Among many points of great interest in the current educational program, character training was stressed as of paramount importance, in a report to itle board of education, by William McAndrew, superintendent of schools, of Chicago. It was shown in the preport that there is an increasing recognition of the prime duty of the public school toward preserving naiticnal ideals. And it was also shown that greater attention is being given to this problem of impressing c! ildrer in their formative period of the duty of under-1st ndin and assuming the obligations of American
