PRICE

The price of a thing is the amount that we exchange for it, not in money, but in personal happiness, comfort and mental satisfaction.

To the experienced individual the mere fact that undue emphasis is placed upon price, inspires caution. The cheapest motor car, therefore, is not that which sells for the least nor is it that which sells for the most It is that which best satisfies our sense of color, gratifies our feelings, does not offend our hearing, possesses an atmosphere that is individual, appeases our good taste, and possesses that rare sixth sense — balance.
