FOR NATIONAL BEAUTY HONORS

Miss Margaret Van Cleaf, formerly of Wellsville, a graduate nurse in the Lee Hospital in Rochester, committed suicide Aug. 30th, by drowning in the Genesee River. Miss Van Cleaf was very highly thought of in the hospital where she had been in training for three years and later as a professional nurse. The act was the result of despondency because of a love affair with a young man of Rochester whom she refused to marry because of the fact that she had Negro blood in her veins, dating back to the marriage of an ancestor, a southern young man and a mulatta girl.

The Annual National Beauty Pageant at Atlantic City, N. J., already has two winning entries. Above is Miss Gertrude Shoemaker, who folks of Harrisburg, Pa., selected as their prettiest girl. Below is Miss Lorane Paskey, who will represent Toledo, O. These are the first two entered. All states will be represented.
