

Sallie's Temptations

Beautiful and vivacious leader of the debutants set, ANNIE CODDINGTON—Who had gone to school with Sallie and was her best friend until she made up her mind to marry.

CURTIS WRIGHT—A brilliant young architect who has achieved an international reputation. He disapproves of the "jazz" type.

TED BILLINGS—Whose main objective in life is arranging "petting parties" for his "peachy" girls.

ELLIE MITCHELL—Whose finishing-school education has taught her the latest and most effective, if unconventional, methods of combating courtship.

WARREN FISHER—A gay philanderer of Wall Street whose time is occupied chiefly in avoiding his wife.

ANNIE and BOB CRENOWETH—Of the married set and Sallie's staunch friends.

Miss Wright comes to Jacksonville, Florida to draw plans for a railroad company of which Sallie's father is president. He is invited to stay in Sallie's home. Propriety and Sallie's undeniable charm win him in spite of his avowed aversion to the artificial atmosphere in which she lives.

Sallie, being Sallie, gets lonely, the night after she and Curtis become engaged while Curtis is away on business and goes on a cocktail party. Annie Coddington tells Curtis, hoping that she has been found admiration in his eyes and Curtis, who he still loves Sallie, stays away from her and becomes attentive to Annie.

Sallie, from pique, starts to Miami to attend a home party, being taken by the Divines who are not very rich. Warren Fisher who has made love to Sallie in Pensacola, boards the same train and announces that he is going to the house party. He persuades Sallie to get off at Hollywood, have dinner at the Country Club and then drive on to Miami, which he says is a pleasant distance away. But time slips by and Sallie, realizing the lateness of the hour and that she is unaccompanied becomes nervous and insists that they hurry on to the Divines.

The car breaks down and they are forced to take refuge in an un-frequented inn in a small town. Before Sallie retires Warren Fisher enters her room and makes desperate love to her. She repulses him and becomes terrified when he admits that the car story was concocted by him; might be with her alone. She rushes from the room and on leaving the hotel notices a suspicious looking man in the lobby who watches her every move. She arrives at the Divines, disheveled and late. She receives a cool welcome but refuses to talk. The next day Mrs. Divine, a very social position, has Ellie call Sallie to leave. She and Ellie return home and Sallie received a note from Mrs. Warren Fisher saying that she will call for a private talk. Mrs. Fisher calls, discloses she had a detective watching Sallie and her husband and intends to name Sallie in a suit for separation; Ellie steps in to the defense of Sallie. She succeeds in convincing Mrs. Fisher that Sallie is innocent. After Mrs. Fisher departs, Sallie faces the future, and sees ahead of her only darkness.

"A Lesson" About Married Men

And so Ellie's suitor had been Warren Fisher.

"As I turned back the pages of the last few months, I wondered why I had not realized it before. The fact that she had received a wire saying her lover would not arrive the morning after I reached the Divines and again the queer way her face had gone white when she read Mrs. Fisher's letter. Why then she must have suspected that Warren Fisher was the one who had caused all of the embarrassment and for whose ungallant behavior, I had been asked to leave the Divines.

Just then Ellie entered the room. She sat down leisurely in a chair opposite mine, looked at me sadly, and remarked: "I'm off of mismatched husbands for life. You talk about unappreciated wives but the neglected husbands looking for delicate attention was worse. So much more complicated. Wait until the next sorpalated. Wait until the next sorpalated. I'm thru!"

"But Ellie, what I can't understand, is why he picked on me—if you mean if I were pining away for him and expecting him every minute in Miami. Well, any girl who thinks she's first in the affection of a married man, can expect to be made ridiculous. After all, when you come right down to it, why should I be surprised at him making love to you or any other girl? I hadn't as much claim on him as his wife and he was untrue to her."

"Never mind, Ellie, please don't bother to explain. It's all been horrible, but let's hope everything will turn out all right."

