Are Going to be Grasshoppers

Did you ever hear of Doolittle?

If some fellow had told your grandfather when he was a boy that in the time of his grandchildren a man would take dinner one evening on the cool summer veranda overlooking the broad Atlantic and at ten o'clock bid his friends good night saying, "I am dining with friends on the Pacific Coast to-morrow evening. I must be on my way," your grandfather would have looked upon the pre dictor as either a a pitiable fool little news item of passing interest. Few even noted the item and most of those who did as quickly forgot it

Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, U. S. Army aviator, hopped off in his aeroplane from the broad Atlantic at Pablo Beach at three minutes past ten o'clock Labor Day. At 5:34 the next afternoon (Pacific time,) he stepped out of his sky-boat at San Diego, Calif., on the Pacific.

Doolittle stopped an hour and seven minutes at San Antonio, Texas, to take breakfast with his wife and mother. In actual flying time, he flew from sea to sea in twenty-one hours and eighteen minutes.

What would grandfather, as a boy, have that of that? Nothing more than a passing news item of the hour now. We have grown accustomed to startling events.

Some day some fellow will rise up into the heavens and sail all the way around the world. And when that day comes, even that will not amaze us.

We once that it a wonderful thing to talk by wire across town. Now we talk by wireless across the continent.

We once that it was a great thing to go from New York to Buffalo in one day. Now we go from sea to sea in a day.

You have seen in your school histories pictures of the little Columbus fleet, the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria, compared to the modern ocean liner, nearly one-fifth of a nile long, accommodating thousands of passengers in the luxury of palatial grandeur.

You have seen pictures of the little kettle-like locomotive, the De Witt Clinton, which was the marvel of 1831 because it acquired the amazing speed of 15 miles an hour. You have seen the modern engine which pulls a palatial Pullman faster than a mile a minute. Wonderful changes, aren't they? Well-

The little air ship that Doolittle lifted above the storm clouds and sailed by compass was but the Santa Maria sailing an uncharted sky. A sky where great ships will follow. It was the DeWitt Clinton piloting the path for the up-inthe-air passenger coach that our children will some day use to meet a business engagement or to greet a friend at dinner a few thousand miles away.

All over the skies new lines of passenger ships will fly. As Doolittle hopped from sea to sea, we will hop from shore to Soon Asia is but a day away. We take breakfast in Buenos Ayres to-morrow.

ALLEGANY AYRSHIRES DO WELL AT STATE FAIR

The Allegany-Steuben Ayrshire Breeder's Clubs put the Red and White breed to the front in these sections by exhibiting about 40 head of animals at the State Fair. Messrs. Stewart and Cochrane of Bath made up a Steuben County hert. Walter Karr, 8, S. Karr and Son, Harry Per-ry and J. L. Marvin, of Almond, and J. O. Baker, of Andovér, made up the Allegany County exhibit. The Alle-Ayrshires were practically the ones that had not been in the show ring for several weeks.

In spite of the very keen competition in this show the local club managed to get away with 10 individual premiums and 9 breeders group exhibit entries.

premiums and 9 breeders group exhibit entries.

In the special County Herd Exhibits Steuben and Allegany won first and second respectively. That Allegany County Ayrshires made a good showing is evidenced by the fact that two of the animals in the Allegany County exhibit have been selected as part of the State Ayrshire exhibit at this year's National Dairy Show.
