To Raise Funds to Keep Pre-Heater Co.

Directors of the Air Preheater Corporation have recommended to stockholders of the corporation that the business be continued as a Wellaville industry, in which event the business will not be sold, it was made known Monday by Preheater officials.

Prior to the annual stockholders meeting to be held early in March a committee of the Chamber of Commerce will obtain the bond subscriptions, a large portion of which has already been promised by local business men.

Child Falls From Car

Elizabeth Walrod, ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walrod, was injured painfully last evening when she fell from a car in which she was riding as the door accidentally flew open. The car was moving at about 20 miles per hour. She sustained lacerations of the left hip and bruises and was attended in her home by Dr. J. F. Leahy of the Comstock offices.

Mark Graves' Mother Dies

Seriously ill since Thursday last Mrs. Susan E. Graves, mother of Mark Graves, former tax commis-sioner of New York State and now sioner of New York State and now director of the State Budget, died at her home at Shongo at 3 o'clock Monday morning. She was 75 years of age. Mrs. Graves had been in poor health since the death of her husband ten vears ago, but last Thursday was taken ill of bronchitis. Complications set in which Sunday developed into influenza. She was born at Knoxville, Pa. Oct. 1° 1956 a drughter of Amos L. and Moss Am. Fox Biever.

Street Light Free

The Village of Wellsville, incidentally, pays not one cent for its street lighting and electric current in municipal buildings, including city hall and hose houses. That, in recent years, has literally been a donation from the Water & Light department, managed with a high degree of efficiency by E. J. Rowe, superintendent.

perintendent.

It has been figured roughly that Wellsville's municipal lighting bill would run about $8,000 annually;
about one-third that of Hornell. This sum, by careful management at the light plant, has been theoretically handed to the village board of trus-tees each year by the Water & Light Department.