"Sallie, can't that Pollyanna stuff. It doesn't go. What I do want to know is a cocktail so big it would fill an ice tea glass. I need something. Mrs. Fisher is certainly not the most stimulating creature in the world." Ellie threw back over her shoulder as she reached the door. "Join me!"

"No thanks, I'm not going to fool with that stuff any more."

"Good Gosh!" she exclaimed, "gonna reform?"

She came back and sat on the arm of the chair.

"You told me yourself, Ellie, that the way to get the most happiness out of life was to do the things that YOU thought would bring it to you. So far, I've been about the jazziest person in town and right at the present moment, I can't say I'm bubbling over with joy."

"So you think you'll try the other role?" she asked. "Well I can't say that I'm surprised, Sport, because you've been in love for some time and that makes an awful change."

"But, Ellie, he doesn't love me." We spoke of Curtis Wright the neither mentioned his name.

"He adores you, Sallie, but he's afraid of the pace. He doesn't think he'd look with approval on your apparently reckless escapades and when he hears the sweet little story being buzzed around thru the kindness of Mrs. Fisher he'll still worship you but he might be afraid to attempt the grade."

"Oh I don't blame him. A man can't marry a girl who's chasing around and getting gossiped about. I see now how dangerous it all was."

"Sally, Ellie was frankly amazed. "Sally, I tell you I'm thru. Oh, I know it isn't going to be easy but I'm certainly not getting any kick out of the way we've behaved."

"All right, suit yourself. But for me, I'm just different. Sallie, I've learned that much from our little experience with the gay and dapper Mr. Fisher—"

"Yes, what?" I encouraged.

HIGHLIGHTS ON STATE CROPS

From New York State Dept. Farms and Markets June 30, 1925.

Cherries in Boxes—Western New York Berries:

Several cherry growers in the Hudson Valley are experimenting with shipments of Yartarians in the California style of package, says the State Department of Farms & Markets. This is the eight-pound box. On Tuesday these cherries sold readily at $1.75-2 per box. Red sour cherries on the same day, the plentiful, averaged a shade higher in price. Four-quart baskets brought 35-50c and quarts 10-15c. Many shipments of the sweet varieties showed effects of rain. Sales per four-quart basket were as follows: Red, 75c-81c; white 50-75c; black 80-81.25.

Strawberries are arriving in larger quantity from Western New York while shipments from the Hudson Valley are decreasing. Supplies of currants, gooseberries, and raspberries are heavier but the quality has been mostly unattractive and the size small. Red currants range from 8-12c a quart; gooseberries 7-16c a quart; raspberries from 4-15c a pint. Oswego county strawberries on Tuesday sold at 20-30c a quart. Hudson Valley sold at 10-20c.

Peas in Demand; Lettuce Weaker

Green peas enjoyed a brisk trade on Tuesday, under lighter receipts. Those from Madison county sold at $3-3.75 per bushel basket. Lettuce sales were slow. Arrivals from Orange county were liberal and shipments from up-state are increasing. Orange county crates sold at 50c-1.50; Oneida county at $1.12-1.50, and Madison county at 75c-1.50. Celery showed a slight advance, under light receipts and brisk trading. Routh sold at $7.50-8.50 per two-thirds crate, bunched at 75c-1.50 for 12 stalks.

Tomatoes from New Jersey are arriving in small lots. They have varied greatly in quality with the fanciest selling at $5 per 20-quart crate and ordinary at $3.

Country-Dressed Veal High and Unsteady.

The high price for country-dressed calves reached on Monday has resulted in a draggy demand and a weaker tone. Choice on Tuesday continued at 18-19c a pound, fair to good at 15-17c, common at 13-14c and small at 10-12c.

Live Broilers Lower, Fowls Steady

Live broilers are in heavy receipt and the market slow and lower with light-weight at 36c a pound for colored and at 28-32c for leghorns and heavy at 38c for colored and at 33-34c for leghorns. The supply of live fowls is light and the market steady at 24-26c a pound for leghorns and at 28c for colored.

