

Ex Nihilo, Nihil Fit

"NOTHING from nothing comes." That is a Law of Life—a Law of Nature—a Law of Finance. If you don't plant corn, you can't raise corn.

Where Nature puts no minerals in the ground, you can't get minerals. If you don't bank dollars, you won't have dollars.

Kenneth A. had a cud of gum
And it was white as snow,
And everywhere that K. A. went,
The gum was sure to go.
He carried it to school one day,
Which was against the rules—
Prof. Palmer took that gum away,
And chewed it after school? ?

Latest Decrees of Fashionable Paris

By WAYLAND LIVERMORE

I see by an item in a New York newspaper that prominent fashion leaders in Paris have again decreed a change in styles. But then, I suppose, this is necessary, for the present styles have been in vogue nearly a fortnight and so are of course, entirely old-fashioned and impossible.

The latest verdict of the Fashion Gods is, that no woman, who is self-respecting and stylish, or at least in their opinions, shall appear in public, wearing skirts reaching below the knees or without the eyelashes beautifully curled and their ears painted red. Oh, yes! and their faces must be painted and made up so as to make them look as much like a delicate doll as possible, and as little like a live human being.

Of course, I suppose, the women think they know what they are doing and perhaps I have been sadly misled as to the present fashions. But if the fashion for having bobbed hair is still in vogue, as it was the day before yesterday, yes, and yesterday too, what I can't see is this: What in the world is the use of painting one's ears red or any color for that matter, if they are all so religiously excluded from sight by the bobbed hair as they have been for the past year or so? Why don't they paint their knees red, or blue, or green or some other bright color? That would, at least, furnish them with a more plausible excuse for wearing their dresses above their knees than they probably have now. But, I suppose, the Elite of Society enjoy the sensation and awe they inspire in the gaping public as they parade majestically down the street. One might even be persuaded to descend to stop and let passers by view her ruby red ears, beautifully tinted and shaded, her carefully curled eye-lashes, skirts above her knees, and probably so tight she has to walk slowly to prevent accidents.

But of course, all this is style decreed by the demi-Gods of fashionable Paris; and so women all over the world will be tearing around at a great rate getting their eye-lashes curled, their ears painted and new dresses made. There is one advantage in the short skirt, that is—whereas a certain amount of cloth once made only one skirt, it will make at least three now, perhaps four if the woman is extremely stylish. And just as they all get themselves painted and curled like Indians in the war colors; and their own and their husbands' pocket books drained of the last cent, the styles will change and they will go rushing off to a new tangent in some other outlandish way, trying to make them look as ridiculous as possible. But such are women and who can change THEM?

WEEKLY WORLD GLIMPSES

A Resume of World Events Prepared Especially for Andover News, by Mary Zoretskie of the Department of Journalism of Syracuse University.

Berlin—Dr. Walter Simons was appointed temporary president of the German Republic until a successor is elected. Dr. Simons is a former Foreign Minister and was president of the Supreme Court at Leipzig at the time of his appointment.

Trenton, N. J.—Governor Slizer signed Senate bill L. introduced by Senator Mackay of Bergen county, authorizing construction of a bridge across the Hudson river between Fort Lee, N. J., and 178th street, New York City.

Washington—Lieut. Col. James E. Fletcher, nominated by President Coolidge to be assistant chief of the Army Air Service, will take over on April 27 the duties of Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, whose attitude on the aviation policy has been displeasing to officials. The nomination was confirmed by the Senate, with rank of Brig. Gen. for Fletcher.

London—Summer daylight saving has been adopted by the government as a permanent institution. The yearly period has been fixed from the beginning of April to the end of October.

San Francisco—A pledge to do his utmost to strengthen the bonds of mutual understanding, friendship and confidence between Japan and the United States was given in the address made by Tsuno Matsudaira, ambassador from Japan, on his way to Washington.

London—The Liberals (Progressive) lost 18 seats to the labor party in the recent London County Council elections, and now hold only 6. The Conservatives (Municipal Reformers) gained one seat and remain for the sixth election with a majority over all parties.

Tokyo—The Peace Reservation Act, providing for imprisonment for nearly every form of communist activity, was passed by the House as a direct result of the Japanese-Russian agreement.

Geneva—The League of Nations made public its report on the problems of double taxation and tax evasion, on which experts have been working for years. Double taxation was declared unjust and destructive to initiative and the levying of personal income taxes should be done only by the country of domicile.

New York—New York's 12,000 policemen will co-operate with Emory C. Buckner, new United States attorney, in his attempt to stamp out illicit liquor selling, announced R. A. Merrick, division chief of General Federal Prohibition Agents for New York and northern New Jersey.

Albany—Prohibition is credited by the State Board of Charities, in its annual report for 1924, with having been a major factor in reducing the number of dependent children in this state from 66,431 to 63,192.

Austin, Texas—A bill prohibiting the wearing of masks in public was signed by Governor Miriam Ferguson, providing severe penalties for persons entering in public buildings, churches or private residence while masked.

Cheyenne—The town of Layove was ordered to be wiped off the map and its 1,500 inhabitants deprived of their homes by a ruling of Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy, in order to clear a path for the petroleum industry. The Ohio Oil Company leased the land on which the town is built from the government for oil development. An appeal to the Circuit Court has been made by the Layove Townsite Association.

Washington—Despite the Senate's rejection last Tuesday, by a tie vote of the nomination of Charles B. Warren to be Attorney General, President Coolidge again submitted the name on Thursday, to have it rejected by a 39-41 vote. Failure to approve a cabinet nomination has not occurred since the days of Andrew Johnson. Coolidge resubmitted the name for the third time, disregarding the advice of administration leaders in the Senate.

Columbus, Ohio—The Ohio Board of Film Censorship, following the instructions of Governor A. Victor Donahey, is cutting from motion pictures shown in the state any scenes that include flaunting of whiskey flasks or scenes that place prohibition laws in an unfavorable light.

Washington—President Coolidge has called upon the state governors to co-operate in observance of the week of April 27th to May 3rd as "American Forest Week" and recommended that wherever possible "Arbor Day" be celebrated within that week.

Geneva—The rejection of the Geneva Protocol of England and all the dominions, except Ireland, was made by Austen Chamberlain, British Secretary of Foreign Affairs, in a discourse before the Council of the League of Nations.

And inspiring Community Lecture by E. W. Fitzgerald of Olean Chamber of Commerce

"THE SUNSHINE TRAIL" is the title of the feature picture. It's jammed with sunshine and filled with thrills and spills. There is a fortune and a girl at the end of the "Sunshine Trail"—a smile every mile along the way. Also a smashing two-reel comedy.

Mr. E. W. Fitzgerald is an authority on all matters concerning community building and will tell of his findings at this time.
