Planes in Alaska

THE airplane is finding a new field of service. Alaska, where distances are great and transportation facilities are primitive, the plane is proving of incalculable value.

The Department of the Interior is conducting many exploration surveys in the Alaskan interior. The summer season is short; in many cases only a month' or two are suited for the kind of work the department a causes as much disability and affects such a large scientists want to do. ▲ PENNY-a-person-a-meal, that's the average cost of cooking with a speedy electric range. Try to beat the economy of that. Even back in the "good old days"...you couldn't do it!

Have you seen the new electric ranges? They all have fast, quick-heating burners ... flavor sealed ovens ... automatic heat control that means an end to all oven watching.

And why does an electric range cost so little to operate? It's because Niagara Hudson electricity costs less today than when "Pop goes the Weasel" was the signal for a square dance.
