Corn 62 1/2c; Minneapolis Dec. Wheat $1.06 1/2; Kansas City Dec. Wheat $1.00 1/2; Winnipeg Dec. wheat 95 1/2c.

Hay

Market generally firm. Some advances in prices reported. Receipts very light because of scarcity of cars. Alfalfa very firm. Demand good in producing sections from local consumers. Quoted Oct. 9: No. 1 Timothy Boston $25.25, New York $25.50; Phila. $21, Pittsburg $19.50, Chicago $22, Atlanta $23. No. 1 Alfalfa Kansas City $21.50, Memphis $27.50.

No. 1 Prairie Kansas City $13.75, St. Louis $16, Chicago $20.

Feed

Markets irregular and unsettled with buyers and sellers views regarding prices far apart. Slow movement and tight receipts firmed up prices for nearby shipments. Excellent demand for bran from jobbers in North-eastern markets, other wheat feeds neglected. Cottonseed meal stocks at mills accumulating; consumptive demand poor. Production corn feeds good, demand fair, stocks good. Resellers continue to offer linseed meal liberally, mill offerings light. Alfalfa meal situation strong. Stocks most feeds ample to take care of present requirements. Quoted Oct. 9: Bran $21, middlings $21, flour middlings $23, Minneapolis; 36c cottonseed meal $34-Memphis, $34 Atlanta; white hominy feed $26.50 Chicago, $25 St. Louis; 36c linseed meal $45 Chicago, $43 Minneapolis; gluten feed $32.85 Chicago; No. 1 alfalfa meal $22 St. Louis.

Dairy Products

Butter markets firm during the week. Receipts continue to run light following seasonal decrease in production. Movement of storage butter heavy for season. Closing prices, 92 score butter: New York 45c; Chicago 43 1/2c; Phila. 46c; Boston 45c. Cheese markets steady to firm during the week. Comparatively light receipts, and good fall quality account for firmness, also buying is being held close to requirements. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets Oct. 7: Twins 23c; Daisies 23 1/2c; Double Daisies 23 1/2c; Young Americas 24 1/2c; Longhorns 23 1/2c; Square Prints 25c.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

You've made yer mind up, Jenny, so there's nothin' left to say, that I reckon 'bout impressin' ye to do some other way. You never was a stubborn child, or one that don't behave, but you're mighty sot, I've noticed, on the little things you crave. So, you're goin' to the City—where there's heaps of fine "careers" and worlds of "opportunities" around ye everywheres—I wouldn't want to tie ye to yer mother's apron strings, for life, they say, is measured by the happiness it brings. . . . When I think about them "type-machines" or clerkin' in a store, where the boss ain't never satisfied, but—allerer wantin' more—where there's slim respects for purity, and ever'thin's fer show,—it overcomes me, Jenny, and—I hate—to—see—ye—go! There's often hidden torments in the prospects that allures, and a million tons of riff-raff in the City's social sewers. . . . And the hell of human passion, in the high as well as low,—I may be wrong about it, but,—I hate—to—see—ye—go! Yer mother'll recollect ye, when she says the evenin' prayers. Some people think a mother is the only one that cares. . . . But we'll watch the papers 'doser than we used to do, ye know,—and we'll wonder—wonder—wonder, Child—I—hate—to—see—ye—go!

"The Effectual Fervant Prayer of a Righteous Man Avail-eth Much." — St. James 5: 16.

WHY NOTHING BUT SMOKE?

PERIODICALLY — almost daily — the newspapers of our large cities contain lurid stories of fabulous sums of money involved in rum running cases unearthed by the prohibition agents. Sometimes it is with the connivance of some of the agents themselves.

Names, facts, and dates are often given, and there appears to be no doubt as to the correctness of these statements.

Presumably the evidence is passed on to the public prosecutors, whose duty it is to convict law violators and send them to jail.

But, presumably, some of these prosecutors are afflicted with conveniently short memories. And, presumably their memories have a habit of failing them at the most critical time.

Why so much smoke and no fire? Why so much evidence and so little prosecution?

Is it a case of graft, fear to prosecute, or just plain inefficiency?

In whatever case it may be, why do we keep such birds in public office?

The Milk of a Million Cows

TWICE every day the members of the Dairymen's League milk over a million cows. As long as these cows live in New York State, you are assured Dairymen's League quality milk.

And New York couldn't help being the dairy state. The climate, excellent pasturage, and fertile valleys all favor dairying. Blessed with these natural advantages, 72,000 farmers have built a world-wide reputation for good dairy products.

To the people in town, the ownership of the entire country end of the milk business by farmers is an everlasting assurance of high-quality products; for the reputation earned in a lifetime will be maintained.

Farm folks already know that Dairymen's League quality has been recognized, and they have reason to maintain the present high standard.

That's why your grocer sells Dairymen's League Brand products.
