MERCHANDISING

earnest gentleman called Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ackerman and my office with a "message." He said that this is the time for me to write their daughter, Mrs. Charence Irving, and family of Rochester.

The third lesson for local leaders Merchandising.

The third lesson for local leaders on remodeling of clothing will be given at Cuba, Tuesday, Dec. 8th, in the Fire Hall; Wednesday, Dec. 9th in the Hune; and Friday, Dec. 11th in Angelica.

On Thursday, Dec. 10th, the Farm and Home Bureau Association will leaded by what he means by

I asked him what he meant by merchandising. He hemmed and hawed, and finally remarked: "Why, you know, merchandising; everybody knows what you mean by merchandising."

I told him that I had listen much conversation on that subject in 1929, but had never heard any one define the term. ANDOVER

"In those boom days it seemed to mean over-selling," I continued. "It meant trying to get barber shops to put in a side line of lawn mowers, urging toilet goods departments to carry ice cream cones, forcing automobile parts into delicatessens.

"It meant pushing up the sales

"It meant pushing up the sales quota 25 per cent. every year; lying awake nights to think up ways of making people buy more than they needed; going out extravagantly to steal the other man's customers. All steal the other man's customers. All that sort of high pressure activity was walking around under the banner of merchandising in 1929," I said, "and if, when we speak of 'getting back to normal' we mean getting back to that rush and strain then I am not much interested."

He went away shaking his head, as if I had uttered treason against the great spirit of American enterprise.

Perhaps he was right; perhaps I me getting old and "unprogressive."

But the kind of merchandising problems that I believe our country must face sooner or later are problems like the following:

lefus like the following:
Why, with so much wealth, are so many men out of work?
Why is our economic machinery so clumsy that men can go hungry in New York while other men are feeding wheat to hogs in Kansas?
Why, with so many labor-saving devices, have we so little leisure?
Why are factories closed when a large percentage of the human race is still barefoot, under-nourished and wet when it rains?

wet when it rains?

Why were our parents, who were so much poorer than we, still so much more contented, peaceful and secure?

How can we think more about human beings and less about money? How can we recognize the economics of distribution so that everybody can have more of the good things of life as a result of steady, smooth production?

I cannot answer these questions but I do believe it is important to get as many men as possible think-ing about them.

Even if we have to divert a few minutes from our "merchandising." Automobile accidents in Paris las year resulted in 639 deaths.
