GOLD

England was the first of the gold standard nations to announce that its currency was no longer on a gold basis. In other words, England could not get hold of enough gold to pay its obligations in that metal. In four days after the announcement the English pound dropped from a value of $4.86½ to $3.30. Sweden, Norway and Egypt were the next to suspend the gold standard, and, as I write this, the indications are that other European countries will follow suit.

The only two countries in the world which seem able to maintain the gold standard are the United States and France. England will undoubtedly come back to it in time. The economic effect of abandoning the gold standard is, first to increase prices of all commodities, and second, to enable debtors who have a gold credit—that is to say, debtors who can pay in francs or dollars—to pay their obligations at a discount. If I owed 100 pounds in England a month ago it would have cost me $486 to settle the bill. Today I could pay that debt for around $330.

Financiers and economists differ widely as to the ultimate effect of this situation on our American prosperity. My own guess is that it will not affect us very much.

SILVER

One effect of the general abandonment of the gold standard is to revive interest in bimetalism, which was the big political issue in this country in the 1890's.

The free silver movement had back of it the huge debtor class of Middle West farmers. They wanted cheap money—that is to say, high prices—to help them get out of debt. Cheap money is always good for debtors, always bad for collectors. There is a growing feeling today

The Erie Railroad Co. has widened the culvert near the residence of E. D. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Frisbey returned Saturday from their western trip. They report a highly enjoyable time.

Rev. Joshua Clark, who has been for several weeks in the West, where his wife was sick, has resumed the duties of his charge in this village.

The portraits of Fassett and Vrooman and of Fowler and Sheehan, adorn the windows of their respective adherents in many of the prominent business places in town.

The reception given Rev. G. W. Gibson last Friday evening was largely attended. There was a good supper and an enjoyable time all around. The people of this place are much pleased by Mr. Gibson's return to this charge.

Ex-supervisor F. M. Bassett of Independence has purchased the dwelling house heretofore owned by Israel Dildine on the corner of Pleasant Avenue and Grove street (now East Avenue) in this village. Mr. Bassett expects to remove to this village, a fact which we are pleased to announce and which the people will certainly be pleased to know.

Ward B. Mead a day or two since received notice of his promotion to a regular run as a postal clerk. Mr. Mead passed an examination under the Civil Service rules a year ago last March and for over a year has held the position as substitute clerk. His regular run will now be between New York, Hornellsville and Buffalo. His promotion is pleasing to his many friends in Andover.

Miss Helen Hardy is teaching in the primary department of the Greenwood village school. For Andover girls as teachers there is a steady and increasing demand. Mr. Frank Hall of Belmont is making a canvass among the citizens of this place with the object of securing an organization of an encampment of the Knights of St. John and Malta.

"Is Jimmie the youngest of Mrs. Thompson's five children?" "Yes, and he's the healthiest of the lot."

"How do you account for that?" "Well, Mrs. Thompson got a job soon after he was born and was never around to tell the child what not to do."

BAYER ASPIRIN is always SAFE

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

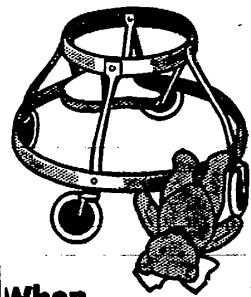

UNLESS you see the name Bayer and the word genuine on the package as pictured above you can never be sure that you are taking the genuine Bayer Aspirin that thousands of physicians prescribe in their daily practice.

The name Bayer means genuine Aspirin. It is your guarantee of purity—your protection against some imitation. Millions of users have proved it is safe. Genuine Bayer Aspirin promptly relieves:

Headaches Neuritis
Colds Neuralgia
Sore Throat Lumbago
Rheumatism Toothache

No harmful after-effects follow its use. It does not depress the heart.

When BABIES are Upset

BABY ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready?

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. It's gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. It's mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria.
