KEEP FRUIT ON JUMP DURING HARVEST TIME
 Day's Delay in Packing May Mean Week Lost From Storage Period. Have Equipment Ready.

"Handle fruit in a hurry," says G. W. Peck of the state college of agriculture at Ithaca.

"Have everything ready when picking begins. Delays in harvesting and packing are costly. To maintain its best quality and market value, fruit should be packed and shipped or stored as soon as possible after picking.

"This applies particularly to peaches, pears and early apples, and to any fruit harvested during comparatively hot weather.

"With cold storage fruit, a day's delay in storing means a week's loss from the time possible to keep it in storage. Leaving it in the packing house or orchard for three or four days after it is picked means that three or four weeks will be cut from the maximum storage period.

"Have packing tables, sizing machines, picking bags, orchard containers, ladders and everything needed in good repair before it is wanted. Even the ruts and rough places in the roadways thru the orchards may well be given some attention to help keep the fruit from being bruised on the way to the packing room.

"Hire dependable pickers after estimating how many will handle care for the crop, and have in convenient places the necessary supplies of barrels, baskets, corrugated cans, nails, stencils, hatchets, and the like. Getting all these things ready can well form a major part of the fruit farmer's rainy day jobs until picking time."

ELECTRIC CLEANER WISE INVESTMENT
 But Must Have Good Care if to Give Best Results in Cleanliness and Labor-Saving.

A vacuum cleaner is a valuable investment and yields returns in cleanliness and health, and in savings of energy and time.

There are three types of machines those that depend on suction alone; those that depend on suction plus a brush driven by the friction of the machine across the floor; and those that use suction plus a motor-driven brush.

Some persons who buy a good vacuum cleaner fail to get results from their use because of failure to understand the construction and operation of comparatively simple devices, and failure to properly care for them. Cleanliness, correct adjustments, oiling and frequent inspections are necessary if a cleaner is expected to give real service.

Around Our House

THE ART OF ACCENTING
 Many of the fine points of home making depend upon the placing of accents. The house that has no relieving touches of color is unattractive, but when a small bit of brightness is introduced into an otherwise drab room it may make all the difference between monotony and beauty. It may be a simply framed picture in glowing colors—it may be a bright bit of notary. The color may come in fresh chintz curtains or in a piece of furniture of unusual beauty. A bowl of flowers is always cheerful and refreshing. Care must be taken not to introduce too many accents or the room will seem restless but the proper placing of a few carefully chosen objects will bring out beauty in the plainest room.

BOE HANDLE BOB HOMILIES
 BY BOB ADAMS

SQUASH-VINE BORER

I think the stem of Jonah's gourd was by these fat white larvae bored.

Jonah's gourd, you know, withered in a single night. Your squash vines will wither almost as quick when attacked by these insects. The borers are children of a moth from eggs laid on the stem. The young bore into the main stem and tunnel thru it. No means of control is sure to be successful. Vines should of course be burned as soon as the crop is harvested. An early planting of squashes may be made and when these are infested they may be destroyed. The vines planted late will thus escape the worst attack. If the vines are covered with earth a foot or two from the base, roots will be formed which may save the only way of destroying the borers. Covering the ground with moist earth helps the healing process.

Cherries, pineapple, peaches, pears, and strawberries, which do not make good jellies when used alone, can be combined with apple juice. The pectin in the apple juice make it stiffen well and the milk apples do not disguise the flavor of the other fruit.
