THIS WEEK'S CROSS WORD PUZZLE

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

The first letter of each word is indicated by a number placed in the blank white spaces, and by referring to the list of words given below, you will find the definition. For instance, number one, horizontal gives the definition of a word which will fill in all the white spaces to the first black space to the right. Number one vertical gives the definition for a word which will fill in all the white spaces to the first black space below. The black spaces indicate the end of a word, and no letter is placed in them. When completed, the puzzle must read both horizontally and vertically or teross and down.

By LEO CANFIELD

You owe this week's enjoyment to Leo Canfield, who designed this cross-word puzzle. We don't know what to tell you about it, except that it is short and snappy, contains simple, easy words, and you should be able to complete it in twenty minutes. However, if you don't you needn't feel too badly about it. You'll probably have lots of company in your

Niagara Celebrates
30th Anniversary

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—This is the 30th anniversary of the production of Niagara's falling floods as electricity.

It is quite fitting that the installation of the new lighting system for the complete and spectacular illumination of both cataracts should come at this time.

The great battery of 24 thirty-six inch searchlights has been set up and the preliminary tests made. The effect of these huge "artificial moons" is utterly beyond description. Just as words fail to adequately describe the wonders of the great scenic spectable itself, so they fail to paint the right mental picture of this most wonderful piece of stagecraft.

The Exposition will be a huge tented colony of exhibits covering an area of the tarpids above, all of which they bathe in light with the brilliancy of one billion two hundred million candle power.

Mounted upon a stone structure in Queen Victoria Niagara Falls park, these gigantic ares are focused upon the full crest of both cataracts and the rapids above, all of which they bathe in light with the brilliancy of one billion two hundred million candle power.

Color filters of red and green, orange and violet, and by combination all the colors of the spectrum, make possible a play of light upon the curtain of catapaulting waters and spray that rivals the famous northern lights of the Arctic.

To properly introduce the new illumination to the world at large, the civic and industrial, the educational and mercantile interests of the community are conducting an Exposition
