

THIS WEEK'S CROSS WORD PUZZLE

By MRS. LEE YOEMAN

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

The first letter of each word is indicated by a number placed in the blank white spaces, and by referring to the list of words given below, you will find the definition. For instance, number one, horizontal gives the definition of a word which will fill in all the white spaces to the right.

Mrs. Lee Yoeman gets the credit for the puzzle this week. You'll find a few punctuation marks and a few relatives, but outside of that, it's a pretty nice puzzle, and we know you will all get the maximum enjoyment out of working it.

Farm and Stock Market

HIGHLIGHTS ON STATE CROPS

From New York State Dept. Farms and Markets April 28, 1925.

Nearly Asparagus, Rhubarb Heavier

The first Long Island asparagus of the season came onto the market Tuesday, says the report of the State Department of Farms & Markets. It was excellent both in condition and quality but the price realized was only $3.50-4.50 per dozen bunches, due to the record-breaking shipments of late from California and other states.

Barreled Apples Continue Steady

The demand for barreled apples continues moderate and the market steady for good. Receipts have been moderate, totaling on Tuesday, 41 cars. Western New York "A" 2 1-2 inch Baldwins on that day closed at $5.50-7 per barrel, and from the Hudson Valley at $6.50-7.

Old-Crop Vegetables Slow

Old potatoes are very low in price and because of the slow demand, supplies in the railroad yards are accumulating. The quality and condition varies greatly and the price ranges accordingly. Western New York No. 1's have sold lately at $1.50-1.85 per 180 pounds. Receipts of old-crop carrots, onions and cabbage are very light and the market very dull.

Live Poultry and Dressed Veal Dull

The market for live poultry is dull and weaker with average-run fowls selling at 32-33c a pound, stagg chickens at 21-22 cents and broilers at 50-55 cents. Country dressed calves the only normal, in receipt, continue dull and weak. The fact is that the New York butchers overbought last week with the result that few are ready to buy now. Choice closed at 15-16c a pound, fair to good at 12-14c and common at 9-11 cents.

Butter and Eggs Steady, Fresh Cheese Lower

Butter closed steady with creamery salted, 92 score, selling at 45 1/2 cents a pound. Eggs were also steady with nearby henry white average extras at 34c a dozen and nearby gathered whites, firsts to extra firsts, at 32-33c. The fresh cheese market is lower. Whole-milk flats closed per pound as follows: Average-run, fresh, 20-22 1/2 cents; average-run, held 25-25 1/2 cents.

Hay Steady to Firm Under Light Receipts

The hay market under light receipts advanced and at the close of business Tuesday was holding steady to firm. Top grades are especially in demand. U. S. Timothy closed per ton as follows: No. 1, $26; No. 2, $23-25; No. 3, $20-21; Sample $10-18.

Washington, D. C., for the week ending April 27, 1925.

Live Stock and Meats

Chicago hog prices ranged from 40-50c lower than a week ago, closing at $12 for the top and $11.60-$11.90 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers 25c lower to 35c higher at $8.50-10.85; butcher cows and heifers 25c lower to 15c higher at $4.50-10.75; feeder steers 25c higher at $5.75-8.75 and light and medium weight veal calves 25-50c lower at $6.75-10.50; fat lambs 60c higher at $13.25-15.25; feeding lambs 25c lower at $13-14.25; yearlings 25c lower at $8.75-11.50 and fat ewes 25c lower at $5.75-8.75. Stockers and feeder shipments from 12 important markets during the week ending April 17 were: Cattle and calves 40,691; hogs 9,918; sheep 10,638. In eastern wholesale fresh meat markets beef is $1-1.50 lower; veal weak $1 lower; lamb $1 lower to $1 higher; mutton firm to $1 higher.

into my eyes.

"Yes, they're so fiery and pagan, who is the poet?"

"Masters, I think. I was sure they would strike a note of sympathy between us."

"You read beautifully," I said irrelevantly.

"Nonsense!" he replied, "if one feels a thing, it's an easy matter to convey it to others. I've always fancied reading. I took part in quite a few plays in college."

"Then your interpretation, in this instance, is not due entirely to practice?" I said in a teasing manner.

He turned and faced me.

"Don't, please," he said as his gaze met mine, "these are YOUR poems, Adoree, and no one's eyes but yours shall ever see them."

er and pork loins $1-2 lower. April 27 prices good grade meats: Bee $15-17; veal $13-18; lamb $22-26 mutton $16-18; light pork loins $24-28; heavy loins $18-22.

