Rude Rural Rhyme

John Preacher

I offer here some Sunday features for would-be Talmages and Beechers. From January to December the tongue's a most unruly member. Some good old scout who fought the devil prayed God to keep his mouth from evil. God give to me serenity in speech a mild urbanity, my lips restrain that I restrain from needless inflicting pain. Mean, bitter words that prick like pins are not the least of human sins. Johnny Preacher get your gun, while other sins you're bagging, and shoot a round or two of shot against the sin of nagging. I reprobate promiscuous fussing and also plain and fancy cussing. I do not think your soul is lost because you put a 'damn' across. The angels likely have to grin the way some fellows bring them in, but calling on the Lord in vain gives decent people grief and pain. Johnny Preacher get your gun and oil it every bearing, then turn the good old blunderbus against the sin of swearing. O darn the man whose lies and sneers keep all the neighbors on their ears, who gathers human filth and spittle to make of it a tattle-tittle. Johnny Preacher get your gun, a load of buckshot hand'er, then pour some pellets in the pants of him who utters slander.

Recovery From influenza Hastened by PE-RU-NA

Mr. C. A. Allen, R. R. No. 2, Bondurant, Iowa, gives testimony to the healing power of Pe-ru-na. Influenza left him much run down in health with catarrh of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes punctuated with attacks of asthma. He writes:

"While recovering from the influenza I was so weak I could not gain any strength for two months. The latter part of the winter, I bought six bottles of Pe-ru-na and began taking it. My weight increased to 175 pounds, the most I ever weighed.

My usual winter weight is 155. If you can use this letter for any good, you are perfectly welcome."

Such evidence cannot fail to convince the rankest unbeliever of the merits of Pe-ru-na.

Insist upon having the old and original remedy for catarrhal conditions.
