Of Interest to Farmers

TWELVE HIGH COWS GIVE TONS OF MILK

Livonia Animal Gives 2805 Pounds — Chemung Captures Month's Butter Fat Record With 97.3

High record cows in twelve of the thirty dairy improvement associations of the state produced more than a ton of milk apiece during April, according to a report just compiled by the State Agricultural College at Ithaca.

Of these, a grade Holstein owned by Sam Barber of the Livonia, Livingston County, Association, was the leader with 2805 pounds. A Holstein-Friesian, owned by Ray Sabin of Tioga County, was second with 2699 pounds of milk, and also took third place for the state in amount of butter-fat, while another of the same breed owned by Dr. D. B. Armstrong of the Jefferson County Association held third place in amount of milk with 2550 pounds for the month.

Three High in Fat
A Chemung County Holstein-Friesian, owned by W. T. Smith & Son, took first honors in butter fat for the month with 97.3 pounds. Another from the Oswego County Association, owned by Luther Carrien, was second with 89.2 pounds; and Sabin's cow, of the Tioga County Association, held third place with 86.4 pounds of fat. As the price of milk drops, the importance of disposing of low producing cows is being recognized by members of dairy improvement associations, according to the supervisor of the work. The report shows that this spring's shortage of hay and generally slow pastures resulted in some decrease in milk production as well as a falling off in percentage of butter fat.

Agriographs

Careful poultrymen have no roosters left in the flock by summer.

Remember that farm animals as well as humans appreciate plenty of clean, cold water on a hot summer day.

Uncle Ab says: "A good farmer is a good citizen; he can sympathize with the laborer, the investor, and the professional man, because he is the three in one."

Any dairy calf that's a year old has cost its owner at least $50. Some folks have scrubs for their money; others raise purebreds and have something worth keeping.

Folks used to think that most any milk would do for the cheese factory. Now it's known that good quality cheese is only made from milk that is clean flavored and sweet.

Sometimes deep cultivation in the garden does more harm than good because it cuts off the roots. All that's necessary is to kill the weeds and make a light mulch to conserve moisture.

Every farmer in New York and all his family have a share in their State Agricultural College at Ithaca. A lot of them will be at Farmers' Field Days June 22nd and 23rd, to get the profits from their shares in help to take back home.

CHEMUNG YOUNGSTERS WIN COUNTY PRIZES

Seven Go to Washington. — Cornell Field Days Offer Good Time to All Boys and Girls of State

Four boys and three girls from Chemung County went to Washington this year to see Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and the sights of the capitol. They won this trip as a prize for excellence in club work in their county, and seven prouder youngsters are hard to find.

Leo Looman is the poultryman of the party; Fred and Ralph Bush raised potatoes; Margaret Mills won her prize for canning; Alton Edsall is the dairyman; Gretchen Howland, the cook; and Carol Kendall won her trip for her ability as a leader.

Special Guests of College
These and other youngsters from all over the state will be entertained as honored guests of Cornell during Farmers' Field Days at Ithaca June 22nd and 23rd. That good time, however, is not limited to club workers, but all boys and girls of school age in the state are invited. The State College of Agriculture expects many will come with teachers and parents. They will stay over night in the student dormitories—free of charge, and have a special program of their own while their folks are pitching horseshoes or taking the inspection tours of the college farms. Movies, trips around the Cornell campus, and a campfire and "weiner" roast will keep them entertained.

Homespun Yarn

Labor-saving home machinery can be replaced; women's backs cannot.

The most pleasant kitchens need plenty of light as well as adequate floor space.

A bunch of bright flowers on the kitchen window sill makes the housework go a lot faster.

Baby appreciates comfort in hot weather just as much as grown folks. Too many clothes make everybody cross.

Aunt Ada's Axioms: "No house becomes a home until those who live there look upon it as more than a place to eat and sleep."

Every member of the family will enjoy two days' vacation at the State Agricultural College. Farmers' Field Days at Ithaca June 22nd and 23rd, offer a good time for everybody. Better go!

Peanies add a lot to the home grounds. If you didn't get some in last fall you can have some next year. Ask the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca for its new peony bulletin, F. 154.

One housewife uses unbleached muslin for curtains for the children's bedroom; a few animals cut from blue chambray and applied on she says gives the youngsters something to remember always.

The wisest investment for savings is in real estate — in almost any section. Every real estate ad that's printed should have some interest for you.

GARDEN TALKS

The Best Spring Tomatoes Come Out of the Ground. Sturdy Tomatoes Best

Choose rather short, sturdy tomato plants of a good green color. Tall, "leggy" plants are less desirable, but if you can get no others they may be set slantingly with the lower part of the stem buried in the soil. In setting the plants, press the soil tightly about the roots and water them liberally, making sure that the water penetrates well about the roots. Shading the plants for two or three days after setting is desirable if the weather is clear. If tomatoes are to be trained to a single stem, they may be planted eighteen inches apart in rows about thirty inches apart, but if allowed to lie on the ground they should be set four feet apart each way, say the State Agricultural College gardeners.

Kohl Rabi Cousin to Cabbage

Kohl rabi is easy to grow and, if used at the right time, very easy to eat. The time to cook it is when it has reached the size of a hen's egg. Later it becomes stringy and of too strong a flavor. Kohl rabi is a near relative to cabbage and cauliflower, but the edible part is not flowers or leaves, but the enlarged stem. Sow the seeds about half an inch deep, two or three seeds to the inch, in drills fifteen inches apart. The plants should be thinned later to stand about three inches apart. White Vienna and Purple Vienna are good varieties, according to the gardeners at the State Agricultural College at Ithaca.

THE A. B. C. OF EATING

B for the tops and roots of Beets; We have no better kind of eats; F for old and young and all between; B for the snappy stringless Bean; B also stands for real cow Butter; Don't be a bonehead cocoonutter.

USE MANURE AS MADE TO GET BEST VALUE

Manure piled outdoors thru the summer waiting for some special crop is more than likely to lose a large part of its fertilizing value before it is used, says the State Agricultural College at Ithaca. The specialists advise putting it on any crop or permanent pasture as soon as possible, rather than leaving it outdoors in piles, where experiments show it loses one-third to two-thirds of its value in three to five warm months.

It's the pleasantest time of the year to "take a look" at advertised real estate. No matter whether you're quite ready to buy — keep investigating.

Worth-while things for bride and graduate

June is the month of gifts. It is the month of school and college commencement days, when the graduates must be remembered. It, too, is the month of the happy bride, and a bride always means a wedding gift.

Resolve this year that your gifts — whether to bride or graduate — will be of a different kind. Select them in the big, modern stores of Hornell where all of the newest things are shown and offered at reasonable prices.

There must be new dresses for the girls and women folk and new clothing for the boys. Give them the satisfaction of knowing that they have something different — apparel bought in the Hornell shops where good taste and style is reflected.

And the modern furniture stores of Hornell are just crammed with new things for the bride. Whether it is the newlyweds about to furnish a whole home, or whether it is some individual piece you want, you will find the very best in Hornell, and find it at prices you can afford to pay.

The merchants of Hornell invite you to spend these bright June days in a pleasant shopping trip. They and their sales people will do their best to make it pleasant and profitable for you. You, above all, must be satisfied.

And, please remember, —
DURING JULY, AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER ALL OF THE STORES IN HORNELL WILL CLOSE AT NOON EVERY THURSDAY.

Come to town early on Thursday, do your shopping in the morning and take the family to the ball game in the afternoon. The Hornell team, composed entirely of big league stars, plays at home every Thursday afternoon.
