

Among Our Neighbors

South Hill

July 12. — Cultivating and haying is now keeping our farmers moving briskly.

John Dean and Miss Mary visited Mrs. Herman Dean and family Sunday, at the Harrington homestead, on Voorhees Hill.

Mrs. Dan Appier and little son were week-end visitors in Andover.

Ray Hurlbert and family were Wellsville visitors last week Thursday.

South Hill friends and former neighbors of the late Frank Horan, paid their last tribute of respect to his memory by largely attending the funeral on Monday, from Blessed Sacrament Church, Andover. To the family is extended the sympathy of our community in their sad bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean were Andover visitors on Sunday.

Dan Appier was doing business in Wellsville Friday.

Marth Dean, of Hornell, who attended the Horan funeral Monday, was the guest of John Dean and daughter, Mary, Monday afternoon.

All roads led to Fulmer Valley, Tuesday night, where Simon Reisman gave another barn dance.

Dean Horan, of Schenectady, enjoyed a day on the farm Tuesday, with his brother, Leo.

We are being served with some real July heat.

Voorhees Hill

July 11. — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Co-vill and Mr. and Mrs. Orris Parker, of Wellsville, were Sunday guests at Perry Van Schaick's.

Mrs. Herbert Adams called on Wellsville relatives Saturday.

Archie Youmans, of Andover, was on the hill on business Thursday and Friday.

The "Willing Workers" Sunday School Class spent an enjoyable day at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Church, Saturday.

A. A. Adams returned to the home of his brother, H. B. Adams, after spending several days visiting friends at Jasper. Mrs. Adams remained for a more extended visit amid the scenes of her childhood, and will join her husband here later, before leaving for their home in Seattle, Wash.

W. H. Church, of Proctor District, is helping his son, Carroll, with the haying, at his old farm.

Burritt Perkins visited his mother, on the Stanards road, Sunday afternoon. Her condition is very critical, owing to gangrene in her foot, we are sorry to learn.

GIVES OLD HOME TO AID HAREM VICTIMS

The old Wirt home at Medlet Lake, built years ago by Rev. David Wirt, a pioneer preacher, from his earnings as a home missionary for the Congregational church, is to be sold to help feed the hungry children of Armenia and to help provide a refuge for Christian girls wrested from bondage in Mohammedan harems.

It has been contributed to Near East Relief by Dr. Lincoln E. Wirt, son of the pioneer, as a tribute to the memory of his father and mother.

"If you can turn our old home into one that will provide homes for a few Armenian children it will make me happy indeed, and I know my dear father and mother could wish no better end for the manse they built," says Dr. Lincoln Wirt, the donor.

"If you can secure from the sale of the place enough to rescue even one Christian girl from a Turkish harem the saving they put into their home from a meager missionary salary will be a memorial more in keeping with their own spirit of devotion and service for others than any monument of stone."

Tip Top

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baker was the scene of a very charming wedding Thursday, July 8th, at high noon, when their daughter, Esther Blanch, was united in marriage to Clarence Zimmerman, of Hornell. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. D. Shepard, pastor of the Andover Baptist Church, underneath an arch formed of wild flowers and ferns.

The bride wore a beautiful dress of white crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. The wedding march was played by Miss Eva Rennells, a niece of the bride.

Directly after the ceremony, wedding breakfast was served to the fourteen guests by the Misses Reta Stearns, Eva Rennells and Ruth Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman left early in the afternoon for a trip to Buffalo, Niagara and Cleveland and after July 15th, will be at home at 143, Thacher Street, Hornell, N. Y.

The wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Zimmerman and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Swarts, of Hornell; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Rennells, of Andover and Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Lanphear.

Miss Eloise Greene has returned home after several week's visit in Hornell and Almond.

F. M. Lee was a Hornell visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Greene and daughters, Leta and Erma, were recent visitors in Richburg and Bolivar.

Miss Ruth Baker is the guest of her sister, Mrs. O. R. Henderson, of Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Baker and son, Donald, of Salamanca, spent Saturday and Sunday at B. S. Baker's.

Mrs. Eugene De Witt and children, of New Brunswick, N. J. spent Wednesday and Thursday at F. M. Lee's.

Mrs. R. B. Withey is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Jenkins, of Purdy Creek.

Miss Reta Stearns, of Andover, was the guest of Miss Ruth Baker, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

There is a huge consumption of so-called "joss-sticks" in all countries where Buddhist worship is celebrated. These ceremonial candles, whose use corresponds very nearly to that of the wax candles used in the ceremonies of the Catholic church, are lighted on similar occasions, ceremonies of festivity, or mourning, prayer or thanksgiving to divinities, etc. Joss-sticks are at once candles and incense, since, like the latter, they burn without apparent flame.

