

Among Our Neighbors

South Hill

April 19. — Fickle April. Work has not yet begun on our new macadam road, but our hopes are buoying us thru the bog. Miss Lenora Dean returned to Salamanca Sunday night.

In the passing on again of some of our recently acquired residents, Andrew is now the gainer.

Vinegar Hill 2nd

Where in Alfred Center is Vinegar Hill?

It must be a nation, without a foundation, as every now and then, we find in our paper a new correspondent. But to our surprise they soon realize (the cow, the pig and the hen) they laugh to hear of the clash, on Vinegar's smash as Corwin-Pingrey writes no more. It is quite a chore, but don't get sore, I will try and write you some more.

If buying things for the home is a part of your business, then studying the ads is, also, a part of your business.

NOW GRAFTING IN SIGHT TO EYES

Pupils From Dying Man's Eyes Placed in a Hornell Boy's, and His Sight is Restored

By the transfer of the living pupils from the eyes of a dying man to replace the dead pupils in his own eyes, John Eichenberger, of No. 64, Hill Street, who has been totally blind for four years, has had his sight completely restored. The operation was performed in Mount Sinai Hospital in New York, and within three weeks Mr. Eichenberger will be home entirely cured.

It is regarded as one of the most remarkable operations of its kind and so far as known is the first time ever attempted. However, developments have been sufficient to show that the cure is complete and that Mr. Eichenberger's sight is completely restored. The operation was performed by Dr. Cyril Barnett, of No. 346, West End Avenue, New York.

Boy Totally Blind

It was about four years ago when Mr. Eichenberger, then a young boy, was struck in the eye with a stone thrown by one of his playmates. It was purely an accident and at first it was believed to be only a minor injury that would heal quickly. However, the pupil became diseased and it was not long before he was stricken totally blind.

Last August his mother took him to New York, and since he has been there he has undergone four operations. The first operation last November resulted in a slight improvement. He was able to distinguish daylight from dark, but could not see objects at all.

Two other operations were performed within the following week, but were unsuccessful, until finally in January the fourth operation was performed. It was in this operation that the live pupils were taken from the eyes of a dying man and transferred into his sockets. His own pupils were hopelessly dead and the only chance was to replace them with live ones.

Graft New Pupils in Eyes

In a final desperate chance it was decided to make the experiment. First the surgeons ascertained that the nerves leading into the pupils in Mr. Eichenberger's eyes were alive and active and would function properly if the pupils themselves could be replaced. In order to accomplish this, pupils, known to be alive and active, were selected and transferred. The live nerves were connected with the live pupils and as soon as they healed tests were made, proving the operation a success.

Mr. Eichenberger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Eichenberger, of No. 64, Hill Street, and is very well known through the city. The four years of darkness thru which he has suffered are now ended and unless some unforeseen complication arises he will soon be enjoying normal vision.

If the operation is as successful as the present developments indicate it will probably mean a great deal to hundreds of sightless persons throughout the country. Mr. Eichenberger is being kept under careful observation and other surgeons have watched the experiment with a great deal of interest.

Eye Grafting Story False

A report from Hornell, N. Y., that Paul Eichenberger, nineteen, of that place, was the subject of an original surgical operation in Mount Sinai Hospital, in which the pupils from the eyes of a dying man were removed to Eichenberger's eyes to restore his vision, was denied yesterday at the hospital.

Eichenberger, it was said, has been in Mount Sinai Hospital since last August and has had several operations performed on the pupils of his eyes, diseased from a bruise suffered four years ago. He went to Mount Sinai Hospital totally blind and will leave there this week with sufficient vision restored to one eye to enable him to detect light and darkness and the hazy outlines of his fingers. His left eye will remain blind.