Butter Unsteady, Eggs Higher, Cheese Steady.

Butter is lower and the market unsettled with 92 score selling at 40-41c a pound. Fresh eggs prices have again advanced with the result that nearby hennerly white average extras are selling at 44-45c a dozen. Cheese is steady with average-run whole-milk flats at 25-26-3/4c a pound for held and at 21-1/4c for fresh.

Hay Receipts Moderate, Market Steady.

Hay receipts are moderate and the market steady: U. S. timothy No. 1 closed at $25-26 a ton; No. 2 at $23-

DOGS

All Dog Licenses Expire on June 30. The 1925 License Fee is Due July 1st.

Every dog must wear a tag of the current dog license year. A dog without a tag is presumptive evidence by law, and no action can be maintained for his injury or destruction.

An unlicensed dog may be seized and killed, and the fact that a dog is without a tag is presumptive evidence that the dog is unlicensed.

Dog licenses must be obtained from the Clerk of the city or town where the dog is harbored or kept.

License Fees are as follows:
Male dog $2.25
Female dog 5.25
Spayed female dog 2.25
These amounts include clerk's fees.

No license can be issued for less than the full license fee.

The owner of a dog who fails or refuses to obtain a license for the dog as required by law incurs a penalty of $10.00 and costs.

The assessors of towns and the police departments of cities are required to prepare in June of each year a list of dog owners. The omission of the name of the owner from the assessors' or police list will not excuse the owner from obtaining a license.

Dog licenses in the Town of Andover are issued by Robert L. Brundage, Clerk, P. O. Address, Andover, N. Y.

Grain Market Generally Lower

Grain market generally lower, wheat futures down 7-9c from week ago on good foreign crop prospects and slack export demand, although reports indicate spring wheat condition below year ago. Good demand for high quality wheat. Corn lower with big surplus in the market. Feeding demand more active. Oats down with liberal marketings. Am. crop timothy 2c lower. Quoted June 29: No. 1 dark northern Minneapolis $1.42-1.66. No. 2 red winter St. Louis $1.80-1.86. No. 1 hard winter St. Louis $1.50; $40; Memphis 36% yellow home feed $1.51-51c. No. 2 mixed corn Chicago $1.01; No. 3 mixed corn Minne-

Feed Markets Dull and Prices Generally Easier

Feed markets dull and prices generally easier. Wheatfeed quotations experienced quite a setback and of late have been generally higher. Eastern feeders are getting a light crop of satisfactory pasturage and inquiries from other sections have materially fallen off. Quoted June 29: Minneapolis spring bran $24; spring middlings $27; 34% linseed meal in Minneapolis $42.50; Chicago gluten No. 1 hard winter St. Louis $1.50; $40; Memphis 36% yellow home feed $1.51-51c. No. 2 mixed corn Chicago $1.01; No. 3 mixed corn Minne-

Hay Market Advancing with Interest

Hay market advancing with interest for markets firm on light receipts. Ordinary hay selling more readily, but distributing markets continued slow. Stealing interest has been slow to develop, although fair movement has been noted, particularly at country points and at Chicago. Production continues liberal under favorable weather conditions. Wholesale prices on Wisconsin prairie markets June 27: Single Day 22c; Longhorn 22c.

Big Things Done In A Big Way

You cannot do big things in a small way. America's great railroads, telephone systems and light and power services are the wonder of the world. They have attained the utmost in efficiency and economy because America has had the vision to contribute to their up-building in a big way.

Electric development is the latest in time of these undertakings. But the spirit of the pioneers of electric development is the same spirit that built railroads from coast to coast while the prairie wagons were still swarming over the plains to turn the wilderness into great cities and fertile farms.

The Niagara Falls Power Company sells electricity at the lowest average price received by any generating system on the North American Continent.

Interested individuals should write for literature and free on request to Box 617, Niagara Falls, N. Y.
