Did You Ever Stop to Think

THAT business concerns must serve in order to succeed. They must do everything in their power to advance the interests of the business of the home city.

THAT they must show the right spirit. Boost the home city, not once in a while, but all the while.

THAT many cities are judged by the service given by its stores. In some of them you will find surly clerks, oftentimes conceited ones, and once in a while sassy ones; that class usually makes business for some stores—but others than the ones they are working in, and occasionally they make business for some other city or even for mail order houses.

THAT to reap the harvest of service and a quicker turnover of stock, means that a business will have to sow the seeds of effort.

THAT it can best be done by quality and advertising, backed up by obliging clerks, the ones who believe in giving the customers service, the clerks who can smile and make the customers feel that they are favoring the store with their business.

SOME GROUCHY CLERKS ACT AS THOUGH THEY WERE DOING THE CUSTOMERS A GREAT FAVOR WHEN THEY CONDESCEND TO LET THEM BUY. THE BUYING PUBLIC CAN GET ALONG BY STAYING AWAY FROM THOSE STORES, BUT THOSE STORES CANNOT GET ALONG WITHOUT THE BUYING PUBLIC.

—E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

Healthographs

It is the babies living and not the babies born that count.

Every babe has the right to be born.

Why, then, has not a baby a right to live.

"One out of every ten babies dies before it's one year old."

Five times (one out of 7) undergoes unnecessary illness.

A great proportion of such occurrences can be counteracted by proper care.

Some advice concerning the infants' and children's welfare may be better than other. At any rate, seek good advice and give your offspring the best available care.

Every child born is potentially a better son or daughter than you were.