Fruits and Vegetables

Markets for old potatoes were dull and new stock weak. New York sacked round whites jobbed at $1-$1.05 per 100 pounds in the East, while Wisconsin stock dropped to 70-80c on the Chicago carlot market. Florida spaulding rose ranged 50c-$1 lower at $5.50-6.25 per barrel in city wholesale markets; mostly $4 f.o.b. Texas sacked bliss Triumphs $3.50-4 per 100 pounds in the middlewest. Florida tomatoes fancy count, weakened slightly to $5-5.50 per original six basket carrier in eastern cities while repacked stock sold stronger in Chicago at $7-7.50. South-Carolina Wakefield cabbage sold about 25c lower at $1.25-1.75 per barrel crate. Alabama and Louisiana round and pointed types higher in Chicago at $1.75-2.25 and 10-15c lower f.o.b., Mobile at 75-90c. Texas yellow Bermuda onions 25-50c higher at $1.90-2.25 per crate in consuming centers, top of $2.50 in Boston; $1.50-1.55 f.o.b. Strawberries unsettled. North Carolina Klondikes and missionary 20-25 cents quart basis and $6-7.50 per 32 quart crate in eastern cities. Tennessee Mississippi and Arkansas Klondikes ranged mostly $6-6.50 per 24 quart crate in midwestern markets; $4.75-5 f.o.b., shipping points.

Dairy Products

Butter markets steady to firm during the week. Receipt advances in prices fairly well sustained except for fear of seasonal slump which prevented real active buying. Statistically markets are strong. Foreign markets weaker but not to the point of making imports probable. Closing prices on 92 score—New York 48c; Chicago 44c; Phila. 47c; and Boston 46 1/2c. Cheese markets continue dull and listless. Further price declines of half to one cent on Wisconsin cheese boards at close of the week. Favorable weather has stimulated production and grass cheese expected to appear on market shortly. Wholesale prices on Wisconsin primary markets April 25—Single Daisies 21 1/2; Longhorn 21 1/2; Square Prints 21 1/2 cents.

Grain

Grain market choppy with downward trend. Wheat futures down about 5-6c from week ago on lower foreign markets and beneficial rains. Export demand slack and cash wheat easier. Corn futures about 7-8c lower than week ago with weakness in wheat and dullness in cash corn. Oats futures lower with corn with big supply depressing the market. Fair inquiry for cash oats. Quoted April 27—No. 1 dark northern Minneapolis $1.40 1/2-1.69 1/2. No. 2 red winter Chicago $1.66; St. Louis $1.78-1.82; Kansas City $1.61-1.65. No. 2 hard winter St. Louis $1.60; Kansas City $1.44-1.52. No. 2 mixed corn Kansas City 96-96 1/2c. No. 3 mixed corn Chicago $1-1.02; Minneapolis 93-95c. No. 2 yellow corn Chicago $1.06-1.07; St. Louis $1.08; Kansas City $1.01 1/2-1.02 1/2. No. 3 yellow corn Chicago $1.02-1.05; Minneapolis 96-98c. No. 2 white corn Kansas City $1.01. No. 3 white corn Chicago $1. No. 2 white oats Kansas City 43c. No. 3 white oats Chicago 38 1/2-42c; Minneapolis 37 1/2-38c; St. Louis 42 1/2-43c.

moving with difficulty. Timothy and alfalfa averaging steady. Prairie easier account over supply at Kansas City. Quoted April 27—No. 1 Timothy Boston $26; New York $26; Pittsburgh $21; Cincinnati $18; Chicago $23; St. Louis $21.75; Kansas City $14.75; Memphis $22; Denver $17.50. No. 1 alfalfa Kansas City $19; Omaha $18.50; Denver $14.50; Memphis $27.50. No. 1 prairie Kansas City $9; Omaha $11.25; Chicago $16; St. Louis $15; Minneapolis $18.

Feed

Buyers interest in feed markets lessening and offerings increasing. Quite some transit stuff available which is still held at prompt shipment prices. Wheat feed stocks now being moved from western lake ports are large. The interior demand generally continues light. Quoted April 27—Minneapolis spring bran $23.75; spring middlings $25.25; 34% linseed meal $39. Chicago gluten feed $32.80; yellow hominy feed $37.50; Memphis 36% cottonseed meal $34; 60% digester feeding tankage at various shipping markets $55.

