What Makes This Sale Important is the reason for the event and the extent to which prices are re-

The well known policy of the Schaul & Roosa Company to clean out at the and of every season all clothing and furnishings so that each new season brings an entirely new stock of merchandies: brings tremendous savings to all who take advantage of such opportunities These events do not bring a flood of manufacturers' left-overs or bankrupt merchants' causes of failures into this store as re-inforcements for a

We paid the best wholesale prices besause we demanded the choicest merchandles. That's why the savings are really bigger than they seem on the surface. The things man enthuse about so warmly at requiar prices are doubly acceptable at lowered prices.. A year ago our Clearance Sale was held as a celebration of taking over of the Brhad interests by Mr. Roosa. It was the biggest event this store has known in its 26 years of service. This Year We have gigantic figures to equal and if price reductions will do it-our August 1976 sale will greatly exceed the record-breaking event of a year
