Hamilton B. Williams

A woman's capacity for losing her self in the lives of others is not sacrifice but resurrection. A woman's affection is her distinguishing sign, and as she becomes the mother of multitudes in interest and sympathy she fulfills her potential.

particular churches exist. They are all the Church of Christ in so far as they have His Spirit and do His work; and they derive all their value and authority from their demonstrated efficiency in building up and maintaining the spiritual life of men. The Kingdom is one; church organizations are many; and their value lies in their furtherance of the Kingdom. The one desirable thing for the various churches is that they should recognize one another's Christian aim and effort, and refrain from mutually damaging rivalries in every field. Let them rival one another in love and zeal for the Kingdom, stirring one another up to good works and rejoicing that Christ is preached and that the Kingdom of God is growing among men!

Possibly British Officer Thought Or- derly's Proper Place Was Under the Table. At the Army and Navy club in Washington they tell a story of a newly appointed officer in the British army who was making his first visit to the mess. With the usual inquiry of "any complaints?" Now, he had arrived at the mess somewhat earlier than expected, and the orderly of the day, being taken by surprise, and in his shirt sleeves, dived under the table to save a reprimand. "Any complaints?" asked the officer. "Grasping the situation at once, the corporal answered for the absent orderly: "None, sir."

HUMOROUS IN HIS PROTEST

Max Boerholm Wanted No Book Written About Him, and Said So in Amusing Manner. "You might have waited for my demise, instead of merely hawking it," remarked his subject-or victim, as you please-to Bohan Lynch, when the latter communicated the news that he was about to write "Max Boerholm's Resurrection." But admittance of Boerholm will agree that the Boerholmian protests against its publication in themselves justify the volume according to the living Age. Here they are: "I remember several books about men who, not yet dead, had blandly aided and abetted the author; and I remember what awful asses those men seemed to me thereby to have made of themselves. Two of them were rather great men. They could afford to make awful asses of themselves. I, who am 100 miles away from being great, cannot afford such luxuries. "My gifts are small. I've used them very well and discreetly, never straining them; and the result is that I've made a charming little reputation. But that reputation is a frail plan. Don't over-attend to it, Gardner Lynch! Don't stretch and deluge it! The contents of a quite small watering can will be quite enough. "Gardner Lynch," however, was not to be deterred, and his readers may rejoice therefor. He produced an amusing study of an amusing writer, not a flippant study, but not a painfully serious one, either.

What Counts. There was a gleam of triumph in the young man's eye as he gazed at the woman he loved. "I'm going to write a great novel that will make me famous," he said. "The beautiful girl remained seated and made no reply. "Then I have a scheme to bring peace and happiness to the world," he continued. She still remained seated. "In order to carry out this scheme I needed money," he went on. "I played the market and won over a million." She jumped up and fell into his arms.

PROPERTY OWNERS INVESTIGATE!

Every property owner who will take time to investigate fire insurance companies as to strength, reliability, reasonableness of rates and who wants the best protection obtainable, will realize more in dividends for time expended for investigation than he will for the same amount of time and money spent investigating available profits in other commodities.

ATLAS PORTLAND CEMENT. STORAGE is a big factor in profitable marketing and economical buying. Like most worth while things it works both ways. For the farmer or the man in town a vegetable and fruit cellar is a real economy. A concrete root cellar properly made, vermin-proof, water-proof and permanent, will soon pay for itself in more ways than one. Your dealer can give you plans to construct a small one, or your local contractor can quickly build it for you. Either one is apt to suggest you use Atlas Portland Cement, "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

For Ten Dollars and Ninety Cents - This 30 x 3 1/2 Usco. THE 30 x 3 1/2 tire situation today is just this - The man who buys an USCO at $10.90 is justified in believing that his money is going farther in tire value than it ever has gone or could go before. Naturally he appreciates the quality of USCO. That was established long ago. It is still fresh in his mind that USCO led the national market into the $10.90 price range. The makers of U.S. Tires always intended the 30 x 3 1/2 USCO to be the highest value in its field. At $10.90 it creates a new classification of money's worth. United States Tires are Good Tires.