Market practically unchanged. Receipts moderate but fully equal to the limited demand. Low grades

Warren Fisher Flirts, Aided By Poetry

The Florida East Coast. As we sped southward, the whole country side, brimming with tropical beauty, held out fresh, inviting hands. Gay hibiscus flaunted their crimson faces against an ever changing background of palms.

"They're like lively women," Warren Fisher said as he nodded toward a dense growth of the vivid blooms. "For a brief span, they give freely of their matchless beauty and then—like the day-grows older, they fold their petals to make room for the new and fresher buds."

"A gruesome thought," I shuddered, "is one's hey-day of brightness so fleeting?"

"Ah! but in this instance, there's a lesson to be learned."

"Tell me," I encouraged.

It seems to me that the hibiscus makes the most of it's fullness of youth, it has evidently adopted a "carpe diem" philosophy of life."

"And the lesson?" I asked.

"I was just wondering if we mortals would not be happier perhaps if we, too, followed some such creed instead of making a sort of endurance test of this existence."

"Here, here, what are you doing, advocating the primrose pathway?" I exclaimed lightly.

"And you? what do you think about it?" he laughingly answered.

"Well, I don't think any of us have been particularly annoyed with what the psycho-analysts call inhibitions."

"You're dealing in generalities, may I ask your personal opinion?" he pressed the point.

"Some other time, certainly, but right at this moment, the scenery is too perfect to discuss problems of any kind."

I preferred not to answer his question. I knew I was flirting with Warren Fisher but at least it added a bit of zest after the way I had been ignored by Curtiss Wright before leaving.

Silence for a while and I became absorbed in the roadside vistas. I wonder why someone has not called Florida's East Coast—the Glad Land. For it's most tangible quality is it's exuberant spirit. Fields of yellow daisies clap their hands and whistle in glee and great golden air plants swing happily from moss-garlanded trees.

Along the sun-kissed Indian River picture houses nestle far back from the sparkling water. There is an undefinable appeal about these Spanish houses with their drifting rainbow colors. Others, too, built by a colony of artists are modeled coquina; their doorways framed in training morning glories—so blue that they must have borrowed their tint from the first clouds of an April morning.

Later in the afternoon, a storm began to break. Thru the river's hedge of wild grapes and rattling palm fronds, the lightning streamed to the shore line and the rain drops fell softly. But only for a fleeting moment. Soon the sun, blinking mischievously, came from behind the clouds and shone more brightly.

"I picked this up at a collector's the other day," said Warren Fisher, referring to a book of verses he had taken from his suit case, while I was day dreaming. It was exquisitely bound in Florentine leather.

"Don't get alarmed," he laughed, "it isn't India Love Lyrics, or 'The Spell of the Yukon.' I wouldn't inflict them on you."

He was openly amusing. It was startling how much he knew of the little devices of wooing.

"And YOUR selection?" I inquired.

"You may judge for yourself Adoree," he said tenderly, "here's one I marked for you."

He turned the thin pages. His voice held light and shadows and the lines gave out a charming newness of feeling:

"We, the lovers, of life, in unknown places Shall taste of ancient wine And put flowers in golden vases, And open precious books of song And look upon dreaming Buddah, And marble masks of genius."

We shall hear the sound of stringed instruments, Voicing the dreams of great spirits We shall know the rapture of kisses and long embraces And the sting of folly—"

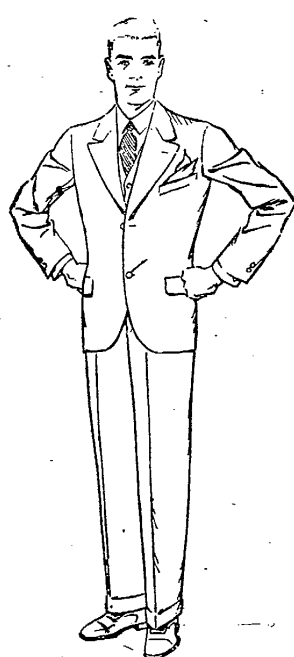

It was not so much the sentiment of the words as the throbbing timbre of his voice, rising to dramatic heights then falling to a low seductive whisper.

"He stopped in the middle of a stanza."

"Do you care for this sort of thing?" he inquired, gazing deep
