

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

South Hill

Aug. 23.— Good harvest weather for storing the oat crop, and threshers will soon have their lanlaga.

A few of our residents attended Harvest Home in Andover last Thursday.

Herman Dean, who recently returned from Oklahoma, and his two little daughters are spending the week at the home of John Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dean and little daughter are enjoying their annual vacation with parents and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Appier and little son spent Sunday in Andover at the McAndrew home.

A number of residents attended the funeral of George Harrington of Wellsville, from Immaculate Conception Church, that city, last Friday. South Hill friends of the family sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Mrs. Margaret Hoskins, of Philadelphia, who with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick and family, have been on a two-week's motor trip thru New York, spent Monday and Tuesday at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Wm. Dean. Mrs. Hoskins will be remembered as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McGrath, who with her parents removed from what is now the M. T. Lynch farm, to Philadelphia in 1876. The lady found very many changes on our hill and very few of the older residents. David Slocum, of Andover, is re-shingling the A. M. Mings residence. Our residents were sorry to hear of the death of W. J. McAndrew, of Alfred, in the Olean Clinic Hospital, where he has been for some weeks for treatment. "Billy" was a former South Hill boy, where he grew to manhood, and his many friends in this vicinity extend their sympathy to his family in their great loss of a good husband and father.

Com. Howland and road men were again at work in this vicinity Wednesday.

The Harrington Bro's, of Oklahoma and St. Louis, who came home last week for the burial of their brother, George, motored over our hill Tuesday.

Paul Dean and family and sister, Miss Mary, visited Wellsville Tuesday and motored to Bradford Wednesday.

WILL BE PUT TO TEST

When called upon to show their ability to read and write English, new voters appearing at the registration places this fall, will be asked to read one of the fifty-word extracts from the New York State constitution and then to write legibly in English any ten words from the extract, indicated by the inspectors. At the present time about twenty states now have similar literacy tests embodied in their election laws.

WORN OUT MEADOWS

START LIFE ANEW

Many old meadows in the state that produced about a half a ton of hay to the acre, and that mostly daisies and other weeds, are being plowed up and started over, according to the Agricultural College at Ithaca. Most farmers find that in the second or third year after seeding a meadow it usually produces the best crop and that after this the yield gets smaller unless the ground is top-dressed with manure or given an application of nitrogenous fertilizer.

Meadows that are past their usefulness are being turned over just as soon as the hay is off to allow time for the organic matter to decay in preparation for next year's crop. Most of those to be seeded back to grass again as soon as possible will grow wheat next year, the college says. The seedbed is put into the best possible condition by early plowing and enough harrowing afterward to produce good tilth, with a final rolling with a roller, corrugated if possible and smooth if necessary.

An Allegany County observer says the hill meadows show which farmers use lime; they are the only ones on the hills to have hay crops.

While the earth remaineth, seed time and harvest and cold and heat and summer and winter and day and night shall not cease." — Genesis VIII, 22.

The 400,000 tons of fertilizer used by New York farmers last year represent an investment of ten to fifteen million dollars. Folks that know estimate that it brought an increased profit of over $10,000,000, or 100 per cent. on cost.

Someone estimated that most American housewives use not more than thirty different recipes. Count yours up and then ask the State Agricultural College at Ithaca for its bulletins to lend variety to the family table.

Some farmers have promised their wives to look into the matter of getting water into the house before cold weather sets in. Wise wives are asking the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca for its new water supply bulletin, E. 50, and getting the one on sewage disposal, E. 48, for good measure.
