.

CATERPILLARS ARE ARCTIC SLEDGES

Walker S. Hammond has Interesting Description in Library Digest -- Hauling Loads in Alaska

A very interesting article on "Arctic Tractor Sledges," is published in the Library Digest of March 26th, in which much of the data is taken from a letter by Walker S. Hammond, a former Andover man, brother of the Hammond boys now living here. Following is some of the interesting features of the article.

"The tractor is now operating in this region, on a sixty-mile haul, and is doing approximately fifty tons of pushable footstuffs, engineering supplies and construction material over snow and ice. These tractors are similar to those supplied during the war to the Allied Governments, but a foot-pan has been added which covers the radiator, protects the motor, and enables it to operate at fifty degrees below zero.

"The mining industry in Alaska, seeing these tractors operating for the road construction crew, quickly realized the adaptability of this equipment for their own purposes, and were not long in seizing upon the advantages and incorporated them in their own works.

"Two five-ton tractors have been delivered to the Premier Gold Mining Company, Hyder, Alaska, for use in hauling ore between the mill and the tide-water. Two five-ton tractors of the most modern design are now here and will be used between the wharf and Nima Mile. They are expected to make a round trip each day and bring a minimum load of 20 tons.

"A recent letter which has come to the writer's attention from the operator of one of these tractors is extremely interesting and is quoted: 'I am still on the job and going strong, but it is some battle. I am going to win the world's record for operating tractors in the cold. A great many men up here have asked me how the Caterpillars will work in this climate. You can tell me any Caterpillar I want. On the 16th I traveled ten miles and it was somewhere between 45 and 50 below zero. There was a lot of different reports on the weather. Just a little north of here they claimed 60 below. I keep the tractor hot, although the gasoline would occasionally freeze up. 'I am now on my way north with a light load and am breaking out the trail after a heavy snowfall of about thirty inches. I have been battling a 40 below gale to-day, one of the worst blizzards of the season.

"I have hauled a great deal of horse-feed to Mile 319. Dog-teams have been hauling it from there further north, and in the language of the dog-mushers—'if it were not for the Caterpillars the men, dogs and horses would starve to death.'

duction by so influential a man in the Legislature as Assemblyman Duke, and his hearty support of the same, will doubtless lead to its passage next year. He also introduced and put thru the Assembly this year the bill to strengthen the present law which prohibits the sale of all gambling implements. This bill was drafted by the New York Civic League and introduced by Assemblyman Duke and also by Senator Walton in the Senate and it passed both houses of the Legislature and is now before the Governor.

Assemblyman Duke is a man of independent thought, but all who know him give him credit for being honest and sincere whether they always agree with him or not. We do not recall but once in all the years he has been here when the editor of The Bulletin did not agree with the vote of Assemblyman Duke on moral measures. We differed with him in our opinion as to the effect of one bill, but while we disagreed with him still he believed that he was thoroughly honest and sincere in his opinion. ALL PUBLIC HALLS MUST BE INSPECTED

State Law Just Signed Covers Theaters and All Places of Assembly

Albany, April 3. — Inspection of moving picture theatres, under the supervision of the state labor department, became mandatory to-day when the governor signed the McGinnies bill. The bill includes not only motion picture theatres but all places of public assembly, and is designed to prevent a disaster similar to the Knickerbocker theatre crash in Washington.

After October 1st of this year all such places must display an inspection certificate from the state. The conditions necessary to make the place conform to the state standard of public safety are to be drawn by the industrial commission and may be strengthened by local ordinances.

LEAGUE PRICES FOR APRIL MILK

Same Price for Milk for April as Prevailed for March, Excepting Class A Milk

The Dairymen's League Co-operative Association announced that the milk of its 67,000 producers is being offered for sale to the dealers at the same prices for April as for March, with the exception of the milk known as class one A, which is milk sold to the consumer in glass bottles, which is reduced from $2.52 to $2.30 per 100 pounds. This reduction is due to the increased production common to this time of the year.

The April price of class one B milk is $1.75 per 100 pounds. Class 2 milk, which is used chiefly in the manufacture of cream and ice cream, will be $1.60. The price of class 3 milk, which is used chiefly in the manufacture of condensed and evaporated milk, will be 25 cents per 100 pounds more than the market quotations for butter during the month. Class 4 price will be based on the current market quotations of butter and cheese.

These prices are all for 3 per cent. milk in the 200-210 mile zone. Final agreement has not been completed between the farmers and many of the dealers for the sale of April milk, but League milk for April has been sold to the Borden Company, which is the largest buyer.
