

Among Our Neighbors

South Hill

June 28.—Give it up "Joe" as a bad case of over production.

Mrs. Eliza Doran, of Andover, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean one day last week.

Mrs. Wm. Dean was in Scio Wednesday in attendance at the funeral of Philip Coyle, whose death occurred on Saturday. Mr. Coyle was well and favorably known in this vicinity, where he was a cheesemaker over twenty years ago, marrying one of South Hill's young ladies, Miss Mary Sullivan, who with four children survive. Much sympathy is felt for them in the loss of a most exemplary husband and father.

Mrs. Herman Dean and children, of Wellsville, spent a few days last week at the home of John Dean.

Miss Mayme Dean came home from Buffalo last week, for her annual vacation with parents and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Appier and little son ate Sunday dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. McAndrew, of Andover.

Mrs. J. Sauter, of Hornell, was a Sunday guest at the home of P. A. Dean.

A. M. Mings recently purchased of Mrs. Clarence Clark of Andover her fine Jersey cow.

The dairyman's milk check of the 25th has no margin for a 4th of July celebration, possibly a few fire crackers, if as cheap as the milk.

Miss Mary Dean has returned home from Wellsville where she was guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. D. Wagner and family.

Mrs. Hackett and son, of Allentown; were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hurlburt.

A. M. Mings and sister, Mrs. McCann, attended the Lewis family reunion Wednesday.

Some curiosity was excited as to the why and wherefore of a visit of state troopers to our law-abiding community on Tuesday. With surplus milk no child is on a paper diet, neither have we time for the manufacture of any brand of hooch, when so busy supplying sanitary A No. 1 milk for free distribution to New Yorkers.

Davis Hill

Mrs. Lillian Smith, of Detroit, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Davis Jr., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Slocum have been entertaining relatives from Texas recently.

C. F. Davis, Sr., has been spending a few days with his son, C. F. Davis, Jr.

Joseph Padden spent Saturday in Greenwood.

Mrs. Truman Burdick, of Tip Top, spent the first of the week with her son, Clifford Burdick and family.

The road has been worked and is in first class shape now.

Fred Slocum is on the sick list.

Lightning struck the telephone line recently, doing little damage.

AFRICAN TRIALS BY ORDEAL

As in the Middle Ages, the Accused Has Little Chance of Proving His Innocence.

In one part of Africa a native who has fallen foul of the law can only prove himself innocent by swimming through a pool infested with crocodiles. If he gets through safely—almost an impossible feat—he is a free man.

Not so dangerous, but exceedingly unpleasant, is the "ordeal by pepper." The accused is given a pipe—says Dr. Inge Campbell, in his book entitled "In the Heart of Bantuland"—and this is filled to the top of the bowl with a mixture of tobacco, red pepper, and one or two lesser ingredients. The offender has to smoke this peppery mixture until all the tobacco is smoked to dust. Should he be forced to spit, he is considered guilty.

Mr. Campbell's book is full of interest. He tells us that dolls, in Bantuland, are made from corncobs. Clay is used for the heads, and beads for the eyes and teeth.

Should a child die, the doll is handed to a sister, but if there is no sister, the doll is buried with all ceremony in a grave beside that of the dead child.

Revised Ages of Man.
 At Five—Nobody loves me. I'm going out in the garden and eat worms.
 At Fifteen—She does not love me. I shall hang myself in her father's garage.
 At Twenty—The world does not understand me. Life is a failure.
 At Thirty-five—Why didn't I marry Mabel instead of Helen. Mabel always understood me.
 At Forty-five—Now, if I were President of the United States I would—
 At Sixty—This isn't such a bad old world after all.
 At Seventy—I expect to see a great improvement in conditions in the next 20 or 30 years.
 At Eighty—Johnny, tell your mother that her grandma and I have gone to the cabaret.—New York Sun

WHY WE ADVERTISE

Our successful practice is largely the result of the reference and recommendation of the thousands of cases whom we have served; however, our realization of the relation between correct vision and health convinces us that there should be continual effort on our part to assist in educating the public upon this important subject.

BIRDS STILL FAR SUPERIOR

Men's "Conquest of the Air" Seems to Be Thing of the Far Distant Future.

Aviators fly 1,200 miles with two stops for fuel, and the world applauds the deed. Other aviators actually cross the Atlantic—at its narrowest point, some 1,600 miles wide—and the fact stands still unrivaled by a heavier-than-air machine.

But out on the Pacific, an albatross followed a steamer for six days and seven nights without alighting. In this time, the ship traveled nearly 3,000 miles, and the bird, with the nearest land 1,900 miles away, the bird swallowed a greedy meal of food thrown over for it, turned abruptly, and disappeared.

Human aviation is a long, long way from having achieved that measure of endurance. It will come—probably—but it is not even in sight yet. In speed, the race between man and bird is close already, and victory in the end is sure to go to the former. As for altitude, the albatross has out-climbed even the condor. But in the supreme test of endurance, of the ability to fly and fly and keep on flying, man is ridiculously inferior.

Deductive Reasoning Failed.
 Three detectives were shadowing a Frenchman who had pocketed some funds from a counter, and whom they suspected to belong to a gang. After rounding a corner they found he was no longer visible, but soon came to a restaurant with the inscription—"Id on parle francais." "He'll be in there," said the first. "No," said the second. "If he thought he was being followed he would avoid going where he thought we should expect to find him." "Yes," said the third. "But he would guess we should be smart enough to think of that, and would turn in after all." So they went in and searched, but without success, for the Frenchman could not read, and therefore had not stopped.

WILL CLOSE HISTORIC ALLEY

London Pathway Which Figures in Pepys' Diary Gives Way to March of Improvement.

Pope's Head alley, a turning off Cornhill, a picture of which appeared in the Times on April 11, will shortly disappear. Lloyd's Bank is going to rebuild its premises at the end of Lombard street, between that street and Cornhill, and to make this possible Pope's Head alley will have to be closed and another thoroughfare constructed in its place, says the London Times.

The alley, which dates back to the days of Henry VI, and is named after a noted tavern, is mentioned several times in the "Diary of Samuel Pepys." In his time the footway was famous for its cutters. Pepys reports that he went to Pope's Head and "bought an agate huffed knife, which cost me 5s." Another day some one took him into the tavern and gave him wine, when they discussed affairs of state. "So home," writes Pepys again, "on my way, calling at Pope's Head alley and there bought me a pair of scissors and a brass square."

In 1645 it is recorded, wine was being sold at the tavern at a penny a pint. It was at the Pope's Head tavern that Quin killed Bowen, a fellow actor, in a duel. The first print sellers in London are said to have opened their shops in the alley.

Telephone Improvement.
 Considerable progress has been made in the development of telephonic hearing aids for the partly deaf, but the limit had apparently been reached along this line until the new vacuum tube amplifier described in the Popular Mechanics Magazine was produced. This tube, the result of the efforts of many inventors, consists primarily of a small electric bulb having within it a filament, a spiral wire called a grid, and a metallic plate, all in the order named.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Perkins, of Eleven Mile, called at the home of his brother, Burrill Perkins, Saturday.

Largest Crystal.
 Some time ago there was found what was thought to be the largest of all crystals—a piece of spodumene 29 feet in length. Later, however, Professor Montgomery of Toronto announced that he had measured to the Etta tin mine in the Black hills a crystal of that mineral which was no less than 88 feet six inches in length and 32 inches in thickness. It was, he says, almost perfect in form.

Spodumene is a grayish-white or pink mineral almost as hard as quartz.