The preparation of joss-sticks is shrouded in some mystery, and the process is still practically unknown, those who carry it on being chosen from a special class and kept in rigorous seclusion. Dacker and Hurrier, during a sojourn in Indo-China and China, succeeded, however, in discovering the essential points of manufacture.

A squared strip of bamboo of varying length and thickness, according to the size of the joss-stick that is to be made, is skillfully rolled on an inclined surface, in a mixture of odoriferous powders agglutinated by resin, made viscous by slight elevation of temperature. One of the ends is left as it is, to serve as a handle. In some cases the bamboo is replaced with a flexible rod which enables the joss-stick to be rolled in spiral form.

Wall-Paper Collecting.

The hobby of collecting wall paper had a "distinguished pioneer" in Sir Walter Scott, who in one of his letters narrates his delight in a gift which came to him when he was adorning Abbotsford. He was in a quandary as to an appropriate wall decoration for his "with-drawing room," which, with the library, was to be the most distinguished chamber in the mansion. Tapestry ran to too great a price, and as for ordinary designed wall-papers, they were lacking in distinction. But a friend who had sojourned for long in the East, and had brought home a collection of oriental objects, found among them a number of rolls of "gilt Chinese paper, adorned with dragons and other reptiles of the imagination. He offered the rolls to Sir Walter, who saw in the design the very thing that suited. The paper stands today almost as fresh as when it was put up in the "Wizard's" baronial hall.

WHY WE ADVERTISE

Our successful practice is largely the result of the reference and recommendation of the thousands of cases whom we have served; however, our realization of the relation between correct vision and health convinces us that there should be continual effort on our part to assist in educating the public upon this important subject.

TRULY SEAT OF THE MIGHTY

Woolsack in British House of Lords Dates Back to the Reign of King Edward III.

In a place of honor in the British house of lords is a large red cushion right in front of the throne. It is about five feet long and two feet square at the ends, and is known as the woolsack or historic seat of the lord chancellor of the realm. This is one of the sacred British institutions. Its installation as a seat of honor for the head of the judiciary department of the government dates back to the time of Edward III, when wool was the chief staple of England.

It was not, however, until the time of Henry VIII that the woolsack was dignified and thoroughly established as an institution by the following enactment: "The lord chancellor, lord treasurer and all other officers who shall be under the degree of a baron of a parliament shall sit and be placed at the uppermost part of the seats in the midst of the parliament chamber, either there to sit upon one form or upon the uppermost sack."

Another curious circumstance is the fact that the woolsack is regarded as extra-territorial so far as the house is concerned. Technically, it is outside the precincts of the house, so, if the lord chancellor wishes to speak in debate he must leave the woolsack and advance to his place as a peer.

WINDSTORMS AND CYCLONES HIT NEW YORK STATE

New York State has been hit hard and often during the past two years by cyclones and windstorms.

People are beginning to see the necessity of carrying windstorm insurance and, why not, for the damage done by windstorms in the State of New York for the year 1920 was more than that estimated by lightning.

Would it not be better to pay the small cost for this protection than to wait until after the next storm and then wish that you had made this small investment?

If you are interested in getting low cyclone rates in some of the strongest companies operating in New York State then write, phone, or see

"FIRSHEEN"

This knit textile of such rare beauty has been one of the finds of the year. All silk back stitch knit wear that will not run; altogether a perfect fabric for a fine gown. Comes in a splendid selection of the pronounced popular colors. An all around year success.

This company sole agents for this lovely silk.

RADIAKNIT

A superior Tricolette fabric of extra strength, perfection in weave and very lustrous in appearance. Carries out the trend toward knit fabrics of silk so prominent at present time. For blouses, sweaters, skirts, gowns and bloomers, it has no superior. Colors in wide range for your choice as well as black and white

SPORT SATINS

Our collection of these is much larger than usual, necessitated by the insistent demand for good satins of this character. Quality and serviceability has been our main argument for these silks.

Range of colors excellent; practically all colors used are in this line. Priced so low that their purchase involves but small expenditure for the best grades.

SILK FANTAISI

These are used in two ways for Skirts and for combinations with Canton Crepe or Crepe de Chine. Six combinations of colors with white in beautiful brocade or crepe effects.

Short lengths only and we shall close them out at only a fraction of their value. Launder perfectly and wear superbly.

PONGEES and SHANTUNGS

Both foreign and domestic in greatest variety ever shown. Mostly naturals, but a good range of colors as well for illumination. Never has there been such a season for Pongee Silk and never have we sold so many, due, we think, very largely to the splendid values offered.
