LET US HAVE ORDER

VIOLENCE, unless it is promptly suppressed and the perpetrators promptly punished, leads to more violence. More violence leads to anarchy.

Anarchy breeds revolution.

Revolution destroys governments and paralyzes industry.

There is no occasion for revolutions in this country and there is no excuse for violence.

Yet we read in the daily press that official Washington is much distressed, and fears that if the coal and shopmen's strikes are not speedily settled revolution will overtake this country.

Organization on the part of the laboring classes is essential to their well being. Without it they would be ground down to serfdom and starvation wages, and would be without means to bring their families up in proper manner and educate them for useful careers in the world.

But no organization, whether of labor or capital, is greater than our country and its laws. These laws are made to be observed by all the people and no one is immune from their application.

No public official can expect to remain in office long without the confidence of the people and that confidence endures only thru a fair and impartial enforcement of law.

No organization can expect to retain the confidence or sympathy of the people unless its membership respects and obeys the laws under which all of the people are required to live.

If the sane and lawabiding element of an organization is powerless to prevent acts of lawlessness or violence in their continual disputes, then the constituted authorities should put an end to it without further ado.

It requires years of care and training to produce an adult life, and much toil and expense to create valuable property.

Neither should be destroyed by the whim of an irresponsible and lawless fanatic.

Let the laws be enforced against both parties to a dispute. Justice knows neither friend nor foe.

OUR YOUTHFUL DAYS

"WE ARE only young once," you often hear some person remark, as an excuse for "hitting the pace."

True we can be young but once, and the pleasures of youth must be crowded into that space of time.

But how long are we young? Some men are old at 40 while others are still young at 60. It depends upon the pace they hit and the manner in which they hit it.

We can crowd a lot of work and pleasure into youth if we keep our hearts and our minds and our bodies clean, or we can reduce the amount of both and shorten our youth by resorting to reckless dissipation.

Youth is your own. It will be prolonged or curtailed by your own acts only.

PROFIT SHARING IS COMING

THE day is coming when practically all of the great railroads, manufacturing and other corporations will be run on a profit-sharing basis. When that time does come it will see the end of strikes, lockouts and all other forms of labor disturbances.

It is doubtful, however, if we see such a day until some great upheaval or disaster has knocked a reasonable degree of reasoning and sense into heads that now seem to be practically devoid of both.

The tendency today is to skin every penny possible at the expense of somebody else, irrespective of the moral or legal rights of others.

This tendency is not confined to any one industry, or to any particular class of people. It is everywhere, and is on the increase.

We will have lulls between our periods of strife, but as long as systematic grab rules the commercial world we will have no permanent stability in business,—only a condition of wondering today what the morrow will bring forth.

Profit sharing on an equitable basis is the only salve that will heal this national wound.

It's a wise man who knows when he is a fool.

There is great hope for the man who frankly admits that he is a fool. He has sense enough to know it.

Don't dare to do right. Do it, instead.

If the law required every man to earn his daily bread a lot of them would want to eat but once a week.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

HOW much do you know? Here's a sample.

If you see a new building there are certain improvements you could have made had you been the architect or the builder.

The man who lays a new pavement doesn't do it just right. You could point out the defects and tell him how it should be done.

If the village trustees pass a new ordinance you can tear it to shreds and lay bare its glaring inconsistencies.

If the school board adopts a new set of books you know of another set that would be far better.

And if the preacher points out the road to hell, you even know a short cut to take.

How much do you know, anyway?

It isn't the wife, that so many men fear. It's what she may find out. And therein lies the fatal mistake, so many men make—the mistake that leads either to a life of unhappiness or to the divorce courts.

Husbands and wives should be perfectly frank with each other, even tho that frankness leads to the bareing of facts that are not entirely to one's credit.

Frankness is the father of truth, and the constant employment of truth in little things leads to greater truths in the big ones.

Tell it to your wife. If you can afford to do it—she can afford to fear it from yourself, and not from the neighbors. And she may even surprise you with something in return.

THE average automobile speed maniac glories in the fact that he is a maniac.

It is cheap glory and the only kind that he can annex.

When we pass the carcass of a long dead animal, we hold our noses. Decayed flesh is very offensive.

We should do the same with the poor egg who considers himself a speeder.

His carcass may be intact, but his mind is a mess of putrefaction. This is evident by the fact that a normal mind does not require coercion in order to safeguard the lives and limbs of other people.

Hold your nose as he passes by. Soon he will take another route.

WHO is boss in the home?

Most men would say that they are, while a majority of the women would insist that that is their prerogative.

It is probable that in most cases the woman is the boss—if there is one. But in reality there should be none.

The happiest and most successful homes are those where mutual confidence and a sincere desire to cooperate exists.

Such a home needs no boss, altho a guiding spirit is always essential.

Leave the management of the homes to the wives. They have forgotten more in that realm than the husbands will ever know.

EUROPE reminds us of a kettle that wants to boil over but can not raise enough steam to raise the lid.

The perplexed and harassed governments are growling and snapping at each other, but never reach the point of an open rupture.

Same day the fires will become warmer, and more steam will be generated and the lid will fly off—and the munition makers will be happy again.

Even in the midst of misery there is much joy to be found.

Sift the ashes!

Toil never tires some people. They never do any.

Praise your neighbor's garden. He may give you some.

All great men make mistakes. Only the fool is infallible.

The obstacles of life never bother those who push them aside.

Ice cream, however, is most delicious when you haven't the price.

Don't worry over being fat. It makes people think you have plenty to eat.

Absolutely Fresh Water "Direct from the Well"

Every farm home can have absolutely fresh water delivered BY MACHINERY to faucets anywhere about the house, barn, stables or yards. With the MILWAUKEE AIR POWER WATER SYSTEM, there is no water storage tank—the water comes direct through the pipes to the faucets and is practically as fresh as if dipped right out of a spring. With this system you can have water

Any Time of the Day or Night

The pump works only when a faucet is opened, but it is on the job all the time ready to work—24 hours a day and 365 days in the year. Only a little attention is required to run the engine and keep the pressure in the air tank at the proper point. Where an electric motor is used the system works entirely automatically.

Several Pumps

The MILWAUKEE SYSTEM enables you to pump water from several sources if you wish—well, cistern, stream, spring or lake. There must be a pump in each of these places, but one power equipment—engine (or motor), compressor and air tank—operates all the pumps.

Fire Protection

By our special AIR PRESSURE REGULATOR, the pressure can be changed instantly from that required for ordinary work (25 or 30 lbs.) to 100 lbs. for fire protection. Insurance does not prevent fires. And it pays for only part of the loss. A good water system prevents a lot of fires.

A MILWAUKEE AIR POWER WATER SYSTEM is the best investment any farmer can make. It saves a lot of time, cuts out a lot of hard work both in the house and barn, adds much to the comforts of the home and protects from fire.

The price of a water system for your place probably will be less than you think. It costs you nothing to learn all about it. Call and see us or telephone.
