Win Over Canisteo

Playing a spectacular brand of football in the second half, Wellsville High School opened the season with a win over Canisteo in a hard fought game on Tullar field Saturday by the score of 20-0, after being outplayed in the opening periods.

A fumbled punt on the part of Canisteo, a 55-yard run, and an intercepted pass were the causes for the three scores made by the Orange and Black. Lack of reserve material told on Coach Gus Larson's eleven during the closing periods after they had flashed a brilliant running attack in the earlier part of the game.

Soon to Move Drew

Some immediate action is expected in the case of Webster Drew, former Bradford, Pa., city treasurer, at present in the Wellsville sanitarium, recovering from a nervous breakdown. Drew has not yet been served with the new warrant issued a few days ago, charging embezzlement of $122,000 in public funds, but Bradford officials have again retained guards to keep watch over the accused man. The warrant is the second to be issued, the first charging embezzlement of about $316 in school funds, was served upon Drew shortly after he arrived at the sanitarium.

Dr. Virgil Kinney, owner and operator of the sanitarium, would make no statement concerning the case. It was learned, however, that Drew was improving slowly and might be taken back to Bradford some time this week. Thomas B. Wilson and John A. Fitzgibbons, attorneys for the school district in Bradford, announced that an audit of Drew's books disclosed that over a period of years the former city treasurer had allegedly misappropriated $122,000 in public money. The warrant was issued by Alderman Harry Winchenski.

Mrs. Almyra Curry of 12 Hakes street, Hornell, who was in the car with Mr. Martin, had a narrow escape from injury when the machine left the road and crashed against a culvert. She had noticed that Mr. Martin was having difficulty in steering the car and as the auto left the road Mrs. Curry had the presence of mind to shut off the ignition.

Assistance of passing motorists was enlisted and Mr. Martin was started for a hospital. He revived momentarily to gasp that he was very ill, and would probably die. He died a few minutes later. They were on the Schwarzenbach highway near Loon Lake.

WORDS

An officer of an insurance company invited me to the formal opening of some model tenements which the company has erected.

"Why should I come to see model tenements?" I asked.

For answer he pulled out of his pocket a crumpled sheet of paper, saying: "Here's an editorial that you wrote nearly 15 years ago. You pointed out that the insurance companies collect millions of dollars in annual premiums from the poor. You asked why some of those millions should not be used in tearing down old tenements and erecting decent homes in their place."

"We read that editorial in our directors' meeting. It started the thinking which has resulted in these homes for folks of modest means."

Words are mysterious and awe-inspiring. We shoot them into the air, either by tongue or pen, and most of them perish. But now and then some stray sentence drops into a mind that remembers it, and is influenced by it for many years.

Many books, many sermons, many speeches have run in and out of my brain leaving little trace. Yet here are three quite casual remarks that I remember:

1. Said the late Talcott Williams in a talk which I had with him immediately after my graduation from college:

"Never forget the old saying of the Jesuits, 'A great deal of good can be done in the world if one is not too careful who gets the credit.'"

2. Said a prominent business man when I was blue and discouraged because the first concern for which I worked had gone busted:

"You are very fortunate to have had a severe disappointment while you are still young. The men to be pitied are those whose disappointments come in middle life, when it is too late for them to start over again. A disappointment in youth is merely part of the hardening process that is necessary to make you capable of carrying thru."

3. Said my friend Robert Updegraff:

"Never grumble about your problems. They are responsible for the greater part of your income."

Of the three bits of wisdom this last has done me the most good. Whenever I think I am having a tough time I remember that jobs with no worries carry small pay.

An elephant is the biggest attention compeller we can think of. Nobody overlooks an elephant. That is why we use it to attract you to our story. We print the kind of advertising that is elephantine in its results. The elephant is one of the few animals which has survived in an unchanged form, for many, many thousands of years. That is the kind of prestige that well-printed advertising builds up.

Make the decision that now is the time to go out after new business, tooth and nail, tusk and hide. Call on us. We sell results. Catalogs — bill heads — letterheads — blotters — hand bills — posters — direct mail material. Booklets — leaflets — folders — every form of printed advertising. Effective advertising is cheapest.

It's because I have larger troubles that I draw a larger income.

None of these three friends probably gave his remark a second thought. But I have never forgotten them, and I now pass them on in this editorial. Ninety-nine out of every hundred readers will pay no attention. But some day, 15 years from now, somebody may say: "I read something of yours a long time ago, and it gave me a fresh idea."

That's the marvelous thing about working with words.

In the first six months of 1931, New York state shipped 29,710 cattle to the Buffalo and Jersey City stock yards. This is 25 per cent. less than were shipped during the same period last year.
