At the General Motors Proving Ground, a fleet of specimen cars, built long in advance of factory production, fight a battle of hills, bumps, and every other sort of torture. These cars are torn down and rebuilt until they are able to beat every test. The tests involve speed, power, endurance, braking, riding comfort, handling ease; fuel, oil, and tire economy; body strength—every phase of car construction and performance. Only the winner of all these tests is sent back to the factory to be used as a model for the construction of the car you buy. No matter what driving condition you face, your General Motors car is equal to it. You have
